CHARGE MISUSE OF U. S. FUNDS IN KENTUCKY FIGHT

Act in Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—The senate campaign committee voted unanimously today to investigate charges of the misuse of federal and state funds in the primaries in Kentucky and Pennsylvania. The committee also disclosed it has been conducting an inquiry into similar charges in Tennessee.

The opposing candidates for the Democratic nomination for the senate in Kentucky are Senator Alben W. Barkley, President Roosevelt's majority leader, and Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler. Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the investigating committee, said both have been accused of using public money in the promotion of their candidacies. The Kentucky primary will be held Aug. 6.

Acts on Stokes Charges.

The committee in its formal statement said it had decided to send a representative to Kentucky in connection with the Stokes charges and the response by Harry L. Hopkins.

The statement referred to a series of newspaper articles by Thomas L. Stokes in which it was charged federal and state funds were being used freely in the campaigns of Barkley and Chandler, whose contest has attracted national attention.

WPA Administrator Hopkins denied the charges except in several minor instances in which he said the subordinate officials involved would be punished.

Charges of WPA political activity on behalf of Senator Barkley were made recently by Judge Brady M. Stewart, Gov. Chandler's campaign manager. The charges were contained in a letter to President Roosevelt, copies of which were sent to all members of congress.

WPA Machine Alleged.

Judge Stewart's letter to the President charged that the Works Progress Administrator for Kentucky had declared openly that nothing would be left undone to achieve the reelection of Barkley; that the WPA in the state had been converted into an out and out political machine for Barkley, and that relief officials were distributing commodities to the needy in paper bags bearing the legend, "Donated by friends of Senator Alben W. Barkley."

Sheppard said he would select the Kentucky investigator by Monday if possible, and, as a representative of the committee, he would be able to take affidavits, conduct examinations, and subpena witnesses if necessary.

The social security board also has ordered an investigation in Kentucky into charges by Senator Barkley that state social security agents are playing politics with pension checks.

Pennsylvania Case Unexplained.

Chairman Sheppard refused to specify the exact nature of the charges concerning the Pennsylvania primaries. He said an investigator would be sent into that state to inquire into several incidents. Presumably these were in connection with the primary last May in which Gov. George H. Earle won the Democratic senatorial nomination over Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia.

In Tennessee Senator George L. Berry is the candidate for the Democratic nomination against four candidates. Senator Berry acquired notoriety because of his unsuccessful attempt to collect 5 million dollars from the government for alleged damages to land flooded by TVA operations. He asserted that the land contained valuable marble deposits.

Senator Berry's claims were disallowed last March by a federal commission appointed at the behest of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, who later was deposed as TVA chairman. The commission ruled that the marble deposits were commercially worthless and had no value.

MERCHANTS HIT CASH RELIEF AS BUSINESS BLOW

Back to Disbursing System Asked.

Distribution of relief as it is now handled is depriving farmers and city merchants of a legitimate market, it was charged yesterday at a meeting of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. The commission was told that:

1. Relief clients are abusing the Chicago Relief administration's system of distributing monthly checks. Many reliefers, who may spend these checks as they see fit, buy nonessentials. They squander money which should go for food and clothing on liquor and gambling.

2. The Federal Surplus Commodity corporation's shipment of great quantities of butter and cheese into Chicago for relief distribution is ruining much of the market for dairy farmers in the Chicago district.

Ask End to Cash Relief.

Representatives of the Cook County Retailers' council, in making the first charge, demanded that cash relief be replaced by the disbursing order system. Under this plan reliefers are given requisitions for food, clothing, and other necessities. These requisitions are honored only by designated merchants.

The council told the IERC:

"Sixty per cent of the population in the area bounded by 26th, 63d, and State streets and Cottage Grove avenue is on relief. It stands to reason that the 40 per cent nonrelief population cannot support the 500 saloons that are in this area.

"A great percentage of the relief money is being used for non-essentials, in taverns or for gambling.

Many Children Need Clothing.

"A relief survey noted that 10 per cent of the children of school age lacked clothing to attend school. This is a positive indication of the need of proper budgeting under the control of social service workers.

"When the city switched from disbursing orders to cash relief three years ago there was a decided drop in the consumption of milk, indicating children of reliefers suffered from a probable diversion of relief money to luxuries.

"Cash relief is abused by relief clients. There probably will be a hue and cry from them if any attempt is made to return to a disbursing order system, but the council feels that is the only way."

Buys Paper for Cheese.

The second charge was made by Thomas E. Courtney, IERC commissioner from DeKalb, when the commission approved an order to purchase wrapping paper to prevent contamination of 720,000 pounds of cheese and 300,000 pounds of butter consigned to Chicago relief by the surplus commodities corporation.

"The FSCC is doing a swell job of ruining the market here," said Courtney. "It is raising hell with the farmer by giving away in this district stuff that is raised elsewhere.

He said that farmers in the Chicago milk shed are forced to accept rock-bottom prices because the demand is reduced by FSCC gifts.

Leo M. Lyons, secretary of the IERC and administrator of the Chicago Relief administration, said the stated purpose of the FSCC is to buy surpluses to stabilize market prices.

Charges Downward Trend.

"Yes, stabilize them downward," said Courtney.

The commission took no action on either Courtney's or the retailers' charge. After the meeting Omar H. Wright of Belvidere, a member, said that the IERC would consider requiring all local relief administrations to which it allocates funds to install the disbursing order system. It is already in use in a large number of downstate townships.

Wright said he believed recent legislation expanding the IERC's power to regulate local relief gave the right to do this. Others disputed the matter, pointing out that Chicago's relief ordinance directs the CRA to furnish supplies or money for relief.

After 85 Years, Charlie Visits the Barber Shop

Seaford, Del., July 15.—(AP)—For years Charles F. Cannon's wife has trimmed his hair. Before that his mother did it. Today, at the age of 85, he boasted of his first "store hair cut" and said "it must have been all those good smells" that got him into a barber shop.

Horlick Heiress' Will Faces Contest

A DELAYED MEAL FOR THE BLACK LEOPARD

Citizens Tell Vice Violence in Lake County

Civic and church leaders at a protest meeting last night in Waukegan, prepared for a finish fight on Lake county gambling and vice syndicates. Charges were made at the meeting that:

1. G-men planning prosecution of Lake county gangsters for income tax evasion informed ministers of the extent of the racket influence.

2. Rival gangs, mounting machine guns in their automobiles, terrorized villages in an attempt to steal each other's slot machines.

3. Lake Forest mothers attempting to investigate the gambling situation were threatened with death or the kidnaping of their children.

Link Crime to Politics.

4. Chicago hoodlums headed by Leo Mongoven and formerly George [Bugs] Moran helped to elect certain Lake county public officials.

5. Physicians alarmed at the discovery of venereal diseases among high school students are anxious for a thorough investigation, although fearing to take too open a part themselves.

Most of those at the meeting last night had helped finance the raids last week-end in which twenty-nine persons were arrested.

As a result of this action, a demand was made upon Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady to appoint a special prosecutor. The reform group alleged that State's Attorney Charles E. Mason might have too great an interest in the outcome of an investigation. Judge Dady is to act on the petition for a special prosecutor this morning.

Urge Thorough Probe.

Last night the assemblage adopted a resolution for a thorough investigation. A plea for more help, moral and financial, will be made tomorrow in all Lake county churches.

"I'll do my best to see that the county board appropriates enough funds for the job," said J. Russell Miller, of Shields township, a member of the board, and a weekly newspaper publisher. "I've studied the situation for three years and I can tell you something of terrorism.

"The day after last Labor Day I was called to the western part of the county on a report that gangsters were there. I saw three cars filled with them. In each car a machine gun was mounted. Apparently the gangsters steal each other's slot machines, and this gang waited an hour and a half in the open street, but the other gang never appeared.

Assails Official Protection.

It would seem, said the Rev. Fred Baldus, president of the church federation, that public officials are elected to protect racketeering gangs, rather than decent citizens."

Miller also told of the threatening letters he said were sent to two Lake Forest women. Faced with the possibility of a one way ride, or the abduction of their children, Miller said they quickly dropped their slot machine investigation. Other mothers, he said, had complained that their children spent their bus fare on slot machines.

Yesterday the raiders made their thirtieth arrest. Albert Meyer of Libertyville was charged with being a collector for the slot machine syndicate, and released on a $2,000 bond.

POSTMASTER SLEUTHS FOR TRAFIC VIOLATORS; GETS HIS OWN NUMBER

Williamsport, Pa., July 15.—(AP)—Postmaster F. E. Plankenhorn has been taking the license numbers of automobiles whose drivers violate the no-parking rule around the federal building. He noted one and informed police. Capt. Harvey H. Zuber reported: "That car belongs to F. E. Plankenhorn." "I thought that number seemed familiar," the postmaster said.

STATE GROUNDS HERMAN AND HIS MODEL T PLANE

Weatherford, Okla., July 15.—(AP)—Herman Schapansky, the butter and egg farmer who pilots his homemade planes to one point landings—on the nose—has been grounded.

"He's a menace to that whole section of the state," said State Safety Commissioner J. M. Gentry, as he ordered Schapansky to stay out of the air because he has no pilot's license.

Schapansky, who soloed and crashed the first time in a junked Jenny biplane with a "model T" motor after only three flying lessons, retorted: "I'm a good flyer. They don't give an ambitious young man a break in aviation any more. I'm going to take my cream and eggs to town in a plane some day," he said. "When I have enough money to buy something better than junks, watch me go."

Chicago Today May View Its Royal Guests

Chicagoans today may see the city's royal visitors, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, Crown Princess Louise, and Prince Bertil of Sweden.

They will appear in a colorful parade down Michigan avenue, starting from Monroe street at 2 p. m. and proceeding into Soldiers' field. There they will participate in elaborate ceremonies at 2:30 o'clock, commemorating the 300th anniversary of the arrival of America's first Swedes. The event will be the climax of the royal visitors' Chicago stay. They will leave tonight.

They Enjoy Their Welcome.

The crown prince and princess have been fêted almost continuously since their arrival Thursday with Bertil, a younger son of Gustaf Adolf by his first wife. They have enjoyed Chicago's welcome. Yesterday's program was busy, and wes topped off last night by a great dinner at the Stevens hotel, attended by 1,000 persons.

Today's events are expected to outdo all previous ones. They will give the everyday Chicagoan a good chance to glimpse the distinguished visitors. Soldiers' field will hold many thousands more to hear and see the celebration.

Troops to Escort Them.

Troops from the regular army and the Illinois National Guard, the Black Horse troop, and members of the American Legion drum and bugle corps will escort the royal trio to the field. The official party there will include Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, Swedish Minister Wollmar Bostrom, Swedish Consul Gosta Oldenburg, and other notable officials.

A twenty-one gun salute will greet their entrance, followed by the American and Swedish anthems by Col. Armin F. Hand's Chicago Board of Trade band. The salute will be fired by the 61st coast artillery.

Kelly to Issue Greetings.

Once the royal party is seated invocation will be said, followed by the introduction of Mayor Kelly. He will formally welcome the visitors, after which Arnold T. Benson, chairman of the Illinois State Tercentenary committee, will present Gov. Horner. He will also welcome the guests.

A choral interlude will be given by Order Inquest Into Her Death; to Quiz Bull

Racine, Wis., July 15.—[Special.]—The will which Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, executed in Toronto will be contested if it is filed for probate.

That statement was made here today by a source close to the wealthy Horlick family. It was said a legal battle would be waged despite a provision in the will that any person contesting its validity would forfeit all benefits under it.

Terms of Mrs. Sidley's will, made public yesterday, revealed that she left to her friend, W. Perkins Bull, Toronto barrister, and to her son, William Sidley, her only direct heir, equal shares of her estate. Each was bequeathed $250,000 and one-third of the residue of the estate after the payment of certain bequests.

Son Retains Law Firm.

Parties concerned in launching and in defending a contest of the will would not comment on the subject. At present there is nothing to contest, since the will has not been filed.

However, William Sidley, the son, has retained the law firm of Sidley, McPherson, Austin and Burgess of 11 South La Salle street, Chicago, in which his uncle, William P. Sidley, is a partner. He also frequently has consulted with his maternal uncle, A. J. Horlick, who was not mentioned in Mrs. Sidley's will, and his Racine attorney, Mortimer Walker.

It is expected that if a contest is begun it will be on the ground that Mrs. Sidley, who was 61 years old, was not competent at the time she signed the will April 8 in the Toronto home of Bull. She died last week at his mansion, Lorne hall, where she had been a guest for a year.

Order Inquest at Toronto.

An inquest into her death was ordered to be held on July 26 in Toronto by Gordon Conant, Ontario attorney general. The action followed a conference between Conant and police officials today.

While the attorney general gave no reason for ordering the inquiry, it was understood he had decided because of wide attention the case had attracted to have all findings recorded in official form. Conant once was quoted as saying he had "interesting information" in the case, but he never has explained that statement.

A summons to attend the inquest was served on Bull by Toronto police late tonight. The financier was attired in his night clothes when he was notified in his home that he would be required to attend the inquiry.

Surprised at Inquest Order.

The order for an inquest caused surprise since three Toronto pathologists had agreed that death was due to natural causes. They said Mrs. Sidley had suffered from a form of paralysis that attacks the respira-

NEW YORK HAILS HUGHES AND HIS WORLD FLYERS

Rains Ticker Tape Upon Airmen.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Howard Hughes and his four globe circling companions, denying they were supermen and giving praise to science for their successful flight, today received the biggest public ovation since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's return after his solo hop to Paris in 1927.

Amid showers of ticker tape and torn telephone books, the flyers who dashed around the world in less than four days were paraded before cheering thousands from the Battery on the southern tip of Manhattan Island along Broadway to the city hall. There Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia bestowed on them the official welcome.

Official Time Reduced.

John P. V. Heinmuller, chief timer of the National Aeronautical association, announced today that the official elapsed time for the flight was 3 days 19 hours 8 minutes 10 seconds.

He said the wheels of Hughes' ship left the runway at Floyd Bennett airport Sunday at 6:26 p. m. [Chicago time] and that the flight officially ended at 1:34:10 p. m. yesterday when the ship came in from the west over Floyd Bennett field.

The official time as announced yesterday was 3 days 19 hours and 17 minutes. The record set by the late Wiley Post in 1933 was 7 days 18 hours and 49 minutes.

Hughes Disclaims Credit.

In a brief talk at the city council chambers Hughes, millionaire sportsman and film producer, modestly disclaimed credit for the feat.

"If credit is due any one," said Hughes, "it is due to men who designed and perfected to its present remarkable state of efficiency the modern American flying machine and equipment."

All he and his crew had done, Hughes declared, was to operate a fast airplane with the best in navigation and radio equipment according to instructions. Any one of the airline pilots of this country could have done as much, he said.

Boosts American Planes.

Hughes said he had been asked what he considered the most important purpose of the flight. He then pointed out that although the airplane had originated in the United States foreign countries had taken one by one the records for speed, altitude, and distance. If the flight helped prove to the world that American planes are comparable to any built elsewhere, Hughes said, he will feel well repaid for his time and effort.

Mayor La Guardia told the flyers they had made an important contribution toward world peace. He apologized for not having any engraved scrolls on hand for the occasion, explaining that the flight had been so swift there had not been sufficient time in which to prepare the mementoes.

Hughes, who had only three or four hours sleep in catnaps since last Sunday, slid out of bed at 9 o'clock this morning after sleeping the clock around. After breakfasting with members of his crew and their wives, Hughes went back to his hotel room to rake a razor over his face and remove a stubble beard five days old.

Late for Own Reception.

Then the sportsman, who is 32 years old, set himself to composing the statement he released later. Since verbosity is not a part of the Hughes' makeup the going was slow and Hughes was thirty-five minutes late in arriving at his own triumphal reception.

Grover Whalen, president of the New York World's fair for 1939, fidgeted in his limousine until the tion of the day arrived. Then the procession started.

Hughes appeared to quail before the delirious reception awaiting him. Whalen, who is an old hand at such things since he was the official greeter for former Mayor Jimmy Walker, climbed up on the back of the seat and plucked at the flyer's arm. Finally Hughes clambered up alongside.

In the second automobile in the procession rode the four members of the crew, Harry P. M. Conner, Lieut. Thomas A. Thurlow, Richard R. Stoddart, and Edward Lund. Army and navy officers escorted wives of the flyers in the third car.

Call for Miss Hepburn.

Shouts of "Where's Hepburn?" came from a crowd of dock workers soon after the procession got under way. Reports that Katharine Hepburn, the film actress, is engaged to Hughes have repeatedly bobbed up and been denied.

Friends of Hughes said he planned to leave the city tonight for a rest in the country. This started speculation that he might go to the home of the parents of Miss Hepburn at Saybrook, Conn.

At the corner of Broad and Wall streets an incident occurred that almost marred the reception. A solid missil, a part of a roll of ticker tape with the core still in place, came hurtling through the cloud of torn paper and struck a world's fair motorcycle policeman.

The policeman was thrown off and his machine spun on into the crowd, striking a woman and two men on the sidewalk. Finally the policeman recovered his motorcycle and went on.

A similar accident occurred at another point in the progress of the parade. When an automobile struck a motorcycle being ridden by a policeman he was thrown off the machine and two women and a man watching the procession were knocked down.

Fire Alarm Turned In.

A few blocks farther on the general confusion was heightened when the pressure from the crowd smashed a fire box and sent out an alarm. Fire trucks struggled to get into the area. After traffic finally was untangled the procession was moved rapidly down Broadway to the city hall to make up for lost time.

Whalen held a luncheon for the flyers after the reception. The Hughes plane before the flight was christened "New York World's Fair, 1939," but all expenses were paid by Hughes. The cost was estimated at about $300,000, which includes the big silver Lockheed monoplane that carried the quintet across three continents and two oceans in less than four days.

As he was leaving the hotel to participate in the official welcome at city hall today Hughes, explaining that he was a poor speechmaker, issued a statement in which he summed up the results of his flight.

"I have written this out because I am afraid I might get nervous and not say just what I want to," the statement began.

"I am not very good at making speeches and I have consented to make this one only because there is one thing about this flight that I would like every one to know. It was in no way a stunt. It was the carrying out of a careful plan. It functioned because it was carefully planned.

"We who did it are entitled to no particular credit. We are no supermen.

Praises Air Line Pilots.

"Any one of the air line pilots of this nation with any of the trained army or navy navigators and competent radio engineers in any one of our modern passenger transports could have done the same thing.

"The air line pilots of this country, who, in my opinion, are the finest flyers in the world, face much worse conditions night after night during every winter.

"If credit is due any one, it is due the men who designed and perfected to its present remarkable state of efficiency the modern American flying machine and equipment.

"If we made a fast flight, it is because many young men in this country went to engineering schools, worked hard at drafting tables, and designed a fast airplane and navigation and radio equipment which would keep this plane upon its course. All we did was to operate this equipment and plane according to the instruction book accompanying the article."

Hughes has refused to take any commercial advantage of the acclaim given him and has turned a deaf ear to 16 publishers who wanted to buy articles about the flight, Albert I. Lodwick, Hughes' flight manager, said tonight.

Moscow Fetes Flyers Who Made 4300 Mi. Nonstop Hop

MOSCOW, July 15.—(AP)—Moscow today greeted exuberantly two of soviet Russia's air heroes who made a 4,300 mile nonstop flight from this city to Vladivostok. The flyers are Maj. Vladimir Kokkinaki, veteran test pilot, and A. M. Bryandinsky, navigator, who returned in mid-afternoon in the big twin motored monoplane "Moscow" in which they made the eastward flight in 24 hours on June 28.

RELIEF CRITICS FEAR POWER OF RULING CLIQUE

Speak of Social Workers in Hushed Voices.

[This is the third article in a series on the administration of relief in Chicago. The articles are the result of a recent survey.]

BY WILL O'NEIL.

Critics speak in hushed voices when they discuss the social workers in the Chicago Relief administration. During a survey of expert opinions on the CRA many apparently sound criticisms of its operations and methods were heard. The people who made the criticisms appeared to be afraid of the power of the social workers.

Relief is a big business and a complicated business. Only those in the CRA, or on its fringes in some way, know the details of its complications.

Like a Board of Directors.

The minor officers of a business corporation may know some things that are wrong about the way the corporation is run. They don't go out and announce their criticisms to the public for fear of being fired. Nor do people selling to a corporation criticize its board of directors in public. They want to keep their business relationship with the company.

Experts on relief said the social workers compose the board of directors of the relief business. The critics would talk only on conditions that their names were not revealed. People who had no connection with the CRA were willing to make public statements about it. In most such instances, however, the complaint dealt with the critics' own failure to get something or other from the social workers.

The depression gave power to the social workers. Prior to 1932 there was no public machine for handling mass relief here. Need for public relief did not begin to be a mass problem until the winter of 1930-'31. In that winter a community fund of $5,000,000 was raised to help the private social agencies carry the relief load. In the winter of 1931-'32 $10,000,000 was raised in a campaign. That wasn't enough for the winter needs. The Illinois Emergency Relief commission was created by the legislature in February, 1932.

Machinery to Spend Money.

The IERC was created to handle the spending of tax money and borrowings against future taxes, for relief. Thousands of families in Chicago needed help. When the IERC looked around for some one to spend the taxpayers' money on these people they couldn't find any one except the social workers who were competent to do the job. No one knew much about mass public relief, but the social workers had some training in handling poor people.

Wilfred S. Reynolds left his job as director of the council of private social agencies to do the executive work of the IERC. Many other lesser lights from the private agencies followed. The Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare became the operating agent of the IERC in this county. The social workers had set up the organization of the bureau in 1926 when Anton J. Cermak was president of the county board.

The laws were changed and the Chicago Relief administration took over the administration of relief in July, 1936. Social workers had established the standards for hiring professional workers for the IERC. These standards were carried over into the CRA. The social workers moved into the CRA.

Heads Family Welfare Division.

Mrs. Clara Paul Paige is the head of the family welfare division of the CRA. Most of the professional staf of the CRA is under her authority. She was once a supervisor for the United Charities, one of the largest private social agencies in the United States. She qualified for the civil service job of director of family welfare in the Cook county bureau in 1926. She is now on loan from the bureau to the CRA.

Mrs. Lenore Levin is Mrs. Paige's chief assistant. She was once a civil service employé of the county bureau.

These women top the heap of social workers in the CRA. Those who know what goes on in the private meetings of heads of the CRA say these women speak with a powerful voice. Behind them, it was said, stand Reynolds, the council of social agencies, and most of the professional social workers who are at the top in the city.

Although criticisms abound no group of political officers seem to want to try the fight, although many of them criticize the present system. Those who have a sound basis for criticism, as has been said, would be out of a job if they lost a fight. And there the matter rests.

Job Requirements Are Strict.

Hiring standards tend to maintain the power of the social workers in the CRA. The standards also, to a large extent, have kept the politicians from making a job pot out of the CRA.

Rigid educational requirements govern professional jobs and promotion on the CRA staf. The lowest grade of worker on the professional staf is known as a "junior emergency worker." Here are the qualifications for this $90 a month job as set down by the social workers for the CRA:

1. Graduate of an accredited college or university or professional chool.
2. Satisfactory letter of reference pertaining to applicant's school record, work experience, and personal relationships.

The rules continue on this job: "Special consideration will be given to applicants who have had training or experience, paid or volunteer, in the field of social work. . . ."

How to Win Promotion.

A jobseeker who has only these qualifications is not considered a trained social worker. After six months' experience such a person's pay may be raised to $100 a month. Promotions beyond this go through jobs known as junior caseworker, caseworker, senior caseworker, and supervising caseworker. Pay for a senior caseworker starts at $135 a month.

A person wishing to become a junior caseworker or anything above that must attend "an accredited professional school of social work." The rules are very rigid on that point. This means that any one wishing to work up through the CRA must go back to school to learn how to do relief work along lines developed by the social workers.

It is more than a rumor that the best entrance to the CRA, or stepping stone to promotion in the CRA, is attendance at the University of Chicago social service school. The members of the faculty are said to be major cogs in the professional social worker group to which Mrs. Paige and Mrs. Levin belong.

Use CRA as Laboratory.

"It is almost imperative that you go to the U. of C. school of social work if you want to get anywhere in the CRA," said one man. He has been in social work here for many years.

"Students from the U. of C. use the CRA offices for laboratories. If you want to see how the system works try going to some other school and then come here for a job. If you are lucky enough to get one you'll probably be induced to go down to the midway for some more training. Of course, it works in reverse, too—if you want a job in New York or St. Louis you'd better go to their schools."

One Insignia Enough

John Doctoroff, Chicago artist, with his new portrait of Gen. John J. Pershing.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—When John Doctoroff, Chicago artist, took his portrait of Gen. John J. Pershing to Walter Reed hospital to "improve" it with the general as a model, the former commander of the American Expeditionary forces requested that all insignia except the distinguished service ribbon be removed from the tunic. "That's enough," he said. Gen. Pershing is said to be recuperating rapidly from his recent severe illness.

DICKINSON RAPS ROOSEVELT FOR VOTE DICTATION

Predicts Republicans Will Carry Iowa in Fall.

L. J. Dickinson. [Acme Photo.]

Dickinson, the party's nominee for senator and a former Republican national convention keynoter, led an attack on the President and the Roosevelt administration which included speeches by George Wilson of Des Moines; Joe Anderson of Thompson, convention chairman, and Mrs. Maud Hickman of Centerville.

"Iowa is going Republican because the citizens of Iowa reserve the right to select their public servants without direction from Washington," Dickinson told the shouting crowd of delegates at the Coliseum here.

"Iowa Republicans cannot picture Thomas Jefferson or any true followers of his philosophy marching alongside Comrade Browder, Frank Hague, Harry Hopkins, or Harold Ickes."

Senator Guy M. Gillette of Cherokee, Democratic nominee whom administration aids sought to defeat, came in for criticism from Dickinson. The speaker said a Republican responsible only to his constituents can more readily vote for a good administration measure than a Roosevelt supporter can vote for a bad administration measure.

Declares Iowa Must Choose.

Dickinson told the delegates that Iowa must choose in the November elections which way it wants to travel. "You cannot select a philosophy of government based on freedom and a philosophy of economics based on planning and regimentation," he declared.

The former senator criticized the Democrats for their futile dust-bowl program. This area, he said, has become the "bread basket of the west" this year.

"The New Dealers spent three years and the taxpayers' money moving the people out," Dickinson declared. "This year the Lord is moving them back. Somebody must be wrong."

The MANOR HOUSE JAR: it doesn't cost extra

It looks so good it seems it MUST cost extra. But it doesn't! It costs no more than any vacuum container, tin or glass. Yet, it keeps the MANOR HOUSE air-tight and fresh and then gives you a fine glass jar (with a resealing cap) for use in your kitchen . . . . for sugar, oatmeal, jams, stewed fruits, salad oils, spices, chocolate . . . . and keeps them air-tight, too. But you don't pay extra; you get extra.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The great spectacle that tomorrow afternoon will show Chicagoans the thrilling work of the men who defend them against fire and crime was unfolded yesterday for the first time in one continuous performance.

It was the first dress rehersal for the 1,000 men who will stage the Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show. From early morning until midafternoon motors thundered and sirens wailed in Soldiers' field, where the show will be held.

Smoke billowed from the big fire tower at the north end of the field and men plunged from it into life nets. The many units of the spectacle, assembled for the first time, performed with a daring that several times brought words of caution from superior officers.

Ladder Breaks; Car Careens.

Once a pompier ladder shattered under a swiftly climbing fireman. Again, a squad car, taking a turn at dizzy speed, skidded and all but went over.

And these thrillers were not wasted. In the tiers of seats on the west side of the amphitheater were several hundred boys and girls, waiting to rehearse folk dances and drills when the policemen and firemen finished. This young audience enthusiastically demanded encores to several of the stunts.

Though there were several hundred of these spectators, they made only a thin line along the lower tiers. Above them, around them, and across from them were 70,000 seats, waiting to be filled for the thrill show. Though tickets have been on sale two days and will be again today, there will be plenty of good seats still available tomorrow afternoon.

Keep Plenty for Show Day.

They will be held for the crowds that will buy at the field on the day of the show. And every seat will be a good one. Action takes place all over the vast arena and the stirring scenes at the fire tower will be clearly visible from all parts of the stadium.

The prices—25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children—are among the lowest ever charged here for an event of this magnitude. Tickets will be available today at the Fair store, Adams and State streets, and at gate O, at the south end of Soldiers' field.

Around the big amphitheater three free parking spaces are ready for the automobiles that are expected to begin arriving before noon tomorrow. The parking areas, which are more than sufficient to handle the cars of a capacity audience, are divided as follows:

The space between Leif Ericson and Columbus drives, from Soldiers' field drive [16th street] south to approximately 21st street.

The large lot just east of the field between 14th street and Soldiers' field drive.

The parking space on Northerly Island.

Starts at 2 P. M.; Lasts Until 5.

Uniformed Park district guards will be on duty to assist motorists in parking, and to route trafic out of the areas quickly when the performance ends. The show starts at 2 p. m. and is expected to last until nearly 5 p. m.

The spectacle, with its 1,000 men, will have just one feminine touch. This will be the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Miss Kathryn Witwer, star soprano of radio station W-G-N. The national anthem will be sung during the flag raising, just after the moment of tribute to the Chicago firemen and policemen who have lost their lives in line of duty.

The thrill show is sponsored by the fire and police departments, the Park district, and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Proceeds will be used next year to put on a free show.

WAGE-HOUR ACT HEAD IS NAMED BY ROOSEVELT

New York Official Choice for Administrator.

El Portal, Cal., July 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today appointed Elmer F. Andrews, New York state industrial commissioner, to administer the new wage-hour law. Announcement of the appointment came late in the day here after Mr. Roosevelt had made a daylong tour of Yosemite National park and shortly before he left for Los Angeles.

Elmer F. Andrews. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Press Secretary Stephen Early said that Andrews had extensive experience with wages and hours in his job as New York labor commissioner. Andrews was assistant New York labor commissioner while Mr. Roosevelt was governor of New York. He was named commissioner by Gov. Lehman.

Appointment Surprises.

The appointment came as a surprise to many persons. Naming of an easterner was a disappointment to many southerners who had hoped that a resident of their region would be named. Under the wage-hour law, a differential between sections of the country may be made.

Eastern legislators had argued that no differentials were necessary, but southerners had contended that some considerations should be given their section of the country.

The wage-hour program provides minimum wages starting at twenty-five cents an hour and maximum hours starting at forty-four hours a week. The bill, sponsored by Mr. Roosevelt for more than a year, provoked one of the bitterest congressional fights of the last two years before a compromise was reached.

Takes Cut in Salary.

Andrews who has been receiving $12,000 a year in his New York post will take a $2,000 a year cut when he assumes his new duties.

Helen Keller, noted deaf and blind woman, was appointed by Mr. Roosevelt as chairman of a commission to promote the government purchase of goods made by blind persons.

Husband Prefers Jail

FORREST W. HOLTER.

MRS. BRENDA HOLTER.

Forrest Webb Holter is a determined man. He was sent to jail a month ago for failure to post a $1,500 bond on a writ obtained by his wife to keep him from leaving town. He was in jail when his wife got a divorce before Judge Charles A. Williams after exhibiting some dainty underthings found in his car.

With other alimony prisoners, Holter was brought to Judge John J. Lupe's court yesterday for a chance to ask freedom during the summer court vacation. But Holter refused the aid of his employers, who offered to post the bond, and he remained adamant even after Judge Lupe explained he would have to stay in jail then until his wife dismissed her action. Holter said he'd stay to spite his ex-wife.

There was only one hope. Judge Charles A. Williams, at the request of Attorney H. M. Phipps, agreed to hear arguments Wednesday to set aside the divorce. Phipps charged the divorce was irregular because he was not notified of the hearing and was not present to represent Holter.

ORDERS INQUIRY INTO LOBBYIST'S PWA ACTIVITIES

Ickes Suspends Several Projects Involved.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes today ordered an investigation of all PWA projects in California with which a lobbyist, Glenn E. Miller, has been connected. Miller was accused by Ickes of representing to municipalities that he could expedite consideration and approval of projects by the PWA.

The PWA suspended an allocation to Riverside, Cal., because of the alleged payment of $1,000 to Miller for purported aid in obtaining approval of the project. Other projects in California also were ordered suspended until it was learned whether Miller lobbied for them.

Scandal May Develop.

Officials said they were advised Miller told a prospective client he had been engaged by the city of Santa Monica, Cal., to expedite its application before the PWA. The allotment to that city was suspended until it was determined whether the city actually had engaged Miller's services.

The situation may develop into a scandal of some proportions, according to some reports. Lobbyists representing various cities and counties swarm throughout the PWA organization, pressing their claims. If the Miller case is made a precedent, wholesale suspension of allotments may develop.

Ickes Serves Notice.

"This question involves a grave misuse of public funds," Ickes declared in a general order to all regional and field offices of the PWA. "No special representation, no lobbying is needed, nor, if known, will be permitted by any applicant in connection with PWA projects. If evidence is disclosed that money has been paid for such services, consideration of such projects will be suspended.

"The action taken in regard to the California projects will be followed on all other projects where lobbying is attempted."

TVA QUIZZERS' TRIP IS ONE DAM AFTER ANOTHER

Ohioan Holds Huge Costs Are Unjustified.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Florence, Ala., July 15.—[Special.]—Life is one dam after another in the Tennessee Valley authority area and costs of the experiment in water power and a new social order have jumped to a half billion dollars. Such was the picture before the congressional committee today.

The investigators looked over Wilson dam and Pickwick dam, the latter the farthest downstream of the present projects. The investigators, with TVA officials as guides, went as far as Corinth, Miss., today to visualize the physical aspects of the enterprise.

Challenges Vast Expenditures.

Upon arrival here tonight Representative Thomas A. Jenkins [Rep., Ohio], a member of the committee, challenged the pouring of huge sums of federal money into TVA. Jenkins said the vast expenditures are not justified.

"There is no question," he said, "that the high, expensive dams and equipment constructed in the Tennessee valley by the TVA are intended for power purposes only. Navigation and flood control could be accomplished as it is on other rivers of the country for a fraction of the stupendous sums spent by the TVA.

"In order for a dam to be serviceable for power it must be high to provide an adequate head of water and the dam must be kept full or nearly full all the time. For efficient flood control the dam should be emptied before the oncoming flood and filled with flood water to hold back the flood.

Cost to Exceed Panama Canal.

"These great inland seas which have been impounded in the Tennessee valley at tremendous expense may be beautiful playgrounds, but they will cost the federal government more than the Panama canal. Ohio leads all states in rural electrification and this has been done without one cent of federal donations."

The big issue before the investigators is to find what are the actual costs of producing kilowatts at TVA dams and how much of the costs of the projects should be charged to hydro-electric power and how much chalked off for navigation and flood control.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, has charged that TVA has had no real power policy, and that the public is kept in the dark on how much the electric current costs. Mr. Jenkins dwelt on this question.

"If better navigation could have been obtained for one-fourth of the expenditures made by TVA," he said, "it goes without saying the present plans are not the best. TVA was not organized to assist navigation. It was organized for the purpose of manufacturing power. As to flood control for the Tennessee valley, it should be accomplished as it is being done on other rivers.

6 Dams on First Program.

In 1934, when TVA was a year old, it estimated the cost would run 310 million dollars. This was to build six dams, plants and transmission lines. In addition Wilson dam, already constructed, had cost 47 millions, and the layout was that of a seven dam project to cost around 357 million dollars.

Today the seven dams proposal has evolved into a eleven-dam project to cost 505 million dollars. Four dams now are in operation, Wilson, Wheeler, Norris, Pickwick. Under construction are Chickamauga, Hiwassee and Guntersville.

Four other proposed dams are Watts Bar, north of Chattanooga; Coulter Shoals, below Knoxville; Fontana on the Little Tennessee river, and Gilbertsville, near the mouth of the river at Paducah, Ky.

Look Over Wilson Dam.

Wilson dam, first high dam to be built on the Tennessee was surveyed by the Pilgrims this morning. It is at Muscle Shoals, and it is the grand pappy of TVA.

Work on the dam started in 1918 as a war time measure for the production of nitrates to be used in explosives. It was completed in 1925. The dam, an imposing structure, is a back drop for the cities of Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia.

It stretches 4,860 feet across the stream, 137 feet high. Its power plant has eight generating units with a rated capacity of 184,000 kilowatts. There is space for ten more units making the ultimate capacity 444,000 kilowatts.

Francis Biddle, counsel for the investigators, left today for Knoxville to confer with Dr. Morgan. The latter had arrived there in quest of records and other data.

Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], chairman, said the committee may meet informally tomorrow to determine whether the hearings on some of the main charges shall start next week.

NEEDS 2 DIVORCES TO REWED; GETS ONE; 2D ON WAY

Judge William V. Brothers yesterday granted a divorce to Raymond Schulz of 819 North Avers avenue from Mrs. Blanche Leafgreen Schulz. By this action the judge made it possible for the couple to remarry after Mrs. Schulz gets a divorce from John Leafgreen of Lockridge, Ia.

Mrs. Schulz and Leafgreen were married ten years ago. They separated and each remarried in the belief the other was dead. Attorney Hugh Porter told the court Mrs. Schulz had visited Leafgreen and gained his consent to a divorce suit to be filed next week. Then the Schulz's plan to be remarried by Judge Brothers. They have three children.

primary, to be held Aug. 4, are Tom Stewart of Winchester, J. Ridley Mitchell of Cookeville, John R. Neal of Knoxville, and Edward W. Carmack of Murfreesboro.

Some time ago Senator Sheppard said that charges of misuse of public funds had been made in a certain state and that a special investigator had been sent there. He admitted today that the state referred to was Tennessee, but refused to divulge details.

The committee disposed of charges coming from California and North Dakota. In California, at the suggestion of Federal Judge Harry A. Hollzer, a transcript of a court case involving a former postmaster who charged he was forced to contribute a percentage of his salary to campaign funds was sent for committee examination.

Postmaster Removed.

In regard to this case, the committee said:

"The committee states that unless further evidence is presented in this case, it calls for no further consideration by the committee. The postmaster concerned was removed by the postoffice department on June 2, 1938, for a shortage in his accounts. The contributions referred to in the records submitted, were all made in 1936 or prior thereto."

In North Dakota, Senator Gerald P. Nye, who won renomination over Gov. William Langer in the primary, complained about the use of absentee ballots.

The committee heard an hour long report from Ralph Burton, who personally investigated the charges, and commented:

"While there was evidence to indicate minor violation of state law, no evidence was obtained by the committee's investigator to show that the use of federal funds or federal patronage had any effect on the outcome of the primary election."

CURRY QUIZZED ON TAMMANY POLITICAL FUND

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—William C. Dodge, former district attorney, will be invited to appear next week before the special grand jury investigating the source of a $100,000 fund raised to elect a candidate in whom James J. Hines, Tammany leader and Roosevelt patronage dispenser, was interested. Hines now is free on bail, awaiting trial Aug. 15 on lottery charges. The name of the candidate was not disclosed.

John F. Curry (left), former leader of Tammany Hall, questioned before grand jury, and William C. Dodge, former district attorney, invited to appear.

That was learned today at the same time that it was revealed that John F. Curry, former leader of Tammany Hall, had testified before the same grand jury.

It was said that Mr. Curry's testimony, regarded by the district attorney's office as highly important, had shed a great deal of light on the sources of the $100,000 campaign fund.

Ragged Bandit Robs Store; Then Returns, Well Clad

A six foot colored bandit returned to the scene of a crime yesterday and committed another one. He took $30 from James Hoffheimer, manager of a grocery at 4505 Cottage Grove avenue. Several weeks ago he robbed Hoffheimer of a smaller amount. At that time he was ragged and unkept. Yesterday he was well dressed.

tory organs, but the immediate cause of death was a lesion of the spinal cord.

The Ontario government also was reported today to have ordered a thorough inquiry to determine whether any of the estate of Mrs. Sidley was subject to inheritance taxes there. It is believed, however, that all her property is in the United States.

Reports were current in Toronto that in the weeks immediately preceding Mrs. Sidley's death she apparently lost the keen business instincts that marked her career as an official of the malted milk company and gave to friends and employés checks for large amounts of money.

Chauffeur Gets $10,000 in Checks.

One such case was that of John Moore, her chauffeur and attendant, who was said to have received checks for as much as $10,000. The checks were so large that Moore did not take the gifts seriously and turned them over to a lawyer instead of cashing them, it was reported.

Moore was bequeathed $500 in the heiress' will. He was described in the document as a member of the Perkins Bull Foundation, engaged in historic research.

Bernard Magruder, Racine attorney and adviser of Mrs. Sidley, said here today he did not expect her will to be filed for several weeks. It said there were "several aspects that must be cleared up" before the document is presented for probate.

Magruder, who was willed $50,000 by the heiress, said he expected the will of her mother, Mrs. Arabella Horlick, who died here at the age of 88, three days after Mrs. Sidley's death, would be filed first.

Left Her Estate of $3,000,000.

Mrs. Horlick, widow of Col. William Horlick, who founded the malted milk plant, left an estate estimated at $3,000,000, one-third of which was left to Mrs. Sidley. Unless Mrs. Horlick's will contains a clause providing for the prior death of her daughter, Mrs. Sidley's share will go directly to her son and will not be affected by her own will.

Executors of Mrs. Sidley's will said her fortune probably will be considerably less than the $9,000,000 previously estimated. They explained that on her father's estate of between 16 and 20 million dollars more than 9 million dollars taxes were paid, leaving Mrs. Sidley's inherited share only 3 million or less.

Her own private fortune has been estimated at between two and three million dollars, making a total estimated maximum of about $6,000,000 for the estate. This also is subject to inheritance taxes.

Mrs. Sidley's will does not dispose of her own share in the ownership and control of the Horlick Malted Milk corporation. The entire company was left in trust by the late Col. Horlick to his three children, Mrs. Sidley, William Jr., and A. J. Horlick. Thus William Sidley will inherit his mother's one-third ownership in the company.

The two largest specific bequests in Mrs. Sidley's will, the full terms of which officially were revealed today, were to Bull and William Sidley. Each received about a third of the estate and most of the remainder went to charity.

Specific cash bequests to forty-eight beneficiaries totaled $912,000. A trust fund of $100,000 was set up for the Alice Horlick Maternity hospital in Racine to be used for the assistance of charity patients.

Employés Are Beneficiaries.

After making provisions for her relatives, employés of the malted milk plant, and Canadian friends, Mrs. Sidley left the remaining third of her estate to St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., to form the Mabelle Horlick endowment fund, the income to be used as directed by the headmaster.

Mrs. Sidley's brother, Alexander, was not mentioned in the will, emphasizing the rift in the family. Her other brother, William Horlick Jr., was willed $100,000.

Five cousins received the following bequests: Bessie Horlick, $25,000; Fiorence Horlick Matusick, $15,000; Alexander Horlick of England, $15,000; Oliver Horlick of England, $15,000. and Adelaide Horlick of England, $15,000.

The elaborate Sidley estate "The Oaks" in the center of Racine, was left in trust to her son, William. Ten paintings, and one-half her jewelry, silver, and china, were also left to young Sidley. The remainder of the jewelry, china, and silver was left jointly to William P. Bull Jr. and Thomas Henry Bull, sons of W. Perkins Bull, her attorney and friend. Her automobiles were left to her son.

The Perkins Bull museum at Toronto was given $25,000 in trust, as was the Davenport Road United church in Toronto. St. Barnabas church, Toronto, received a $5,000 bequest, and the Rev. Dean F. E. Powell, rector of St. Barnabas, was given $5,000.

St. Luke's Episcopal church, Racine, was given $5,000, as was the Alice Horlick Maternity home, in addition to the $100,000 trust fund set up.

Many Individuals Remembered.

Col. Roy F. Farrand, headmaster of St. John's Military academy and an executor, was bequeathed $10,000.

Five nurses who attended Mrs. Sidley during her illness, were each mentioned in the will for bequests of $1,000 each. They all are residents of Toronto.

Ten thousand dollars was left to each of the following: Mrs. Anna F. Peck, Lake Forest, Ill.; Mrs. Andrea Pultz of Racine, one of the executors and a member of the late Col. Horlick's secretarial staf, and Michael Symons of Toronto.

Toronto Friends Remembered.

Eight employés of the Horlick company, of which Mrs. Sidley was an active vice president for years, received bequests ranging from $500 to $2,000. Nine friends in Toronto were left sums ranging from $100 to $2,000.

Mrs. Joseph J. Harrison of Chicago, was bequeathed $2,500. A Mr. Hersether of Chicago, a pall bearer at her funeral, was left $1,000, and a like sum was awarded Dr. Fred Gethro, Chicago dentist.

All Mrs. Sidley's wearing apparel and articles of personal adornment, except jewelry, went to her brother, William Horlick. Her father's gold watch, which Mrs. Sidley inherited upon his death two years ago, was left to William for his lifetime, then it is to go to his son.

The will, which was drawn by Toronto attorneys in Bull's home, supersedes two other wills, one made in 1927 and the other in 1934. The 1934 will left the bulk of her estate to her son. Attorney William P. Sidley, uncle of Mrs. Sidley's only heir, produced the 1934 will at the family gathering here yesterday when her latest will was read.

INDICT ELEVEN IN OHIO SLUSH FUND SCANDAL

Columbus, O., July 15.—(AP)—Eleven state officials and employés were indicted today on charges of soliciting political campaign contributions from civil service workers.

A special grand jury acted in an investigation of charges that civil service employés were being assessed 5 per cent of their salaries for Gov. Martin L. Davey's campaign fund. He is seeking the Democratic renomination.

Among those indicted were Jesse J. Gilbert, assistant to the state director of liquor control; Miss Gertrude Fortune, state superintendent of charities; William Alexander, state liquor store supervisor, and Charles Hubbell, auditor in the unemployment compensation commission. Seven other persons previously were indicted in the same investigation.

CHICAGO TODAY MAY VIEW HER ROYAL GUESTS

the United Swedish singers under Joel Mossberg. A formation of flags will be presented next by the Independent Order of Swithiod Junior Clubs. Other Swedish groups will perform. A feature will be a flower garland drill by girls.

Following the pageantry, Dr. Joshua Oden, chairman of the Soldiers' field committee, will speak. Consul Oldenburg will next present the Swedish minister who, in turn, will introduce the crown prince. The latter will deliver a formal address.

Expect Field to Be Packed.

Officials in charge of today's events said last night they would not try to guess how many people would turn out to see the royal visitors. "But with good weather, Soldiers' field ought to be packed," said one.

Last night's dinner at the Stevens to the royal couple was probably the most exciting in Chicago since the visit many years ago of the duke of Windsor when he was the prince of Wales. And the banquet tables were laden with proofs to satisfy the most admiring of Swedish culinary art.

Dressed in evening clothes, Crown Prince Gustaf wore a royal sash and his decorations, including a tercentenary medal. His princess wore a lamé gown of lavender and silver, with a semi-train and a plain V-neck. Amethysts and diamonds provided her jewel theme, but the decoration that caught the eye was a dazzling tiara.

Meet Seventy at Reception.

Before the dinner the royal couple held a small reception, at which some seventy persons were received. Then they entered the spacious grand ballroom. One hundred and twenty-five members of the Swedish Choral club sang "America" and "The King's Song." Toasts followed to the President of the United States and the king of Sweden. After the formalities Gustaf and his princess chatted informally with their neighbors, among them the governor and the mayor. Carl Sandburg, the poet, had a chummy talk with the prince. The prince's speech was the high light of the night—and brief.

He thanked Chicago and Illinois for their welcome. He told of his first visit to America twelve years ago. "I was told then," he said, "that if you hadn't been in Chicago you didn't really know the United States. I know now there is much truth in this saying."

Praises Museums and Schools.

He praised Chicago's museums and schools, and remarked, "It always has struck me as a remarkable fact that so many of your museums and scientific and artistic institutions have been established and are kept up by private enterprise."

Earlier in the day the crown prince visited the Art institute. A cheering crowd greeted him. He wore the same slightly wrinkled gray suit he wore on his arrival Thursday. He told the crowd and Chauncey McCormick vice president of the institute, "You may be proud of your Art institute. It is an example of good citizenship. The fine arts are a means of educating the people." He showed keen interest in paintings by the Swedish artist, Anders Zorn. He also expressed interest in Chinese art, of which he is a collector.

In spite of the guards who hovered near him, the crown prince was twice approached by admiring country people. Mrs. Margaret Carlson, 1731 Farragut avenue, a little old lady, and Gustaf Lundin of Pasadena, Cal., a cabinet maker of 70, humbly reached his side. The prince shook hands with both and talked with them, a gesture that brought applause from hundreds.

During their Chicago stay the visitors are guests at the home of the William McCormick Blairs in Lake Bluff. Except for a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Howard Linn, Crown Princess Louise spent the day resting. Prince Bertil was away most of the day, representing his father in Rockford, Ill. Receptions, dinners, and tours made up his program. He and his father will be guests at a luncheon at the Swedish club today before the parade. Princess Louise will be fêted at a noon breakfast in the Palmer House.

SURFACE LINES GIVEN POWER TO TREAT WITH CITY

Settlement of Franchise Up to Receivers.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday opened the way for direct negotiations between Chicago Surface Lines' receivers and the city for a temporary franchise for the car lines. The judge, who has jurisdiction over the street car companies, gave receivers full authority to make whatever arrangements they considered proper without referring back to the court.

The old settlement ordinances of 1907 under which the surface lines have operated for the last 31 years, expired yesterday. The city council's local transportation committee is now working on a temporary 90 day permit which will be offered to receivers of the lines.

Receivers Are Responsible.

The committee planned to ask Judge Wilkerson to order the receivers to accept the permit. Now, however, the full responsibility for acceptance or rejection of the ordinance is placed on the receivers.

The receivers are Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines; Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Harvey B. Fleming, surface lines official, and Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank.

Judge Wilkerson's order authorized receivers "in their discretion to enter in such agreements and to make such settlements and adjustments with the city of Chicago, relative to the use of said streets and public places, for the period between this date and Nov. 1, 1938, as in their judgment, is in the best interest of the company—and will contribute to the advancement of the program of unification now being worked out under the supervision of the court."

Seek 3 Per Cent of Revenues.

A provision of the city's proposed permit requires the surface lines to pay 3 per cent of their revenues to the city for the use of the streets. This suggestion has been a major point of dispute at public hearings on the permit.

Richardson is on record as opposing the 3 per cent compensation. He told Mayor Kelly at one of the hearings the car lines were not able to afford the compensation at the present 7 cent fare.

Attorneys for bondholder groups also oppose the compensation and other features of the proposed ordinance particularly one which would require the companies to hold their present 31 million dollars of cash funds intact.

U. S. Schwartz, counsel for the first mortgage bond holders' committee, said his group would carry an appeal to the courts if the ordinance, as it now stands, is imposed on the companies.

Charges Rate Is Confiscatory.

Schwartz said at yesterday's hearing that the payment of 3 per cent of gross revenues [at the rate of $1,400,000 a year] would be confiscatory on either the present 171 million dollar book value of the properties or any other "reasonable" valuation. He said current earnings, after allowance for such compensation, would be at the rate of 2 per cent return on the 171 million dollar valuation.

With the expiration of the street car ordinances, all of the city's local transportation systems are now operating without city permits for all or parts of their lines. The Chicago Motor Coach company has no franchise and the ordinances of the elevated railways for their Lake street and south side divisions have lapsed.

DROP KIDNAPING CHARGE AGAINST REWED MOTHER

Criminal Court.

Joseph Sanchez, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court yesterday ordered a kidnaping charge against Mrs. Florence Orr stricken from his court record. She was accused last spring of kidnaping her two children and taking them to California, where they remain. The charges were brought by her former husband, Willard J. Orr, 1309 East 53d street. On June 12 Mrs. Orr was reported to have married Nolen Allen, vice president of the Los Angeles City Planning commission, in Los Angeles. Should Gov. Horner sign extradition papers for Mrs. Allen the charges against her can be reinstated, the judge said.

TWO BOYS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILES DIE OF INJURIES

Two little boys died yesterday, victims of the automobile massacre.

Le Roy Cross, 5 years old, 142 South 6th avenue, Maywood, died in the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, from injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile Thursday night. The accident occurred at 135 South 5th avenue, Maywood, as the boy and a cousin were crossing the street. The cousin, Richard Cross, 6, was injured. The car was driven by J. W. Harrop, 1122 North 7th avenue, Maywood.

Charles Prindle, 7 years old, 4632 Magnolia avenue, died in the Ravenswood hospital from injuries incurred when he was struck Sunday by a car driven by Guy A. Richards, 4603 Malden street.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lardner, 74 years old, 1613 South Desplaines street, died last night in the County hospital of injuries suffered on June 29 when she was struck by an automobile at 18th street and Racine avenue. The driver, Joseph Strick, 19, of 1124 Cullerton street, told police at the time that the accident was unavoidable.

Robert Miller, 35 years old, colored, 1238 South Peoria street, was killed early today when he was run down by a fruit truck in Roosevelt road, near Canal street. Police held the driver, Paul Ziebert, 21, of route 2, St. Joseph, Mich.

Mrs. Anna Nordstrom, 836 East 74th street, was arrested by the Grand Crossing police yesterday after her automobile injured Miss Adelyn Wippman, 20 years old, 1006 East 54th street. Miss Wippman was riding a bicycle in the outer drive at 66th street. Mrs. Nordstrom was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 436 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 337 were killed in Chicago.

TROOPS TAKE CHARGE OF ARIZONA PRISON TO PREVENT ESCAPES

Phoenix, Ariz., July 15.—(AP)—Gov. R. C. Stanford placed the state prison at Florence under military control today and ordered National Guardsmen sent there to prevent mass escapes. Warden John G. Eager told the chief executive that if he didn't get help from the guardsmen "half of the prisoners" would escape. Eighteen convicts have escaped since June 7 and others have tried. Eleven are still at large, including one life-termer. The institution has 739 prisoners and accommodations for little more than half that many.

SUES TO EXCLUDE FERNEKES' SONS AS UNCLE'S HEIRS

A petition seeking to exclude the two sons of the late Henry [Midget] Fernekes, bank robber and killer, from sharing in the $40,000 estate of an uncle was filed in Probate court yesterday. It was filed in behalf of Irvin Fernekes of Valparaiso, Ind., a brother of the gunman.

Midget Fernekes committed suicide in 1935 rather than return to Joliet penitentiary from which he had escaped. His two sons are Donald C. Darche, 17 years old, and Robert Darche, 19. Their mother, Mrs. Jennie Hausner, of 2724 Lehman court, was Fernekes' second wife. The two boys took the name of their uncle, the Rev. Harris Darche, who left the $40,000.

OAK PARK TO TRY PUTTING JOBLESS ALONGSIDE A JOB

Oak Park is going to try to bring the jobs and the jobless together. It will soon adopt a plan which has proved successful in Cincinnati, O.; El Paso, Tex., and other cities. That plan is establishment of an office through which both prospective employer and employé may list their wants.

Joseph B. Ford, Oak Park assessor, and a committee of citizens are sponsoring the undertaking. Eventually it may become a village project.

"Many persons," Ford said, "have some means of support, but still need money for food and shelter. If we can find either permanent jobs or temporary ones such as cutting grass, window washing, cleaning, and a thousand and one others, it will be of service not only to those we place but to the employer as well."

Center Section of Lake Shore Drive Open Today

The center section of Lake Shore drive, from Belmont avenue to Byron street, will be opened to trafic this morning, Otto K. Jelinek, engineer for the Park district, said yesterday. It has been closed during the completion of two new pedestrian subways under the drive at Aldine avenue and Addison street. The middle and east sections of the drive will be used for express trafic and the west section for north and southbound local trafic.

Hold Driver After Death of Child Hit by Truck

Richard L. Stewart, 5709 Magnolia avenue, was ordered held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge yesterday at an inquest into the death of a child fatally injured by his truck. The victim was John Fleming Jr., 8 years old, 4155 North Marmora avenue. The accident occurred at Berteau and Central avenue. Witnesses testified that Stewart drove too fast.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

HIGHWAY TO LIFE

By CALEB

IN THE SUMMER of 1939 millions of visitors will see a World's Fair in New York. There will be many an exhibit on the colossal fair grounds to awe the spectator and change his thinking—an excellent thing.

But a good many visitors to the New York Fair will accord scant notice to one of the most important and highly significant exhibits on the list: the highway devices and methods of control used in handling motor traffic to and from the fair grounds and through the city itself.

In recent years it has become apparent that wider roads and more roads are not enough. In the face of steadily mounting accident and death on the highways it is obvious that we need special kinds of roads, scientifically designed, rather than just more of them.

For instance: New York's new Henry Hudson highway, its design based on carefully developed principles, has an accident rate just three per cent of that on a nearby highway that parallels it. It utilizes the latest highway developments such as center parkways to separate traffic moving in opposite directions, and a complete absence of crossings and roadside obstacles.

Chicago's outer driveways to some extent incorporate the most recently established principles of driving safety—but the total mileage in the nation of the right sort of highways for modern traffic conditions is pitifully small. Automobile manufacturers have made their new cars virtually fool proof—they can do little more. Education and training will contribute substantially—but accidents in appalling numbers will go on until highways are right.

Once we shuddered in childish horror at the story of a dragon who emerged periodically from a cave to seize and carry off his yearly tribute of a young man and a maiden. Today the approach of summer holidays provides the same chilling sensation—with greater intensity. Statistically, each year the Fourth of July takes a tribute of 500 auto deaths, injury to 1,000 more motorists.

The mythical kingdom by the sea, with its dreaded dragon, had no such problem as that. Nor will any knight in shining armor appear to free us from our annual tribute. There is one important answer: the right kind of highways, designed and built to the needs of tomorrow—not yesterday.

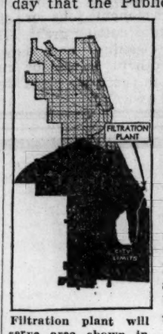
PWA DEALS CITY FIVE MILLION FOR FILTERING PLANT

South Side Project Will Cost 20 Million.

Mayor Kelly received word yesterday that the Public Works administration has allotted a $5,415,750 grant as a start on the proposed $20,936,000 south side water filtration plant. The plant has been sought for years by south side residents and the first application for PWA funds was made by the city in 1933. Two more applications have been filed since then.



Filtration plant will serve area shown in black.

David R. Kennicott, regional PWA director, told Mayor Kelly that the $5,415,750 of government funds, with approximately $6,600,000 to be provided by the city, is expected to carry the project for fourteen months. The government is to contribute 45 per cent of the cost and the city 55 per cent.

First Work to Cost 12 Million.

A breakwater, retaining walls, cofer dams, and underground work, to cost approximately $12,035,000, are to be built first. Mayor Kelly said he understands that if the work progresses satisfactorily the city may receive additional PWA money to complete the project. The city's share of the cost is proposed to be financed through the sale of city water fund certificates which are retired wholly from water rates.

Oscar E. Hewitt, city commissioner of public works, said the project will be delayed until the city files an amended application with the PWA to meet the terms of the $5,415,750 grant. The present application asks for a $9,000,000 grant on the completed project.

To Be Built on Filled Land.

The plant will be built on a 60 acre peninsula to be filled in the lake between 78th and 79th streets. Just south of the plant area a smaller triangular fill of eight acres will provide a beach area. Eventually, a larger fill of 85 acres will be made to the north of the plant, to provide park and beach. The two beaches will replace the present Rainbow beach which will be occupied by the plant ground.

The park district, city, state, and federal governments all have given permission to fill in the lake for construction of the plant, Hewitt said.

The intakes of the plant will be on the east, or lake side, of the fill, about 2,300 feet from the present shore line. Hewitt said the present south side intake cribs will not be used because the water closer to the shore can be filtered just as well as that obtained farther out.

Reservoir to Be Under Ground.

From the intakes the water will pass through a series of settling basins and sand and gravel filters to an underground reservoir.

From the reservoir it will pass into a sixteen foot tunnel, which will connect with the present Western avenue and Roseland pumping station intake tunnels. It will serve the entire south side area bounded on the north by 39th street and the northwest by the sanitary canal. It also will serve thirteen south side suburbs which buy city water. About 1,750,000 persons live in the area.

Arthur Gorman, city water purification engineer, said all dirt and bacteria now found in the south side drinking water will be removed by filtration.

"There are about 33 bacteria, some possible disease carriers, in every 100 cubic centimeters of water now pumped on the south side," Gorman said. "There are 89,000 small organisms in the same amount. They supply the fishy and grassy taste and the occasional bad odor. There is an average of 50 pounds of mud in every 1,000,000 gallons. All that will be removed. The water will be just as clear in stormy weather as it is in calm weather."

Meters to Stop Waste.

Installation of water meters on the south side is included in the project. It has been pointed out that metering will be necessary to eliminate waste which now makes Chicago water consumption the highest per capita in the country.

The plant, when completed, will be the first large filtration system for Chicago. The city now maintains an experimental plant at 68th street and Oglesby avenue.

Three other Illinois projects approved by PWA yesterday, together with their total costs and grants, were: A new $1,000,000 county building in Decatur, grant, $450,000; a $136,000 school at Flora, grant, $61,363, and a grant of $64,636 for a street paving in Pekin.

'RETREAT, HELL!' VETS RECALL CRY 20 YEARS AFTER

"Retreat, Hell!" shouted Gen. Manus McCloskey, "we just got here." And disregarding the order to fall back, his brigade surged forward, the others followed, and the crack German troops were soon in flight. That was Chateau Thierry in 1918.

Yesterday the gray haired, dignified general, former head of the 19th Artillery brigade, Second division, smiled as other veterans recalled his famous remark at the twentieth annual reunion of the Second Division association in the Hotel Sherman.

Another veteran with a different experience was Fred H. Domke of St. Louis, Mo. As a private in the 83d company, on June 6, 1918, near Belleau Woods, Domke and six others were captured, while the rest of the company was killed. Today he is the only living member of his company.

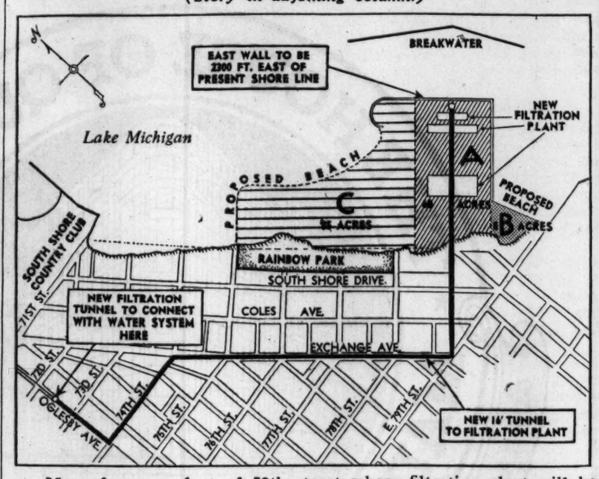
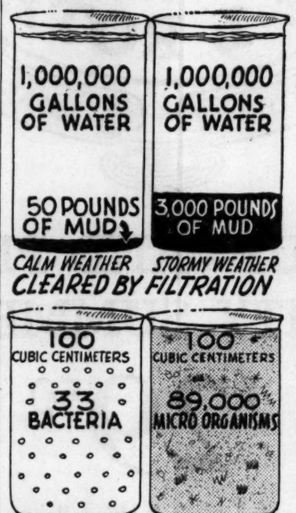
Win PWA Grant for Filtration Plant

(Story in adjoining column.)



Map of area at foot of 79th street where filtration plant will be started with Public Works administration grant and funds to be provided by the city. Area A, a peninsula on which the plant will stand, is to be filled immediately; B is a proposed fill for a beach; and C is a third fill proposed for an addition to Rainbow park, with a beach.



How filtration will remove mud, reduce possibility of disease, and eliminate causes of unpleasant odor and taste from water for the south side.

DEMOCRATS WILL NAME CANDIDATE FOR POWERS' JOB

Democratic senatorial committeemen of the 13th district will meet next week to consider a candidate for the vacancy caused by the death Thursday of Representative William W. Powers. In the case of such a vacancy preceding the November election the party senatorial committee of three has the right to name a candidate. In the 13th district two Democrats and one Republican were nominated for the assembly. Consequently the candidate selected will be practically assured of election.

Representative John G. Ryan, the other Democratic candidate for renomination, and Adam Miodusky are at present involved in a recount of the primary vote. The recount is expected to be completed next week. The senatorial committeemen did not indicate whether or not they would give the loser of the recount the vacant position. One of the committeemen, John J. Crane, 8046 Paxton avenue, an attorney working in the office of County Clerk Michael Flynn, said he may try for the vacant position himself. He has been a precinct captain for twenty years.

33D DIVISION'S VETS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

The 33d Division War Veterans organization last night installed new officers named at the recent state convention in Danville. About 1,000 veterans attended the ceremonies in the Hotel Sherman.

Brig. Gen. Henry A. Allen, wartime commander of the 108th Engineers, 33d Division, was installing officer. New officers are Raymond L. Keegan, Chicago, president; Harry A. Daly, Chicago, first vice president, Joseph A. Jaworski, La Grange, second vice president; Robert Wigglesworth, chief of police of Melrose Park, third vice president; William E. Keith, Chicago, treasurer; William M. Engel, Hines, secretary; the Rev. Thomas R. Egerton, Marengo, chaplain, and John E. Newcomb, Augusta, sergeant-at-arms.

Keegan said that the group would begins plans immediately for a lake front memorial to the memory of the 33d Division dead.

CONFESSES BURNING HIS HOME.

Canton, Ill., July 15.—[Special]—Henry Weber, 28 years old, today confessed to Deputy State Fire Marshal Walter Parlier that he set fire to the home in which he lived between Table Grove and Adair on Nov. 19, 1937, so that he might collect $367 insurance with which to buy new furniture for his wife.

HOME DELIVERY MILK PRICES IN JOLIET REDUCED

Joliet milk dealers yesterday announced a sharp reduction in the price of home delivered milk, effective today. This is the second cut in two months. The price dropped from 13 to 12 cents a quart in May.

Today the price goes from 12 to 11 cents for one quart, 10 cents a quart if two quarts are ordered daily, and 9 cents if three quarts. Pints are reduced from 8 to 7 cents. Prices of half pints of cream dropped from 15 to 11 cents, whipping cream half-pints 22 to 16 cents, pints of cereal cream 14 to 12 cents, and buttermilk by the quart from 12 to 8 cents.

Milk dealers said the reduction is intended to increase consumption and give consumers the advantage of a plentiful supply of milk. There will be no reduction in the price paid farmers.

TWO LIQUOR SELLERS FREED.

Two men charged with selling liquor to minors were freed by Judge Eugene J. Holland yesterday when the minors failed to appear. The defendants were Thomas Stevens, owner of a tavern at 3825 Madison street, and Nick Diamond, bartender in a tavern at 2112 North Clark street.

BUILDERS TELL SLUGGINGS BY UNION PICKETS

Assail Du Page Labor Action in Lombard.

Affidavits charging that workers on a home construction job in Lombard were slugged and intimidated by labor pickets were filed in the Du Page county Circuit court at Wheaton yesterday.

The affidavits were presented by Attorney Otto A. Jaburek in support of a petition for an injunction to restrain the Du Page county building trades council from interfering with the work. The suit was filed last week on behalf of William M. Wallace, La Grange contractor. Wallace, a member of the Landis award employers' association, has the contract for construction of a house at Ash and Martha streets in Lombard.

Unions Deny Violence.

Union officials in an answer to the injunction suit denied allegations of violence and intimidation.

William F. Heibel, West Chicago, charged in an affidavit that on June 25 he was forcibly prevented from delivering a load of gravel at the Lombard job. Heibel owns his own truck.

He said he recognized Earl H. Rieck, secretary of the council, and Roy Leverenz and Thomas Humphris, also union officials, among thirty pickets who crowded around his truck. Leverenz, he said, ordered him to take the load away. He charged he was slugged by pickets who climbed onto his truck.

Testifies to Slugging.

Sam Passarelli, a Chicago mason contractor, alleged he was prevented from carrying out a subcontract with Wallace. He said he was stopped by a group of men, slugged, and then allowed to go on the promise he would not return.

Herman E. Hecht of Elgin, who was engaged by Wallace to do the excavation work for the Lombard house, said that on June 27 he was threatened and prevented from doing his work. The next day, his affidavit added, his car was crowded off the road and he was told to "stay away or we'll blow your head off."

Party in Loop Cafe Gets Rough; Toss Beer Steins

Joseph Pugh of Buffalo, N. Y., walked into the Old Heidelberg café, 14 West Randolph street, last night with some of his companions attending the 2d division veterans' reunion. He asked for a tune, but the girls' orchestra didn't comply quickly enough. Somebody threw a few beer glasses around and struck the manager, Louis Gehl. Pugh was taken to the central police station, but was released when Gehl would not sign a complaint.

Gets 3 to 20 Years; Serves 16; Sues Warden to Get Out

Sixteen years ago William Jordan was sentenced to serve from 3 to 20 years in the Chester penitentiary for the armed robbery of Mrs. Helen Baldwin, 5800 Huron street. Mrs. Baldwin was then living in West Frankfort, Ill. Yesterday Jordan filed a habeas corpus petition in the Benton County Circuit court, alleging he had completed his sentence but that the warden of the prison refused to release him.

COURT TO DECIDE ON ALIMONY FOR IRENE M'LAUGHLIN

Judge John J. Lupe will decide today whether Irene Castle McLaughlin is entitled to more than $750 temporary alimony a month from Maj. Frederic McLaughlin. The judge also will fix the amount of fees, on account, which McLaughlin must pay Robert Cantwell Jr., his wife's attorney. She is suing for divorce.

At a brief hearing yesterday Judge Lupe indicated he would not increase Mrs. McLaughlin's allowance unless she could show emergency expenses, such as medical bills, incurred since the start of the suit and not considered at the time the amount was fixed at $750.

A judicial query as to the liklihood of a reconciliation of the McLaughlins was answered by Frederic Burnham, attorney for the major. "Not a chance," he said.

FINISH MAILING 1938 PERSONALTY TAX SCHEDULES

Assessor John S. Clark said yesterday that the mailing of 1938 Cook county personal property assessment schedules was completed when 45,000 forms were sent individuals and business concerns in South township. This area includes the loop.

The last day for filing of schedules from South township was set for Aug. 8. The deadline for Lake township is Aug. 1, Lakeview July 20 and Hyde Park, Jefferson and West townships, July 25. A penalty of 50 per cent is added for failure to file schedules.

U. S. SENDS ENVOY TO GERMANY FOR REFUGEE PROBE

Will Seek Data on How Many Wish to Leave.

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, July 15.—(AP)—The United States sent an official observer into Germany today, at the end of the thirty-two nation refugee conference, to gather information for a report on the situation of potential refugees from Nazi rule.

George Brandt, who holds the rank of consul in the American foreign service and who was attached to the American delegation at the conference, left under instructions from the state department for visits in Berlin, Vienna, Stuttgart, and Hamburg.

A spokesman for the American delegation said Brandt's mission would be "to gather information from American sources concerning the number and type of persons who desire to leave Germany under the sponsoring of the permanent refugee organization established by the Evian conference in London."

Will Report Next Month.

He is to report to that body after its members assemble on Aug. 3 in the British capital.

The thirty-two nation conference here, which President Roosevelt called, ended ten days of discussions with a session which was marked by two developments.

Myron C. Taylor, the president and chief United States delegate, emphasized the need for refugees being allowed to leave Germany with their possessions and announced that new hope for finding homes for them had arisen through "confidential statements that certain countries could find room for more emigrants than had been expected." He did not identify the countries.

Earl Winterton, chief British delegate, announced that Palestine would not be opened to mass Jewish immigration. His government, he said, considered as "wholly untenable" the idea that the Jewish problem could be solved if "the gates of Palestine were thrown open."

Taylor Demands Nazi Help.

Taylor called "vital and imperative" Germany's coöperation with the London organization and emphasized that "unless steps are taken forthwith to remedy the present disorderly exodus there is catastrophic human suffering ahead which might have far reaching consequences in international unrest and strain."

As a final gesture the delegates to the conference rose to their feet at the invitation of Senator Henry Berenger, honorary president of the conference, in recognition "of the fact that the Evian meeting has solidified the collaboration of the United States with European nations."

Representatives of the world Jewish congress here greeted the results of the intergovernmental sessions with satisfaction. Plans evolved at the conference were characterized as signifying substitution of "systematic and organized emigration for chaotic exodus which now is a blot on humanity."

M'NUTT TO HAVE SUMMER PALACE DESPITE CRITICS

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt is to have his summer palace in the mountains of the Philippines despite Republican congressional critics, who termed it an outrage.

Bids for construction of the building were opened at the treasury today, and the H. R. Goyke & Co., of Jacksonville, Fla., was found to have submitted the lowest one, $151,200.

War department officials said the summer residence, to be built in the mountains of Baguio, will be completed early next year. Construction work already is under way on the high commissioner's regular palace at Manila. Funds totaling $750,000 were appropriated by congress two years ago for construction of the two Philippine palaces after the ones previously occupied by the American governor general were turned over to the Philippine government upon inauguration of the new commonwealth.

Nazi Salute in Africa on King's Birthday Stirs M. P.

LONDON, July 15.—(AP)—Charges that Germans in the former German colony of Tanganyika, Africa, gave a mass Nazi salute when the British anthem, "God Save the King," was played on King George VI.'s official birthday June 9, were brought before the house of commons today. Col. John Sandeman Allen announced he would ask Colonial Secretary Malcolm J. MacDonald next week what he had done to "deal with this breach of law." Since 1919 Tanganyika has been administered by Great Britain under mandate.

Danzig Nazi Chief Ends London Mystery Visit

LONDON, July 15.—(AP)—Albert Foerster, Nazi leader of the free city of Danzig, ended his mystery talks here today and left for Berlin by plane. It was reported Foerster sought British approval of a plebiscite which would serve as a basis for demanding the return to Germany of Danzig, former West Prussian capital, placed under league of nations protection after the world war.

Army Adopts Semi-Automatic Rifle

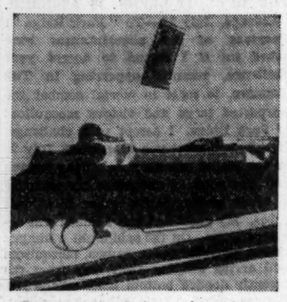
Breech open and clip containing ten cartridges being inserted into magazine in one motion. The entire clip with the cartridges is inserted; the cartridges do not have to be stripped from the clip, as is the case with some earlier rifles.



Empty clip being ejected automatically after the tenth shot has been fired, and the breech remaining open ready for another clip of ten cartridges.

Tested by Soldiers

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—United States infantrymen at Fort Hamilton today made tests of the new semi-automatic rifle which is to replace the old Springfield rifle.

The new rifle, named the Garland after its inventor, John C. Garland, is capable of firing sixty aimed shots a minute, compared with about fifteen shots a minute, which is about the capacity of the old Springfield. The new rifle is called a semi-automatic because it reloads automatically after each shot is fired until its clip of ten cartridges is exhausted, but it does not fire a continuous string of shots as the machine gun does.

ARMS COST PERIL TO CIVILIZATION, COMMONS TOLD

Britons Vote Budget of 5 Billion.

LONDON, July 15.—(AP)—Britain's canny chancellor of the exchequer, Sir John Simon, coupled a hopeful view of the economic situation today with a stern warning that the world must find a way to halt the "terrifying total of expenditures on armaments."

He spoke in a house of commons debate which preceded house approval of the government's finance bill providing for a budget of nearly one billion pounds [about five billion dollars]. Included is a provision for 264,000,000 pounds [about $1,320,000,000] for the fighting services.

Says Britain Seeks Reduction.

"If we do not succeed and the world does not succeed in finding some way in which we can stop the folly of this everlasting expenditure on armaments, then indeed the future we are preparing for our children is one at which we may shudder," Simon asserted.

"We speak as if our civilization were securely based, but there have been other civilizations than ours. Tut-Ankh-Amen was forgotten until he was dug up. It is very possible the things protecting our civilization are more slender than they are sometimes thought."

Britain, he said, has seized every opportunity of "reducing tension and making friendships," believing world troubles could not be solved if the powers continue to pile up guns.

Setback in U. S.

Sir John defended his staggering budget by asserting the world economic status today "has no semblance to the situation before the depression."

Conditions both in the United States and in Britain are "vastly better" now, Sir John said.

"In the United States," he told the house, "there has, of course, been a setback. But, on the balance, undoubtedly things in that great country are vastly better than they were in 1931, and the same thing is true in our own case."

The chancellor asserted much of the falling off in world consumption of primary commodities "has been connected with what has happened in the United States." Aside from the United States, however, he contended world consumption of commodities had "shown no special reduction in the first five months of this year."

VET, 93, RESCUED FROM DAUGHTER, GETS NEW HOME

James B. Winters, 93 years old, a civil war veteran, will return to friends in Shelbyville, his home town, to spend his remaining days. That was the plan approved yesterday by County Judge Jarecki. The aged man was taken to the Edward Hines hospital last May after government pension investigators found him a virtual prisoner, living in squalor at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Florence Quinlan, a widow, at 1511 East 65th place.

The investigators found she had been cashing his $100 monthly pension checks in nearby taverns. She was committed to the Manteno State hospital after being adjudged mentally incompetent. Winters is a veteran of the Fifty-fourth Illinois Volunteer infantry, Company D.

8, Feared Lost in Mexican Plane, Safe in Chicle Camp

MEXICO CITY, July 15. — (AP) — Seven passengers and a pilot aboard a transport plane which disappeared Wednesday were located safe today in a chicle encampment at Chunyaxche, state of Quintana Roo. The plane apparently made a forced landing, with no way for the occupants to communicate immediately with the outside world. Another plane was sent for them.

HURL BOMB INTO CROWD; 12 HOLY LAND ARABS DIE

British Troops Fire Upon Rioters.

JERUSALEM, July 15.—(AP)—Truckloads of British troops with fixed bayonets and machine guns streamed through the twisting streets of ancient Jerusalem tonight to forestall possible new disorders arising from the explosion of a bomb in a crowded bazar.

Twelve Arabs were killed and at least twenty-nine were wounded when the bomb burst among throngs of Arab peasants in David street market place.

372 Casualties in 11 Days.

The incident was one of the most serious in the eleven days of Jewish-Arab disorders in the Holy Land. Casualties since July 5 have totaled at least 372. Of these, 66 Arabs and 29 Jews were killed, and 176 Arabs and 101 Jews were wounded.

Police closed all gates of the old city after the market place explosion. A curfew was clamped on Jerusalem after 6 p. m.

In other disorders, three Arabs were wounded by a bomb in the Safad Arab quarter. Arabs then tried to invade the Jewish quarter and British troops opened fire, killing one Arab and wounding two.

Find Bomb Near Hospital.

Police found a high-explosive time bomb near Hadassah hospital in the center of Jerusalem, two hours before it was set to go off.

A large store of explosives, arms and ammunition also was found near the mosque of Omar in a rapid series of raids.

PICK-A-BACK WILL START ATLANTIC HOP WEDNESDAY

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 15.—(AP)—Imperial airways announced today that the Mercury, upper part of the Mayo pick-a-back airplane, would take off from Foynes, Ireland, next Wednesday for Botwood, Newfoundland, on its first transatlantic flight.

The Mercury is to be launched from its lower and larger component, the Maia, about 7 p. m. [1 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time], hoping to land at Botwood in daylight, or, if fuel is sufficient, to continue to Montreal.

The Maia will take off from the River Shannon with the Mercury locked to its back. The machines probably will separate at about 3,000 feet, the Mercury heading out across the Atlantic while the Maia returns to its base. Later it is expected the Maia will fly to Montreal to launch the Mercury for the return.

Solve Mystery of Fatal Stabbing of 2 WPA Men

Desplaines street police early today solved the slaying last Monday of Michael Pykar, 32 years old, 1621 West 14th street, and Stanley Liesen, 27, of 317 South Throop street, WPA workers. They were stabbed fatally at Madison and May streets. Bryan Devaney, 43, of 623 Madison street, told Sergt. John Hannon he used his knife in self defense after Pykar and Liesen tried to strong arm him. James Heaney, 48, 440 South Clark street, confirmed his story. Devaney and Heaney are also WPA workers.

JAPAN'S BIG DRIVE STALLED; PLANES BOMBARD CITIES

Chinese Forts Block Way Up River to Hankow.

SHANGHAI, July 16. [Saturday]—(AP)—Relays of bombing planes and shellfire from naval guns raked the Lion Hill forts yesterday as Japan's big offensive up the Yangtze river remained stalled below Kiukiang, 135 miles from Hankow, Chinese provisional capital.

The forts guard both the passage up the river and the mouth of Lake Poyang, across which the Japanese seek to launch an expedition against Nanchang, China's largest air base.

Bombing planes ranged up and down both sides of the lake, attacking Tuchang on the east shore, Wucheng on the west shore and Sinkiang, east of Kiukiang.

Reports Are Conflicting.

Unconfirmed Japanese reports said the Chinese had started to withdraw their troops from Kiukiang after destroying foreign property, including the American hospital school, the French Catholic church, and British, American and Japanese river front property.

But the Chinese said 25,000 Japanese troops concentrated at Hukow, at the eastern side of the lake entrance, were cut off by a counter attack and were being supplied with food and munitions dropped from airplanes.

Heavy casualties, the Chinese said, were inflicted in other counter attacks down river at Pengtseh and Matowchen, site of defense works and river booms which the Chinese relinquished on July 2.

Jap Warships Damaged.

A Japanese naval spokesman denied a Chinese summary from Hankow asserting forty-five Japanese war vessels had been sunk or damaged by Chinese bombing planes in the last two weeks.

No Japanese warship has been sunk since the beginning of the conflict, he said. He admitted, however, that "several ships" had been damaged. He said the damaged boats were only auxiliaries and small requisitioned craft.

BRITISH ORDER 400 AIRPLANE MOTORS IN U. S.

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The Curtiss-Wright and Wright Aeronautical corporations tonight announced the British air ministry had purchased 400 Wright Cyclone engines to be installed in 200 reconnaisance planes—one of the largest orders ever placed with an American aircraft concern.

The announcement was made by Guy W. Vaughan, president of the corporations, who said that the order was placed by the Lockheed Aircraft corporation of Burbank, Cal., and that the engines would be produced at Paterson, N. J.

Vaughan said the engines were identical to the type used by Howard Hughes in his round the world flight and were for installation in twin motored craft similar to the plane Hughes used.

PROFESSORS DUEL IN HUNGARY OVER UNIVERSITY JOB

SZEGED, Hungary, July 15.—(AP)—A meeting of Szeged university's faculty today broke up in a row which produced one duel and may lead to two more. A court of honor is to listen to what passed in the conference of professors to determine whether there shall be more fighting.

Bela Zolnai, professor of French, and Dr. Joseph Fogel, professor of history, belabored each other for three rounds with sabers in the Szeged cavalry barracks. Zolnai was cut on the head and Fogel's arm was bleeding before they decided honor was satisfied and shook hands.

The trouble, it was said, arose while the faculty debated who should occupy the vacant chair of Turkish literature. The chair was not filled.

Raps Disarm Plea of Roosevelt.

ROME, July 15.—(AP)—The Fascist spokesman Virginio Gayda invited President Roosevelt today to begin the disarmament he pleaded for yesterday in his San Francisco, Cal., speech by disarming the "aggressive oratory" of American anti-Fascists.

[President Roosevelt in San Francisco expressed the "fervent hope" that the world armaments race would be halted.]

Cites Boost in Naval Limits.

"They come," he said, "a few weeks after a decision of the three great democratic militaristic powers to alter their Washington decisions [a reference to the Washington, D. C., naval conference] and, entirely because of American insistence, to increase the maximum tonnage limit of battleships from 35,000 to 45,000 tons.

"Everyone knows that an increase of 10,000 tons in these colossi of the sea means an increase in their firing power, in their offensive efficiency.

"We would like to suggest that the President complete his yerning for limitation of armaments with more energetic action for the limitation, or better disarmament, of ideological movements of aggressive oratory which at the given moment legitimizes and compels vast armaments in the nations which are assailed by it."

Refers to Critics in U. S.

Gayda said he had dealt already with the "aggressive tones and provocations of not unresponsible men and great newspapers in America" who "rank Italy and other countries among the infernal nations."

[Recently the Fascist press attacked United States Secretary of War Harry Woodring and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes for speeches considered critical of the totalitarian states.]

SHAKEUP SENDS 101 POLICEMEN TO NEW STATIONS

Ten police lieutenants, 15 sergeants, and 76 patrolmen were transferred yesterday by Commissioner Allman. He said the 101 changes were for the good of the service. The lieutenants transferred, their old and new posts, are: Romaine A. Goudie, Town Hall to Rogers Park; Daniel F. Healy, detective bureau to Hudson avenue; Kyran V. J. Phelan, Hudson avenue to detective bureau; William M. Egan, Chicago Lawn to Englewood; William J. Drury, Rogers Park to Town Hall; Anthony De Grazio, Cragin to Sheffield avenue; Roger Murphy, Morgan Park to Hyde Park; Wallace J. Monroe, Hyde Park to Morgan Park; John Quinn, Englewood to Chicago Lawn, and Henry H. Hanson, Sheffield to Cragin.

Ex-Convict, Shot Trying to Flee from Police, Dies

Alex Rossi, ex-convict and burglar, died last night in the Bridewell hospital of a bullet wound inflicted by police. They caught him attempting to break into a house Wednesday. The arrest took place at 1319 South Kildare avenue. Rossi managed to break away from his captors, but was seized a short time later by Detective Harold Haight of the Fillmore street station. When he drew a gun in a second attempt to get away, Haight shot him. Rossi was 24 years old.

AIR FIGHTS RAGE IN SPAIN; REBELS LOSE 20 PLANES

Loyalists Add Flyers on Eastern Front.

BARCELONA, July 15.—(AP)—A defense ministry communique said today that Spanish government pursuit planes and anti-aircraft batteries brought down twenty insurgent planes in three days of intensive aerial warfare on the eastern front north of Valencia.

The communique indicated the government air force had been reenforced strongly for the struggle north of Sagunto, and now outnumbered insurgent aircraft in the area. Only one government plane was reported lost.

The major encounter took place late yesterday, when a fleet of government planes engaged twenty insurgent craft of Italian make, the communique said. Two insurgent planes were said to have been shot down, three burst into flames, and four others crashed in insurgent territory. Eleven insurgent planes were reported shot down near Sarrion, on the Teruel-Sagunto highway.

Loyalists Retake Mountain.

HENDAYE, France, [At the Spanish Frontier], July 15.—(AP)—A violent counteroffensive unleashed by Gen. José Miaja's forces in eastern Spain today carried government forces atop strategic Marcos mountain. The peak is near Tales, about thirty-four miles airline north of Valencia and not far from the Mediterranean.

It was recaptured by the government militiamen as they fought steadily to dam the onrushing wave of insurgent troops toward Valencia, vital seaport and former government capital.

Inland about forty-five miles from the Mediterranean the belligerents fought in extreme heat in the Sarrion sector, southeast of Teruel, along the Teruel-Sagunto highway which the insurgents seek to control. The insurgents were using Sarrion as a base for efforts to break through defenses barring them from Albentosa, four miles southeast.

Rebel Bombs Kill 13.

MADRID, July 15.—(AP)—Insurgent air raiders killed thirteen persons, including several women and children, and injured twenty others today in a bombardment of Algima de Alfara, on the Teruel highway northwest of Sagunto.

AIRLINER CRASHES INTO A HOSPITAL; 1 DEAD, 28 HURT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 15.—(AP)—A Pan-American Airways transport plane making a forced landing near a suburban airport today ripped into a one-story frame hospital for the aged, killing one of the inmates.

Eight passengers and five members of the crew suffered minor cuts and bruises. Blind and helpless patients of the hospital were showered with débris. Fifteen of the patients were hurt, three critically.

Pilot C. H. Goodwin had taken off from the airport, at suburban Ituzaingo, about 15 minutes before the crash. One motor had gone bad, the air line said, and he was attempting to return to the airport. When he brought the plane down between the hospital and a clump of trees, its left wing hit the building.

1,000 CITY BAKE SHOPS TO REMAIN CLOSED SUNDAYS

Bakery owners of Chicago have decided to close on Sundays. All shops will be shut July 24 and every Sunday thereafter.

The executive order to abide by the decision of more than 1,000 members of the Associated Retail Bakers of Greater Chicago went out yesterday. The vote was taken July 6 at a meeting in Pilsen park.

The bakers, association leaders said, had decided to end the seven day work week. While everybody else was getting a day off, the bake shop owners have had to stay open. It was pointed out that no bread is baked on Sundays now, so the public will lose nothing in freshness by buying its bread on Saturday.

THE CHIEF OF THE PARTY.

Mr. Roosevelt, who is, as he says, a dual personality, has been chief of the Democratic Front party on his speech making trip across the country, and is now as he sails on the cruiser Houston presumably President of the United States. The political chief would not use a battleship as a fishing boat, and the President, Mr. Roosevelt made perfectly clear in his recent fireside chat, would not take a part in partisan politics. The President would not throw the weight of his office for or against candidates, and the chief of the party would not have a petty officer of the United States navy taking care of his fishing tackle or as a fisherman be occupying the admiral's quarters on an American flagship.

The commander-in-chief of the American armed forces should be at home on a battleship. The chief of the party is very much at home in a primary election in any state in which he finds a blacklisted opponent or a highly serviceable friend running for office. The chief of the party laid aside the privileges and prerogatives of that position in California Thursday, after he had spoken to selected native sons and daughters and various others at a luncheon on the California 1939 world's fair grounds—made land in San Francisco bay happily named Treasure Island.

Mr. Roosevelt as chief of the party reminded his California listeners that they had been given 8¼ million dollars to the making of the land, the buildings, and to bay community improvements. Mr. Roosevelt indicated that he thought this was mighty generous and there was the inference that a grateful people would appreciate what had been done for them. The Californians are a proud people, built on a most generous scale when it comes to accepting gifts. They may have thought that it wasn't enough, but they applauded heartily.

Mr. Roosevelt also paid the Californians a compliment which they would not regard as an exaggeration but which had weight as coming from not only the chief of the party but a New Yorker. Of their exposition, which opens in February of next year, he said that he had observed when the people of California undertook to do anything they did it better than any other people in the United States could be expected to do it. From this is to be gathered that the California world's fair will be a much superior article to the New York world's fair which runs at the same time. New Yorkers may think that Mr. Roosevelt as a resident of Manhattan and Hyde Park might have made the Californians purr over something less emphatic than an acknowledgment of the superiority of the west coast exposition.

Anyway, the chief of the party temporarily suspends his activities and the President has gone fishing.

DEMOCRATS: STEPCHILDREN IN WISCONSIN.

The Wisconsin Democrats have indorsed a candidate for the nomination for governor subject to the approval of Jim Farley. After the recent state convention had given its unanimous support to Jerome Fox, a young lawyer with a New Deal job, as its best hope, it resolved at the invitation of the chairman to advise Farley of its action and to ask for his blessing and O. K. Some of the speakers thought this was unnecessary because they understood that the postmaster general had told them it would be all right. Nevertheless the convention wanted the definite Farley indorsement.

This is something new in state government. In Wisconsin it is, of course, due to the pathetic eagerness of the Democrats to get some acknowledgment from the President that they are more than stepchildren. They are trying earnestly to be nice to the President, and the pitiful thing is that he does not care about them. They have been rated by the administration as little more than a nuisance, and why don't they let him alone with the La Follettes?

Farley visited the Wisconsin convention, spoke for the reëlection of Ryan Duffy to the senate and walked away without a word for the state ticket. He sought to correct this omission by sending a belated message saying he also bespoke success for the state ticket.

There was not a word from the President and Farley's remarks and message left no possibility of interpretation that would indicate Roosevelt's interest.

As long as Senator La Follette goes along with the President in Washington and as long as Phil confines his interference to a few critical words in a political speech at Madison, the Wisconsin Democrats can look for little or no encouragement from the White House. In 1934 the President openly caused the election of the two brothers and the defeat of the Democratic candidates for senator and for governor. In 1936 the Progressives repaid by supporting him almost unanimously.

At present it looks as if the Democrats would have a sacrifice candidate for governor. If Roosevelt really wants Duffy elected the Progressives may offer a sacrifice candidate for the senate. The past arrangement has been satisfactory to the President and to the La Follettes, and until something better turns up the Democrats will continue to be pathetic stepchildren.

JAPAN GIVES UP THE GAMES.

Japan has given up the 1940 Olympic games. There is too much uncertainty ahead. The Chinese incident not only is costing money, it also requires concentration. The Olympic games are supposed to have a flavor of international comity and universal brotherhood. The Japanese cannot allow their minds to be diverted by such wistful fallacies, being ear deep in real international politics.

If the Chinese incident had been a three months' pushover Japan would have been glad to entertain the athletes of the world two years from now. As host it would have made a national effort to win renown and acclaim. The Japanese were anxious to have their invitation accepted when it was extended two years ago. They hoped to demonstrate how well they can do things.

The beginning of the Chinese incident started objections and there were threats of withdrawals. The Olympic committee stood pat. It had nothing to do, so the members said, with wars and international politics. Japan could have had the games if it had continued to want them. It might have been slighted by withdrawals even if matters connected with the incident got no worse. Unless Chinese aviation should improve the Tokio track and field were not in much danger of bombing and the occasional departure of troop trains could have been arranged without disturbance of the international good will.

Japan feels constrained to pass up the honor it sought and intended so much to improve. Finland apparently may have the games if it still wants them. Here will be a more congenial scene. Finland is peaceful, a member of the Scandinavian defense league against war, solvent, an honorable debtor, and a land of great athletes.

THE FIGHT IN MARTIN'S UNION.

The communists' attempt to run away with the United Automobile Workers' union is successfully proving, according to their own statements, that Clarence Hathaway of the communists' national committee was right when he told Homer Martin, the president, he couldn't purge his ranks of communism because it was too strong for him.

Martin, who knows he will have to subdue the communists or be deposed himself, suspended his four vice presidents and his general secretary, some weeks ago, after he had tried to bring John Lewis himself out in the open against the revolutionaries. Lewis refused to commit himself and Martin acted on his own impulses. Richard Frankensteen and Wyndham Mortimer were two of the suspended officials. They are seeking the support of Lewis against Martin, but the Democratic Front boss is still noncommittal.

The communist publications say that every major local of the United Automobile Workers in Flint, Detroit, Toledo, and Cleveland has voted for the reinstatement, and demands the return of, the ousted officers. Lewis' first success in his attack of 1936 and '37 to seize the key industries of the country was with his automobile affiliate. With it he took General Motors, after violent disorders in Michigan. Later he took Big Steel with his Steel Workers' affiliate, and now, with the aid of the National Labor Relations board and runaway strikes, prejudiced hearings under the National Labor Relations act, and organized disrespect for court orders and judicial authority, he is continuing the fight for control of American industry along lines entirely consistent with communist strategy.

The war in the automobile C. I. O. affiliate is now an open one. The reinstatement of the suspended officials would indicate that Martin has lost out and that Lewis has found it expedient or necessary to make his alliance with Browder's party an openly acknowledged one. The C. I. O. bosses the Democratic Front party and the communists boss the C. I. O.

DEATH AND PROSPERITY.

The publication of Chicago's vital statistics for the first six months of this year brings out the curious fact that in recent years improvement in business has been accompanied by an increase in the death rate. When business grew worse the death rate declined.

The death rate dropped from a point slightly above 12 per thousand of population in 1928 to rather less than 10 at the bottom of the depression in 1932 and 1933. Then as business picked up the rate began to rise until it almost reached 11 in 1936, a relatively good year, economically speaking. The decline in business in 1937 was echoed by a decline in the death rate, which is again below 10.

The infant death rate, by way of contrast, shows no such fluctuations. It has declined steadily, without significant changes in the trend, from 1916, when more than 120 babies died of each 1,000 born in the city, until today, when the infant death rate has been reduced to about 35 per thousand.

Why the general death rate should rise as business grows better and fall as business deteriorates we do not know. Perhaps the similar movement of the curves is just an accident. But the behavior of the death rate since 1929 does seem to disprove, at least as far as Chicago is concerned, the frequent assertion that vast numbers of the people of this country were desperately undernourished before the present administration took office in 1933 and relieved their distress. A declining death rate is not a likely accompaniment of three or four years of serious malnutrition.

Editorial of the Day

BACKFIRE.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

The International Conference on Refugees, now meeting at Evian-les-Bains, France, presents a pretty sorry spectacle. Here are thirty-two countries, most of them theoretically Christian, all of them theoretically civilized, professing horror at the persecution of unpopular minorities, especially in Germany, yet each of them making excuse when invited to receive some of these minorities. Germany specifically offers 40,000 former Austrians, and that offer has disrupted the whole program. Nobody wants them, in fact, nobody will have them. In England the doctors are actually talking about a medical strike if any more Austrian doctors are admitted to that country.

If nobody is prepared to do anything, why was the conference called? Did Mr. Roosevelt actually think that a lot of chatter at Evian-les-Bains would persuade such a man as Hitler to alter his course by a hair's breadth? But if he didn't think so, why did he precipitate the chatter? As things stand now, the thirty-two participating nations are left looking rather foolish, and Hitler once more can claim to have acted promptly and realistically.

The conference has backfired; and the probability that it would do so should have been foreseen.

He is no small boy walking up the street;
He is an Indian alert to meet

He zigzags, runs behind a bush or flings
Himself upon the ground to aim at passersby.
If he is late returning home and brings
In stones, odd bits of knotted string and sticks,
Know these are prized possessions of the boy of six;
Or if he wants to eat his lunch alone

Although no official secret service man accompanies the Swedish royal party on its American tour, the United States keeps a watchful eye on its royal visitors in the person of red haired young Bob Bannerman, representing the state department at Washington. This close approximate to a dick has been staying, amusingly enough, at a girls' school in Lake Forest—he and another member of the party being the only men in the place. Young Bannerman is relieved from duty once Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf is inside private premises. He did not have to keep his eye on his royal charge at the dinner party at the William McCormick Blairs, for instance, but he stays close to his side at public banquets and functions.

* * *

Bannerman stayed close to the crown prince even at the Art institute yesterday while tall, gray-clad Gustaf Adolf looked at Zorn paintings, Zorn etchings of Prince Ingebord and King Oscar II. and Queen Sophia of Sweden; at old Swedish peasant wall hangings; at Milles sculptures and Orrefors glass. Introductions to the crown prince had been banned, but a plump, white haired elderly woman pushed forward, spoke to him in Swedish, and received a warm handclasp and a long reply, also in Swedish.

Visiting royalty on former occasions have had secret service men constantly on duty, even at small private dinner parties. When Prince Paul of Greece visited Chicago some years ago the government agent even attended a small dinner for ten given at the Casino club by a young woman whom he had known abroad.

GOOD HEARING: A PRICELESS POSSESSION.

WHEN we realize that there are ten million persons in the United States with impaired hearing we can understand readily that the problem of deafness is not a casual one. Nearly one-third are children and 60,000 of these are totally deaf. In a survey of over 300,000 boys and girls of school age in New York City one in every seven exhibited deficient sound perception in one or both ears.

For the most part, the trouble comes from a definite cause, that is, it does not arise spontaneously. While some infants are born with aural disabilities, most are normal at birth. Heredity plays an important part, as well as drugs used by the prospective mother, the most dangerous of which is quinine. But some infection may occur during the early years of life and, as a result, the acoustic machinery may be damaged severely.

Study of the data obtained from the examination of several thousand lads and lassies who had acquired deafness disclosed the fact that 19 per cent followed meningitis, 8½ per cent resulted from measles, 7 per cent from scarlet fever, and 7 per cent from influenza. In other words, 41 per cent were of infectious origin, while 59 per cent complicated other maladies or arose from disease of the ear itself.

Physicians nowadays never make light of a discharging ear. A pouring out of pus via the external canal, which lasts for more than two or three weeks, indicates that hearing is menaced seriously. One thing seems certain also, namely, that deafness from any source is never outgrown.

The chief culprits, as far as sources of bacteria are concerned, are enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids. In fact, one of the preliminary procedures usually suggested, if pus is found in the canal, is to remove completely both tonsils and all excess adenoid tissue. Sometimes the sinuses are responsible and a puslike discharge pouring down the back of the throat, with its constant irritation and absorption, may inflame the Eustachian tube, which leads to the middle ear, and thus force infection into that area.

Numerous parts of the country have suffered recently from epidemics of measles and many a boy and girl has suffered an aching ear, bulging of the drum, and later the bursting of the abscess which formed in the space housing the tiny bones which transmit sound. If the physician has caught the situation early enough a slight incision may be made in the drum. This has the advantage of avoiding tears in the structure which may not heal completely. The patient then is told never to blow the nose with force, and his diet is reinforced strongly with calcium and iron. The new drug, sulfanilamide, which is so effective against certain types of streptococci and some other organisms, is strongly recommended by many authorities as the best means we now have of destroying bacteria.

Needless to say, a physician who not only possesses skill but who is interested in his patients should be in charge, because it is frequently from neglected cases that the mastoid cells become affected. Pain back of the ear and soreness on pressure may indicate trouble in this region.

After recovery there comes the necessity of estimating how much deficiency exists. If hearing has been reduced by 20 per cent the child should be seated in the front row at school—if possible within a few feet of the teacher. He can be aided further if the one in charge of the schoolroom will always recall the necessity of speaking clearly and distinctly. If the loss is over 30 per cent some mechanical aid is recommended. Lip reading will compensate for slight grades of deafness, and every one who has experienced lowering of this function may be able to carry on conversation through observing carefully the lips of the speaker.

During the summer the child with a chronic discharge should not be allowed to swim or dive. Water getting into the outer canal will distort the picture by adding new bacteria.

H. L. W. writes: What is meant by the term, extra systole of the heart? Is it dangerous? What causes it? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Extra systole, also known as premature beat, is due to impulses from the auricle or ventricle which disturb the normal rhythm of the heart. It is likely to occur in middle life, and may accompany organic heart disease. On the other hand, the phenomenon may carry little significance, as it appears also in persons who have indulged in excessive smoking or strenuous exercise, or who are subject to emotional excitement. These superfluous beats are due essentially to increased irritability of the heart muscle. If the cause does not lie with actual disease, the symptom may be disregarded.

NOT ALWAYS POSSIBLE.

F. L. writes: What can be done to avoid that deathly sick-to-the-stomach feeling during pregnancy?

REPLY.

It is not possible in all cases to cause the feeling of nausea to subside, but it must not be allowed to interfere with the normal intake of food. Eat breakfast in bed and stay in bed for an hour thereafter. Take small amounts of food six times daily instead of the usual three. Dry foods are better than liquids. Candy helps in some cases. Do not prepare food yourself, as the preparation aggravates the symptom. Make every effort to control vomiting, as this habit is hard to break. Now and then some gland product will prove helpful. Your physician can advise you best.

SOME OTHER CAUSES LIKELY.

Mrs. T. writes: Two years ago my nasal passages were irritated considerably by sulfur dioxide gas from a leaking mechanical refrigerator before I discovered what was wrong. I detect a slight leak of this gas when I visit friends and I get the same effect. Is there anything that will heal these membrances?

REPLY.

You probably are unduly sensitive to the gas. Most people are immune to small quantities. For acute symptoms the inhalation of steam impregnated with tincture of compound benzoin is suggested. In your case all inflammation should have disappeared long ago. It is possible that some other trouble may be present.

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

R. W. writes: Just what is encephalitis? How does it affect the body?

REPLY.

Encephalitis lethargica is an acute or subacute infectious disease, occurring in epidemics, and characterized by disturbances of the central nervous system, such as lethargy, somnolence, paralysis of the nerves which control the eyes, etc.

The start may be gradual or sudden. In cases of gradual onset, headache, diffuse pains, restlessness, and delirium may precede stupor. In sudden attacks, lethargy is prominent. An article describing this malady more fully appeared in this column on July 7.

DRIED FRUITS SAFE.

Mrs. J. B. writes: Are dried fruits that are prepared with sulphur dioxide harmful?

REPLY.

No. However, the fruit should be soaked in cold water overnight.

IT'S NOT POISONOUS.

I. M. W. writes: If a piece of moldy bread should be eaten accidentally, would the eater be poisoned?

REPLY.

No. There is no danger whatever.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—The German army is absorbing the Austrian army with methodical thoroughness, it is revealed in authoritative information reaching here. The ultimate gain in armed strength will be seven infantry divisions, one armored division, and one independent brigade. This will bring the German total to no fewer than forty-three infantry divisions and four armored divisions.

In round numbers the Austrian federal army consisted of 60,000 regulars, 50,000 reservists and 20,000 militia belonging to the Patriotic Front. The latter has been disbanded.

It is believed the army has been converted into two corps, the 17th and the 18th, and that a new one, the 19th, is to be formed, consisting of a light division and an armored division. The existing armored division probably will form the nucleus, and the whole force organized as the fifth army group command.

One of the problems has been the disposal of the Austrian officers. Gen. Wilhelm Zehner, who was secretary of state for defense, is reported to have committed suicide. A number of senior officers are said to have refused to take an oath of allegiance to Reichsfuehrer Hitler and have been dismissed.

The only former Austrian leader to be given a command is Field Marshal Beyer, who now heads the 18th corps. He was previously in command of the independent brigade of mountain troops at Salzburg, which had gained a high reputation for efficiency. Before the annexation he was inspector general of the Austrian army.

A few staf appointments have been given to Austrians, but there has been little consideration for the Austrian general staf as a whole. Of a total of about 1,200 officers, hardly more than 400 are being retained as combatant officers. A commission, sitting in Vienna, investigates the political past of all serving officers, and its recommendations are final.

With regard to armament, it may be expected that German guns as well as rifles and machine guns will be adopted, in view of the difference in caliber between German and Austrian weapons. The Austrian tanks, which are of Italian make, probably will be scrapped. The mechanical transport is excellent, and presumably will be retained. Uniforms will be entirely German.

There are a number of munitions factories which will be taken over. Several of them produce a very efficient 47 mm. anti-tank gun which can be added to the military gains made by Germany as a result of the absorption of Austria.

BUILDING AND LOAN FUNDS.

Chicago, July 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a building and loan account which has expired over eight months ago. Every time I go there and try to get my money they tell me they haven't got the money to pay me. I need the money to pay some bills which are due and would like to get it right away. This firm is still doing business in some location. Could you please advise me how I could get my money?

H. R. M.

Section 13 of the Illinois Building and Loan association act is in part as follows: "If the by-laws shall so provide, any member desiring to withdraw . . . may be required to make a written application which shall be received and filed in numerical order, and payments upon the same shall be made in the order in which they are filed; provided, however, if at any time, there is not sufficient funds . . . to meet the demands of matured and maturing shareholders and also the demands . . . for voluntary withdrawals, then the board of directors may . . . determine what proportion shall be paid on voluntary withdrawals and what proportion shall be paid on matured or maturing stock."

The provisions of this single section of the act occupy more than a full double column page in the revised statutes. Your rights depend not only upon this and other sections of the act, but also upon the wording of the by-laws of your association.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Chicago, July 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What are the rules, according to law, regarding marriage after a divorce in the state of Illinois?

2. Also, if a divorce is obtained in another state where there is a one year wait for the final decree, could the divorcée remarry in any other state before that year had lapsed? M. K.

1. No delay is required under present Illinois law.

2. If, as in California, no actual final decree is entered until a year after the first finding, or interlocutory decree, then obviously the parties are not in a position to contract a valid marriage until the divorce has become effective under the second decree.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CEMETERY LOT.

Chicago, July 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a lot in a cemetery consisting of two graves, one grave being unoccupied. 1. In case of judgment could it be levied upon? 2. Does a cemetery lot have to be recorded? O. T.

1. Yes.

2. No. In general, if deeds are recorded it is for protection of the grantee against subsequent purchasers, etc., of the grantor. Advisability of recording depends in part on the value. We suggest that you talk with the cemetery officials.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE DUEL, IT SEEMS, IS ASSURED.

Chicago, July 13.—To "Park Ridge": Fourteen of my acquaintances have asked me if I intend to accept your challenge, recently appearing in The Tribune, to meet in mortal combat the purported large and vicious mosquitoes of Park Ridge. I accept your challenge, sir! I shall meet you at dusk on July 20 at the Maine cemetery on Touhy avenue and Dee road. I choose as my weapons a brace of regulation ether filled test tubes. My physician and seconds will accompany me. On the said night a hungry horde of your home grown mosquitoes will arrive winging their way from the recently flooded bottom lands of the Des Plaines river. Your village president, members of the board of trustees, and civic leaders of your community should be present, by all means, to receive with extended arms the perfect specimens of which you are admittedly so proud.

J. Lyell Clarke,

PAGING MR. FARLEY.

Chicago, July 14.—Though a veritable mushroom growth of commemorative and special issues of United States postage stamps has appeared in the last few years, a general issue, now coming out, is a thing of some permanence, hence should be attractive in design.

A borderless stamp, if properly designed and engraved, may be truly a thing of beauty, as in the recent King Edward stamps [British]. But our new stamps, in the lower denominations which have appeared so far, are the cheapest looking, most unattractive things that I have seen in a long time. From the standpoint of workmanship they simply cannot compare with the issue just superseded, nor, for the matter of that, with the one-color or bi-colored stamps of a number of smaller foreign countries.

Perhaps it is not yet too late to have these few lower values called in and replaced by new, or at least similar, designs properly executed. J. F. C.

MERCY CHARIOTS NEEDED.

Chicago, July 10.—For the last two weeks the Chicago ambulance board has been showing one of the emergency ambulances which, I understand, will be placed at different points in Chicago. When and how soon can we have one or expect one in our community—Euclid avenue and 79th street? I know what this ambulance service will mean to a lot of us with small means. Although I haven't much I would gladly subscribe $1 or $2 a year for this much needed service and a great many more people would do likewise.

The name given the ambulance by some one was Mercy Chariot, and would be just that when an emergency arises and one has no money and is out of work. H. T. M.

STARTING THE DAY RIGHT.

Chicago, July 13.—In "Terry and the Pirates," Yurk's brains are splattered against the side of a ship. Bim Gump is dying and broke, Smilin' Jack is knocked out with a blackjack and his partner is falling through space with a nice big hole in his parachute. The world's dumbest detective is walking around displaying a severed human finger in a handkerchief. Little Orphan Annie's pal is giving blood transfusions to a dying gambler, and Smitty's dog is going to die of homesickness.

Boy! those comic strips put us in such a swell humor for the day—and make us feel so grateful for Skeezix. O. H.

BICYCLES ON SIDEWALKS.

Chicago, July 11.—The bicycle riders who use the sidewalk on 67th street outside Oak Woods cemetery are becoming more and more of a danger to the pedestrians.

It is unlawful for bicycle riders to use sidewalks, but I for one would not object if they would only have bells on their bicycles and use them to warn you when they are approaching from the rear. I would gladly step off the walk to let them pass.

Last summer we were run into from the rear and naturally do not want another accident to happen. M. S. B.

RECOMMENDS A WHISTLE.

Chicago, July 14.—Why can't the park district life guards use a whistle to attract the swimmer's attention instead of calling out an uncivilized "Hey, you"? Pete.

A TOPIC FOR MR. BARRY.

Chicago, July 12.—Could you prevail upon your Mr. Barry, whose articles I greatly admire, to write one, some day, on the hostesses who invite their musician friends to dinner, and then before these friends have completely swallowed the last bite, say, brightly, and with an eye which glitters "refuse if you dare," "And now we will have MUSIC."

Or is it Emily Post who ought to take this matter in hand? It may be possible that these "hospitality dispensers" who invite innocent guests and expect them to pay for the invitation by entertaining the other guests are merely in need of a lesson in simple good manners.

I think, however, that your very gifted Mr. Barry could do justice to this seemingly innocent pastime of forcing free entertainment regardless of the feeling of the artist. Great or small, none escapes the imposition.

Do ask Mr. Barry to write something on this. You will call down many blessings [from the musicians] on your collective heads. C. B.

JUST ANOTHER RACKET.

Chicago, July 13.—Chicago has more than enough of its share of rackets without any new ones cropping up. Yet, I was approached this morning by two men, telling me I must join their "Protective association" if I want to keep my job.

They claim they are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, they have set a fee of $25 for the initiation, and $1.50 dues per month. Since when has the A. F. of L. given racketeers the right to intimidate store clerks?

I happen to be employed in a liquor store. These men tell me that if I do not join their association my employer will be forced out of business by picketing the store and stopping all deliveries of merchandise. This naturally scares my employer, as he runs a legitimate place of business, fully licensed in all forms, and yet Chicago sits back and lets the hoodlums fleece its citizens.

Why doesn't the state's attorney look into this? Soon To Be Unemployed.

TOO OLD OR TOO YOUNG.

Rockford, Ill., July 12.—A word to the President:

Mr. President. I've just been reading newspaper accounts of your "bloodless purge" trip to Kentucky [my native state], and I should like to be straightened out a bit. I think I'm pretty clear on most of your ideas, but at what age do you prefer your vassals? The Supreme court justices are too old; Happy Chandler too young.

O, I'm sure, Mr. President, you are wrong when you said it would take "years and years" to whip Happy in shape. He might surprise you [but not me] if he became even a more successful "yes-man" than Dear Alben, which, I admit, is expecting a lot of any one.

W. G. L.

ON THE STEERING COLUMN.

Chicago, July 13.—I am for a law that will make a motorist display his or her driver's license on the steering column so that it may be seen through the left front window, à la California. What is your opinion? H. M. F.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 22 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. Who was the last United States Supreme court justice to die in office before Benjamin N. Cardozo?
[a] William Howard Taft, [b] Edward T. Sanford, [c] Oliver Wendell Holmes.

2. What is the approximate weight of a bale of cotton in the United States?

3. Who was the founder of Rhode Island?

4. Where is Yerkes observatory?
[a] California, [b] Wisconsin, [c] Vienna.

Good Weather Is Hope of All for Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT'S not fashionable to burn and peel this summer, beauty experts advise; a light golden tan is all that's required if you are up to date on the sun tan question. But whether you seek the sun, or seek to avoid it, Old Sol is a necessary factor to the enjoyment of any mid-summer week-end.

Now more than at any other time of the year the week-end's activities are dependent on the weather: The races at Arlington, the concerts at Ravinia, country club dances, week-end house parties, picnics, and yachting all need clear skies.

Balmy breezes are in order for the supper party the junior James S. Kempers are giving tonight on his parents' yacht, which is anchored in Belmont harbor. The party is for Miss Joan Ford and Harger Rollo, who are to be married in January. The midnight beach party the Thomas Hart Fishers have planned at their Hubbard Woods home for Willem Van Hoogstraten following tonight's concert at Ravinia Park will be the better for bright stars and calm lake. Mr. Van Hoogstraten is conducting this week at Ravinia. Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. and the Conway H. Olmsteds gave dinners before the concert last night.

The guests Mr. and Mrs. James R. Getz are having for the week-end at the summer home in Holland, Mich., of his late father, George R. Getz, will want sunshine for swimming and tennis. Miss Jean Armstrong, W. France Anderson Jr. and his brother, Robert G. Anderson, are in the group that will be in Holland today and tomorrow.

Arlington to Run Lassie Stakes Today.

Track fast, skies clear, will be welcome signs to racing fans bound for Arlington Park this afternoon to witness the running of the Lassie Stakes. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. Armin W. Brand, whose son-in-law and daughter, Baron and Baroness Ruprecht von Boecklin, have come from New York to visit the Brands in Lake Geneva; Mrs. William M. Collins, Mrs. Oliver S. Pichier, and Otto and Robert Lehmann are giving luncheon parties at the Post and Paddock club today.

John Hay Whitney, who is in California now, will be at the Post and Paddock next Saturday for the running of the Classic. He will be a guest of the Austin Niblacks. Mrs. Champ Carry had as her guest at the races yesterday Mrs. Poultney Gorter of Baltimore while Mr. Carry and Mr. Gorter were playing golf at the Onwentsia's invitational tournament.

Because of the tournament, which will continue through today, a number of Lake Forest homes have out-of-town guests, and tonight's dinner-dance at the club promises to be one of the largest and gayest of the season.

Weather permitting, there will be swimming at the Onwentsia pool next Tuesday morning before the luncheon Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton is giving for Miss Dorothy MacArthur.

Mrs. Templeton has invited several post-debutantes to the party. After a visit early this month at their cabin at Wausaukee, Wis., Miss MacArthur and her parents, the Telfer MacArthurs, have returned to their Libertyville home for the rest of the summer.

Youthful Group Learns Polo at Onwentsia.

The green polo fields at the Onwentsia will be the setting tomorrow afternoon for a game between some young men, sons of club members, who are learning to play there, and a team from Barrington that belongs to the Suburban Polo league. Robert Cudahy, Lester Armour Jr., Otis and William Roy Carney Jr., David Wilhelm, John and Mansfield Hughes are some of the Lake Foresters who have been practicing together twice weekly.

William Roy Carney, chairman of the Onwentsia's polo committee, and its members, Col. Charles C. Haffner Jr., John T. Pirie Jr., John F. Jelke, and S. Prentice Porter, are seeking to interest some of the club's older members in playing polo once more. They are keeping the boys' practice as simple, informal, and inexpensive as possible.

None of the youthful players is allowed to have a pony costing more than $250. Bill Carney Jr. was co-captain of the freshman polo team at Princeton last winter.

A midsummer schedule of polo at the Oak Brook club will get under way tomorrow afternoon. Four teams playing there are the Oak Brook, captained by James A. Hannah; the Rising Sun, captained by Paul Butler and named for his Rising Sun ranch in the Dakotas; the Mandalays, and the 124th Field Artillery.

Central City, Colo., is where many Chicagoans who are holidaying near by will be found tonight, for the Play Festival is opening in the Opera house there. "Ruy Blas," by Victor Hugo, is the dramatic fare, with Helen Chandler and Bramwell Fletcher in the leading rôles.

W. McCormick Blair Elected to Yale Board.

W. McCormick Blair, who with Mrs. Blair is host to the visiting crown prince and princess of Sweden, has been elected a member at large of the alumni board of Yale university and to the board's executive committee.

Other Chicagoans elected to the board are Henry A. Gardner, '05, and Frederick A. Preston, '06, who represent the Yale club of Chicago. Mr. Blair is a member of the class of 1907.

It is "Reunion in Chicago" for Miss Brita Steuch, who is lady-in-waiting to the Crown Princess Louise, and William C. Parke, who was among the guests at Miss Steuch's table at Chicago's official banquet for the crown prince and princess at the Stevens hotel last night. Miss Steuch and Mr. Parke met in Germany several years ago when he was studying there, and they became good friends.

Miss Helen Gurley and Miss Margaret Conover are sailing today in the Conte di Savoia to visit Italy and England. They will return to Chicago in September.

Peter Dammann, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Dammann, sailed last week for England. He was graduated in June from the North Shore Country Day school and will enter Harvard in the fall.

Edward D. Benninghoven of Chicago and Hugh Fescher of Zurich, Switzerland, will motor to New York at the end of next week to sail on a cruise to the Caribbean. They will be away until Aug. 15.

New Hartford, Conn., is the new address of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Parsons. Mr. Parsons is to be associate professor of architecture at Yale. Seymour Parsons, who was graduated at Yale in June, will take up engineering.

Scottish Rite Outing Will Be Held Near Lyle Aug. 6

The annual Scottish Rite outing will be held Aug. 6 at the Woodridge Country club, a mile and a half south of Lyle. All Scottish Rite members and their friends are invited. Golf, games and a picnic dinner are on the program.

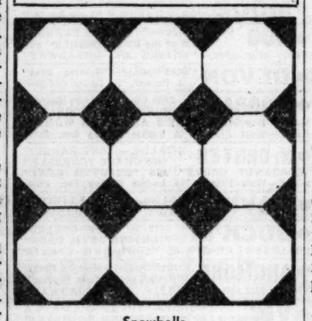
Snowballs Give Refreshing Motif to Quilt Design



Snowballs.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Women have been making coverlets in snowball designs ever since quilt makers began using geometrical patterns. There are at least six outstanding snowball patterns and all of them lovely. "Snowballs" is one of the pieced variety which may be set together quickly and easily. The favorite color combination for this block consists of blue and white, or sea green and white, either aptly expressing snow and cold. When the twelve inch squares are completed, forty-nine of them are set together to form an all-over design, and finished with a four inch border and a one-half inch bias binding.

Matron Shows World What Posture Gains

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We observed something the other day that we wish all girls and women might know.

There came in to visit us in the office a woman and mother of a son, 20, whom we had not seen for a few years. What a figure that woman has! You never saw anything better in silhouettes in your life. The son's pride in his mamma often being mistaken for his sister is in this case perfectly justified, because it is such a self-evident fact.

We hear other mammas reporting experiences of being mistaken for their grown sons and daughters' sisters, but the facts belie the case. Not so with our lovely visitor.

Inquiry revealed the woman's secret as the triumph of posture, no more, no less. If you have bulging diaphragm, listen to how it can be eradicated. Our visitor has the most youthful incurve from chest bone to waistline — a rarely accomplished possession in the mother of a grown son. Her muscles in that area are as hard as a young athlete's. For years this woman has worked at a desk and she says:

"What time do we workers have for exercise when we leave home before 8 to get to work and arrive home late at night? Where are we going to get the energy for it, too? Well, I made up my mind I would take mine sitting, standing and moving about.

"I had my own theory about the tall, erect posture doing more for me than any exercise would, and I could be doing it every minute. At first it was hard, pulling myself up tall, my chest up, my abdomen flat and my derriere tucked in. But I persevered. Now, I can't flop. I just can't sit, stand or walk any way but the erect way."

She cannot, either. We watched her when she wasn't looking and her posture is simply gorgeous, her muscles firm, her figure enviably trim. And not a sign of an underchin bulge nor any of the common neck age signs.

And that grand effect is something we all might have to our credit without a penny outlay. Just will power at first, and then a precious habit.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Earl Elwen Spencer of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of 2726 Sheridan road, Evanston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Louise, to Carl H. Beekmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Beekmann of Blair, Neb. Miss Spencer attended the Roycemore school and was graduated from Kemper hall, in Kenosha, Wis. Mr. Beekmann is a graduate of the University of Nebraska. The wedding will take place during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Eduard P. Amory of 5902 Magnolia avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Sally, to Frank A. Koziell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Koziell of Bristol, Conn.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Amazing, isn't it, the way your powder, rouge, and lipstick shades aren't as satisfactory as they were when you had your "winter pallor." As your skin takes on the glow that even a tiny bit of sun adds you need more vivid color accents and somewhat darker powder.

Here's a vivid lipstick for you—a new shade called carnival that is just exactly a bright, gay carnival red. Not too flaming, but warm, with just the right amount of brilliance. It seemed to us to be a shade acceptable for both blondes and brunets. And because it is a true red it's good with pure white and pastels.

It's one of those shades that make your teeth look a couple of tones whiter and your skin more radiant. It's got the zip your summer complexion clamors for, and it's a natural looking kind of zip. No queer shading in this one.

We've always liked the texture of the lipsticks made by the house that manufactures this. But in this new one they have made some changes that make it even better. This gives a very high luster—also nice with the faintly sun kissed complexion—and contains special lubricating ingredients that help keep the lips soft and smooth.

We thought the lipstick very satisfactory as far as clinging qualities were concerned. It won't stay intact for twenty-four hours and doesn't claim to. But you'll find when you use it that your mouth remains well made up for several hours.

Oldberg Piece Is Old Wine in New Bottle

BY CECIL SMITH.

The second of three new compositions commissioned for performance at the Ravinia festival this summer, a fantasia in B minor by Arne Oldberg of the Northwestern university music faculty, came to its first hearing at Ravinia park last night. The Chicago Symphony orchestra was directed by Willem van Hoogstraten, making the second of four appearances as guest conductor.

In addition to the Oldberg work the program contained Berlioz's overture to "Benvenuto Cellini," the First symphony by Sibelius, William Walton's suite from "Façade," and Ravel's "Alborada del Gracioso."

Dr. Oldberg's latest composition, his first since "The Sea," played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra in the spring of 1937, is a freely rhapsodic development of two themes, one lyrically emotional and the other in marked rhythm. The scoring for orchestra is luxuriant and resounding, with many skilfully achieved effects of color.

Essentially, however, the music is an instance of old wine in a new bottle. The musical outlook of Tschaikowsky and Liszt is nearer to Dr. Oldberg than that of Hindemith and Stravinsky. Nothing about the musical material of the "Fantasie" would have disturbed the audience that first heard Richard Strauss' "Don Juan" in 1888.

William Walton's "Façade" suite, in contrast, sounded jauntily contemporary. A parody of conventional dance tunes—a polka, a waltz, a tango, and so on—the suite is as devastating in its humor as it is complete in its exploitation of the humorous possibilities of the orchestra.

As to the Sibelius there can be little doubt that he is one of the most forceful of all living composers. In recent years in America, however, he has suffered a fate worse than death. He has become the hero of a cult. Within the last decade an enthusiasm ignited by a small and easily identifiable musical circle in the east has been fanned into a perfect holocaust, and Sibelius is now widely held to be a blazing genius who can do no wrong.

With the importance of much of Sibelius' music—quite a bit of which is still unknown in Chicago—it is fatuous to take issue. But the First symphony, played repeatedly hereabouts, shows more plainly at each hearing that it does not belong in this classification.

Admitting the poignancy of the mood of tender resignation in the second movement and the Tschaikowskyan sweep of the close of the finale, the symphony as a whole is hardly more than a groping exploration of an idiom and style which the composer developed much more cogently in the Second and Fifth symphonies. It is time to put the First Sibelius symphony back on the library shelf.

Tonight Mr. Van Hoogstraten will be assisted by two gifted members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Ernest Liegl, flutist, and Joseph Vito, harpist, in Mozart's seldom heard Concerto for Flute and Harp. The "Fidelio" overture and "Pastoral" symphony of Beethoven and Kodaly's suite from "Hary Janos" complete the announced list.

Dotted Swiss Ideal Fabric for Warm Day

BY RHEA SEEGER.

When the mercury starts for altitude try wearing dotted swiss . . . copper, dark brown, raspberry, cypress green, navy and black with millions of pin point dots in white. Nothing equals this crisp material for summer coolth and fresh looking charm. It tubs and remains just as crisp after the last tubbing as it was when you first bought it.

Dotted swiss one piece dresses for daytime wear are excelled only by the snappy two piece effects that are really a dress. Very short sleeves, demure semi-high necklines, and a clean uncluttered streamline keep them Puritan plain but the smoothest hot weather performers around the town.

For the career girl, they're the answer to the plea for the right sort of an office frock that doesn't take a million to own or keep in perfect condition. Sheer bands of white, novelty braid in white, old fashioned fagoting in white, bands of net, chalk white narrow linen tape, soutache braid in white, and rickrack braid are cool trimming tricks used on all the background colors previously mentioned.

White belts, white hats and footgear plus immaculately white fabric gloves complete the frosty ideas that make such outfits smart and livable on midsummer days.

Tie a dotted swiss bow and band around your biggest cartwheel for a new idea in millinery trimming. Buy an extra yard of the swiss and make your own turban to contrast or match your dress. The dotted swiss dance dresses boast a shoulder cape or head scarf of matching dotted swiss. And your pet house gown can be of snow white dotted swiss tied at the belt, at the elbow length sleeves and at the neckline with either baby blue ribbon or bows of pink, bonbon yellow or mint green. Dramatic black bows grace the crisp white numbers made with many frills and flounces.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Forum.

Hollywood, Cal., July 15.—A notice from W. U. that the telegram addressed to Howard Hughes at Winnipeg airport had not been delivered. . . . A card from Flora Finch: "The other day you wrote, 'I'll take today over yesterday any day in the week.' Them's MY sentiments, too, Mr. Sullivan. Why bother to look backward, bewailing what HAS BEEN. What a waste of time. I always look forward."

Pete McCarthy, sage of Dubuque, Ia., mollified by mention of Dubuque's Margaret Lindsay, says that I can now walk the main street of that town safe from bodily harm. . . . A letter from Red Cagle, former West Point grid star, now a prosperous insurance man. . . . "Tobacco Road's" Jim Barton sends a season pass to his Jericho turnpike ball park.

B. J. Hanson from Aurora, Ill., says he liked the column on movie heroes. . . . Annita M. Chambers, Washington, D. C., agrees with George Shapiro that today "it's who you know, not what you know." . . . A group of stenos in the Fisher building, Detroit, write in to protest Norma Shearer's selection as Scarlett O'Hara. . . . They'd prefer Bette Davis, Miriam Hopkins, or Barbara Stanwyck.

Charlie Miller, of the Birmingham Herald, sends me a copy of that paper's page 1 open letter to Clark Gable and Norma Shearer. . . . Excerpts: "Dear Norma and Clark: So you two are IT. [And we didn't say you-all.'] You have a tough assignment for every one has his or her own ideas about how Scarlett and Rhett should be played and you can't please more than half of 'em. But if you want to make it a lot easier on southern ears, as well as on yourselves, and keep your public south of the Mason-Dixon line happy, then lend and give even an eye and ear to this plea. . . . If you want to conquer the south, then lay off the phoney southern drawl. It's one of those things like blue eyes—you're either born with them or you never have them. Have spunk to say 'nix' to your director when he tries to coax the 'honey-chile' stuff from your mouths. In other words, SAY YOUR LINES STRAIGHT." . . . The paper also is collecting thousands of signatures and a Birmingham Miss will deliver them personally to M.-G.-M.

A very nice wire from Norma Shearer on the recent column about her . . . which suggests something. . . . Not long ago, an actress asked me to intercede at a major studio for a picture job for her. . . . She sent letters, and called every day to remind me of the request. . . . So I worked on it and she got the job. . . . I haven't heard from her since. . . . The difference between the big stars of this business and the run-of-the-mill performer is that the big star is quick to express appreciation all along the line, and builds up a great queue of friends.

Appreciation costs very little, a line of thanks, a hurried scrawl of acknowledgment and it makes an impression because so few of us remember to perform an ordinary civility. . . . P. S. That reminds me: I'd better write Winnie Sheehan a letter of thanks for those tickets to Jeritza's grand performance at Hollywood bowl.

Nelson Eddy fans pooh-pooh Allan Jones. . . . Most belligerent of the letter writers are the Massachusetts Eddy admirers, most of whom seem to be older women. . . . Eileen Dunn, Tudor City, says her club is heartbroken over the news that Tyrone Power is wed secretly to Janet Gaynor. . . . He isn't, Eileen. . . . From Warsaw, Ind., Opal Worley nominates Katie Hepburn and George Brent for Scarlett and Rhett.

A crippled girl from Roxbury, Mass., wants to know why theaters don't give lame people a chance as box office cashiers, where their lameness would not belittle their competence. . . . I think it's a grand idea. . . . What about it, theater managers?

From Atlantic City, N. J., J. J. Machinery applauds Hanley Stafford, the daddy to "Baby Snooks." . . . Stafford is the greatest straight man on the air, no doubt about it, and one of the all-time bests, too. . . . Christine Duggan of Hartsdale, N. Y., objects strenuously to Korda's "Storm in a Teacup," which, she alleges, insults the Irish. . . . If he did, he's daffy, because the Celts will mow-w him down. . . . A letter from Florence York, at St. Anthony's hospital, Chicago, who liked the "Life Begins at 40" column.

W. C. Fields apologizes for leaving out Will Rogers and Eddie Cantor in his recent listing of comedians with this addenda: "In reality I always considered Cantor and Rogers more showmen than comedians, and I envy them for that reason. A showman seems to embody EVERYTHING in the entertainment racket; a comedian just goes out on the stage and makes them laugh. Financially speaking, if I'm not too crassly commercial in introducing this thought, the showman's honorarium, or salary, or 'bite' or stipend is always more prodigious, if you ken what I mean."

Philharmonic Gives Concert at Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

As strange a melange of music as a month's search of program files could produce was offered at Grant park last night by the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, Richard Czerwonky conducting, and by Mark Love, bass soloist of the evening. The "Catalog" air from Mozart's "Don Giovanni" stood between Mr. Czerwonky's own symphony and Goldmark's "Sakuntula" overture. A little later Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers" led to the Saint-Saëns "Danse Macabre" and Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" overture-fantasie.

But fitting the numbers into a complicated schedule of radio broadcasts has made it necessary to discard most of the conventions of program building. The order of pieces at Grant park has become as completely informal as everything else about these open air lake front concerts.

Most of the individual numbers went well, with the conductor injecting plenty of tonal interest into the proceedings. Reuben Davis's violin danced through the Saint-Saëns with a quite devilish verve. Mark Love gave the "Catalog" song what delicacy he could, although the too insistent orchestra all but overwhelmed him once or twice.

The brass came through with a fine, epic sounding pronouncement toward the end of the "Sakuntula." The delicate opening sections of the Tschaikowsky overture-fantasie were so well articulated that the experiment of trying to hear them from the extreme left rear of the audience area turned out to be completely successful.

The wisdom of acceding to the request to repeat the Czerwonky symphony in Grant park [it was played there last year] is open to serious question. The work takes half an hour or so, it is of a lyrical rather than a brilliant type, and it is completely unfamiliar to most of the listeners. These objections, none of which could be important in isolation, become quite formidable in combination.

Tonight is a gala night in Grant park when Marion Claire, soprano of opera, operetta, radio, and movies, appears as soloist with the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of her husband, Henry Weber.

Next Monday at 7:30 Frankie Masters and his orchestra will inaugurate a series of weekly half hour programs of light music. Various swing bands are to come to Grant park at this hour in the course of the summer.

Children Hold Benefits for Free Ice Fund

Children are among the most loyal supporters of the free ice fund. Their circuses, theaters, and lemonade stands have kept hundreds of babies healthy during the years, and have eased the suffering that heat always brings to aged diabetics or cardiac patients. Their unselfish contributions, regardless or their size, are always welcomed.

Two such gifts have been received within the last two days. A presentation of "Sleeping Beauty" at 116 North Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, netted $5.40, enough to supply ice to five families during five sweltering weeks. A concert and recital at the Sheridan Beach hotel, with girl artists and boy ushers, raised $6, which was transmitted to the fund with the promise of more concerts later.

Windsors Have Luncheon with Princess of Italy

FLORENCE, Italy, July 15.—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Windsor had luncheon today with Princess Maria, youngest daughter of the king and queen of Italy. The former king of England and his American born wife, on a yacht cruise, came here sightseeing. Learning the princess was in Florence, they made arrangements to lunch together at a restaurant.

Critic Enjoys Another Look at 'The Sheik'

"THE SHEIK."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by George Melford.
Presented at the Garrick theater.

THE CAST.

Abou Ben Hassan ..... Rudolph Valentino
Diana Mayo ..... Agnes Ayres
Raoul de Saint Hubert ..... Adolph Menjou
Omair ..... Walter Long
Gaston ..... Lucien Littlefield
Youseff ..... George Waggener
Slave Girl ..... Ruth Miller
Sir Aubrey Mayo ..... F. R. Butler

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This reissue of the enormously successful "silent" starring of the late Rudolph Valentino in an adaptation of Edith Maude Hull's sensational novel, which was first released in 1928, seems rather more "dated" than "Son of the Sheik," whose 1938 comeback was accorded such a warm welcome.

There are more heavy dramatics in this opus; more eye histronics. In the subtitles "Sheik" is spelled either that way or "shiek" with elegant nonchalance, and the action has tinny piano accompaniment which carries you back to old nickleodeon days.

And the love affair between the handsome desert lord and the English girl, which seemed so hectic to us 'way back when, is just a simple, tepid romance as compared to the sort of thing we're accustomed to in this year of Our Lord.

But, as ever, your heart goes out to the boyish Valentino as he ardently courts the messy-haired and too saccharine Miss Ayres, dominating her for the most part with a Svengali stare that reduces the poor lady to jittery compliance and finally inspires in her soul a devotion like unto that which possesses her captor.

Quietly capable work is turned out by Adolph Menjou as the sheik's doctor friend, acquired when the two were going to school in Paris. For Abou, you will recollect, was really not an Arab, but the adopted son of an old sheik who had taken him in following the death of his French mother and Spanish father. [I think that's what they were.]

I think you'll enjoy seeing it again. I did.

Trustees of U. of I. Approve Site for New Union Building

Trustees of the University of Illinois, meeting in Chicago yesterday, voted to name a new student center building the Illinois Union building.

It will be centrally located on the Urbana campus quadrangle. The site is just south of Green street. The building will cost $1,250,000. Federal aid will cover a large share of the cost. Loans and alumni gifts will make up the balance. The trustees named Howard L. Cheney of Chicago as consulting architect.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

LOVE BARRIERS.

Mena stood there a moment beside Alex in the dark and the distasteful experience was stamped forever in his mind with the black oily water, the yellow blobs of the pier lamps, the dark bulk of the low hills, and from out of the night somewhere a harsh animal cry.

He heard her say in a low, vindictive voice, "I hate you, Alex Reed—I hate you. I hate you. I've never hated any one in my life as much as I hate you ——"

He turned his back on her without speaking. He heard her uneven retreating footsteps. The air seemed light and fresh about him again. She was gone.

When Isobel returned Arnold Vernon was lying in his deck chair watching for her. She gave him a casual "hello, there" as she passed. A few minutes later he got up and went down below.

Isobel cleared her one easy chair for him. "Why, you're looking better, Arnold. Gee, I'm so glad to see you."

"Are you, my dear?"

"Of course I am, you old darling. It's been a long day."

"Wish I could have taken you ashore. Were you bored then?"

Isobel's eyes twinkled. "O, no—I wasn't. In my own rather devilish way I had lots of fun."

"Tell me about it."

"No. It's unimportant. You tell about yours. What did your wife do?"

"She stayed on board till this evening. Then she condescended to go ashore with Mr. Flagg for dinner and a round of the night clubs."

"You don't say," said Isobel, surprised. "I wouldn't have thought he would be interested."

"He wasn't," said Arnold chuckling. "But every man has his price. Added to a little persuasion."

"O—I see. So she won't be searching for you. That's good. Like a little drink?"

"No. Sit there and talk to me. Where were we the other night when I so inopportunely passed-out?"

Isobel collected cigarets, ash tray, and matches and settled herself among her parcels on the sofa. "Let me see. O, I know. You were saying that a little flat in London wasn't half good enough for me. Trying to kid me. I'm a women of importance and ought to stay that way."

"So you are, Isobel. It looks good from a distance, but I would never condemn a woman I cared for to such an anomalous existence. You should live out in the open with a husband of your own, or the prospect of acquiring one. Mix with other organized people and raise a family. The other thing is a sterile business doomed to sorrow."

"But suppose I don't want somebody else in a regular way, and raise a family? Me for a mother! Why say, I wouldn't know what to do with them."

"Most women don't, but they grow up just the same. And a link with the future is life renewed." She looked at him.

"You like kids, don't you, Arnold?"

"Naturally. Without sons a man begins to wonder what to do with his money."

Isobel resisted the impulse to say it was clear he spent most of it hanging decorations on his wife. She repeated, "Well, now, suppose I don't want any one but you, what then?"

"You will in time, Isobel. I don't flatter myself I can keep your affection with so little mutual future to hold us together. Marriage for you and me is out of the question."

Isobel looked up and saw herself in the wardrobe mirror. With all her efforts to tone herself down she saw herself as she was and saw truly The type that men called "a good looking dame."

"You mean I wouldn't do for mixing with your friends."

"My dear child, no such thing. I'd marry you tomorrow if I were free and you would have me. Do you think I'd care for any one's opinion? Me at my time of life—and knowing the hypocrisy of people as I do? Why, I'd be proud of you—your naturalness and your honesty."

Isobel gulped, sudden tears scalding her eyes. "O, Arnold, I can't have you think that. I'm not honest. I've got to tell you. I took this ship because I knew you were on it. I meant to chase you and get you to help me. You were my last hope. And then I found how nice you were and I fell in love with you ——"

His voice was very gentle.

"Come here, Isobel."

She went to him and knelt on the floor beside his chair, putting her head down on his shoulder. His arm went around her and she felt his lips touching her hair.

"My dear, I told you I was proud of your honesty. What else is this? I believe every word you say to me. Your love has given me the greatest happiness I've had since I lost my real wife."

"O, Arnold ——"

"We can't marry because Claire would never divorce me. Nor could I divorce her. She would fight with all the greatest legal talent my money could buy. Why should she let me go? I won't be here to bother her long. She knows it. Then she sees herself as a wealthy widow, able to live exactly the way she has always wanted to ——"

"Don't be silly," sobbed Isobel. "Dr. Reed said that was a slight attack. You could live forever almost if you took care. You're not going to die ——"

"Maybe not so soon. But what's a few years? When you're my age you'll see how quickly they pass."

Isobel got up and shook herself. "All the more reason to enjoy them. I'm coming to London and I'm going to stay where you can see me when you want to. I don't want your support. If I have a job I can enjoy taking care of myself. Now let's be sensible and figure out some way ——"

She was removing the tear stains as she spoke. Arnold Vernon watched her. He said "Isobel, I have an idea."

She turned to him. His eyes were bright and his face looked very young. "What, dear?"

"I'm going to try and make a compromise with Claire. She might prefer some money and her freedom now to a little more and waiting for it. Now you'll believe that I love you ——"

She was beside him in a minute, her arms around him. "No, Arnold—no! She will tear the ship apart. She will give you another attack. It might kill you. If not, she'll drive you crazy. O, no, don't bring that on yourself ——"

He pressed her cheek to his. "Not honest, are you? Well, well. Now Isobel, leave this to my judgment. I'm used to her tantrums. I let them pour over me like water over a rock. This won't be any worse than usual. Better, in fact, because there'll really be something at stake ——"

There were sounds in the passage. Flagg's voice and Claire's brittle tones saying "Thank you—it was very nice." The door of the suite opened and closed and the lights were snapped on.

The door opened again and swift, purposeful footsteps went past. Arnold got up, the youth in his face suddenly quenched again. "She's gone to look for me. I'll slip back now while she's gone——"

He took Isobel in his arms and kissed her. "Bless you, my dear—good night."

"Baking the Perfect Cake," Mary Meade's newly revised booklet, gives complete directions for making cakes by hand and electrically, tells reasons why cakes sometimes fall, and contains many step-by-step recipes for cakes, frosting and fillings. It sells for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; or will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade.

TIPS TO PASTRY MAKERS: Use butter and margarine for cakes and cookies, but not for pastry. For pastry use lard or one of the vegetable shortenings, since they'll give a more tender pie crust than the two former shortenings. . . . Be sure to use cold water, and not too much of it, if you want tender pastry. And don't manipulate the dough any more than is necessary.

DEFINITIONS: A marinade is an oil and acid mixture, often a salad dressing, in which meat or salads are allowed to stand for some time to absorb flavor. [I remember my first cooking class experience with marinating a salad, long ago. "To marinate," I thought, must mean to chop. I chopped the salad to pieces, which didn't bring me favor with the teacher!]

HYDROGENATION, in reference to shortenings, means producing a snowy, plastic fat from soft and liquid fats by the addition of hydrogen. The vegetable shortenings we like so well for cooking almost all are hydrogenated.

HOMOGENIZED MILK has been processed so that the fat particles are evenly distributed and broken into very minute globules. Homogenized milk is uniform in quality, not richer at the top of the bottle, as is ordinary milk.

CROUSTADES are bread cases for creamed meats, fish, or vegetables. Usually they are fried or brushed with butter and then toasted.

MACEDOINE refers, usually, to a mixture of vegetables or fruit.

ODDS AND ENDS: Curry powder is a mixture of spices. It contains blended seasonings such as these: Peppercorns, turmeric, caraway seeds, hot chili peppers, coriander seeds, green ginger, onion, and garlic. Curry powder was used in India before 1500 B. C. . . . Stick candy, molasses taffy, lozenges, and gum drops were the only kinds of candy sold in this country in the early 1800's. These were made by hand in a small group of confectioneries. Today more than 1,500 factories turn out more than a billion pounds a year, consisting of hundreds of kinds of candy.

RESTAURANT DINNER OF THE WEEK: Sauerbraten and potato dumplings as part of a generous four course meal in a German "casino" on the north side. Wiener schnitzel was on the menu, too. There were red checked tablecloths, pretty waitresses in costume, and music all the while, including many German folk songs. It was so much fun we stayed a full three hours.

Sally to Announce Names of Winners in Tribune Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

When THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE arrives, all youngsters who wrote in for invitations to our movie party will know whether they were successful. The names of the 50 boys and 50 girls who've been selected as my guests for next Thursday will be printed. If you find your name the mailman will bring an invitation to our "Lord Jeff" party. Those of you who win can be proud, because we had a large number of good letters.

If you didn't win you needn't turn on the tears because in the same column you'll find news of our next party. Be sure to read the simple rules carefully before you start work on your letters.

Thompson Employes.

The Housewife

The tableware pottery in gay, fiesta colors has become so popular that it's a byword with manufacturers and stores. It has had a phenomenal success since it was introduced a couple of seasons ago.

Now it is being brought out in a lovely new shade, a pure turquoise blue. The round chop plates make grand dishes for displays of appetizers and for cheese and crackers. There are several sizes.

And the round vegetable dishes can also be used for salads. And they cost so little. There are the usual cups and saucers, tea sets, and coffee sets in this delightful turquoise pottery. Every piece is as easy on the pocket book as it is on the eye.

Edith Weigle.

Ideal for That Heat Wave

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This dress is a perfect answer to what to wear when the temperature soars. Not even a thermometer reading can keep an active and busy woman indoors during the summertime. There are club meetings, afternoon teas, and luncheon parties to attend, and for these occasions one must be beautifully dressed yet cool. Sheer fabrics, especially the tubbable kind, are the answer, and the style of our pattern today is a marvelous medium for these materials. The dress has a softly draped V neckline. The sleeves are puffed at the shoulderline and scalloped at the hem. The same scallop motif is found on the buttoned front closing. Around the slender waist is a simple tailored belt and the paneled skirt molds the hipline while providing flare at the hem.

You need not use a sheer for this frock, of course. That is merely a suggestion on our part to help you keep cool.

Style No. 2757 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Two Year Old Irritates Her, Mother Writes

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

From a long, disturbed letter let me quote a few sentences:

"Before my child was born [he is now 2] I had always adored children, but today I feel quite differently about them. He understands well enough what I want him to do, but unless he is spanked and punished he will not obey. When I scold him and tell him I am angry he relents for a few minutes, coming over to me with one of his fascinating smiles and asks me to pick him up.

"Sometimes I do, just to quiet him and my own nerves. He is wild, destructive and I could almost say mean and spiteful."

I felt as though I wanted to write a long, long letter to this mother, trying to make her see all the delight she is missing in her nervous and mistaken management of her dear little son, but time forbids me such an indulgence. Therefore, I tried to compress what I could into a somewhat brief reply. It was as follows:

My Dear Mrs. C: . . . First, I would emphatically suggest that you change your management of your small son—that is, dispense with the scolding and punishment. He can be so guided and managed that you won't need to resort to these measures at all to gain his obedience.

For his destructiveness try giving him plenty of opportunities for vigorous play and toys suited to his age, so that he has a constructive outlet for his energies. Give him blocks and such things to occupy his hands. In letting him play with many things around the house you will have to distinguish between the objects that he may just touch and those he may handle and play with.

Let me tell you that it is perfectly natural for your son to want you to play with him. He needs talk and the loving companionship of his parents and an interest in his accomplishments. Instead of being annoyed by this, why don't you just make a companion of him and let him share the things you do around the house, and show interest in his play? Of course, it's a little difficult for mothers and naturally, you do get tired, but it's well worth the trouble. Even though your schedule of work and shopping may be behind it shouldn't upset you.

"How to Gain Obedience without Punishment" is a booklet of interest to parents. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Girl Selfish to Encourage "Just Friend"

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"The boy is almost 19, while I am 17. I met him a year ago and for a Christmas gift he gave me a ring. My mother and father were away and I did not tell them about the ring. They are the kind of parents who would jump at conclusions immediately and think it was intended for an engagement ring.

"It was only meant for a friendship ring, although it is a diamond. I have been wearing the ring out of my parents' sight, of course. If I didn't wear it the boy would feel hurt. Last week he told me he loved me, which is strange, since I am not pretty. I am not ugly, either. Just average.

"My problem is this: I do not love the boy. I admire him as I would admire an older brother. Should I give him the ring and break off with him? I am frightened about it all. He insists upon kissing me every time he comes to see me and when he leaves; also whenever we go out together. Do you think this is a good practice or should it be stopped?

"HOPEFUL."

You have gotten yourself tied up in knots, Hopeful. But not so badly that they can't be untied. You have learned now that when a boy gives a girl a diamond, and she accepts it, she is encouraging him to brighter hopes.

You really shouldn't have accepted the ring. And it isn't good billiards to be carrying on secret little intrigues such as putting something over on your parents.

Parents aren't such terrible people. Give them a chance and you will find them the nicest people in the world, understanding and kind and sympathetic and wise.

But when you go trying to slip something over and then try to alibi your way out by accusing them of being ogres, naturally you are not inviting them to reveal their best face to you.

You aren't a good sport, Hopeful, to take that attitude about those parents of yours. Wouldn't you dislike it if they shut you out of an important confidence? You would, and you know it.

Now, the right thing to do is to tell the boy that you want to start all over again and play fair with both him and your parents. Ask him to take the ring back, but tell him you do appreciate his friendship and that you hope it will continue. You'd probably better stop the kissing, too, as that gives the boy added encouragement.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

It goes without saying that the primary object of rubber bridge is to fulfill one's contract. Obviously it is stupid to play for overtricks when to do so jeopardizes the contract. By the same token it is almost equally stupid to fail to play for such overtricks when there is not the slightest danger in doing so. At the end of a year's play a few thousand overtricks add up to a very respectable total!

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

South took a slight liberty with the standard distributional requirements in opening with one no trump rather than one spade, but his choice was well founded. His doubleton was strong and his tenace positions made it advisable that, if the hand should by any chance play at no trump, South and not North should be the declarer. North, with two honor tricks composed of four honor cards distributed in three suits, acted correctly in jumping all the way to game. A single raise would have been putting entirely too much burden on the opening bidder.

West, inwardly disgusted at the sight of his three miserable jacks, decided nevertheless to be orthodox and opened the fourth best of his longest suit, the heart five. Dummy ducked and East's king won. A heart was returned and won by the queen. Declarer could count his nine tricks, four spades, two hearts, and three clubs, but certainly there was no hurry about cashing them. He still had a heart stopper and every other suit was under control. Even if the A, K, and J of diamonds lay over the queen East could take only three diamond tricks before the declarer's own ten acted as a stopper, and these, with the heart trick already lost, would not affect the contract. On this sound reasoning declarer led a low diamond and finessed against the jack by playing dummy's nine. East correctly tried to mask his diamond holding by winning with the ace instead of the king, then led his last heart. Now, since the heart suit had been shown to be divided 4-3, there was no danger of losing more than one additional heart trick and further diamond establishment could be pursued in safety. Declarer returned to his own hand with the club ace, cashed the queen, and let the ten of diamonds ride through West. East's king was driven out and now no return that East could make could win another trick. His actual spade lead was won with dummy's queen, the diamond queen was cashed, and the hand was spread, declarer claiming the balance.

As I pointed out at the beginning, the extra 30 points made no tremendous difference. But a declarer who consistently uses the correct technique and goes out for overtricks when it is safe to do so may win at least a thousand times thirty points in the course of a year. Moreover, if match-point duplicate is being played instead of rubber bridge these overtricks are vitally important.

Sir Philip Gibbs Gives Views on Today's Europe

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Across the Frontiers," by Philip Gibbs. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.] Published yesterday.

For the reader who feels that Europe is in a mess without knowing exactly how or why, "Across the Frontiers" is an elementary statement of present difficulties and the immediate causes of those difficulties.

Sir Philip Gibbs begins his narrative with the close of the world war, with the world chaotically aligned politically, economically, and emotionally—France determined that Germany be forever prevented from attacking again; her allies not courageous enough to insist on a just peace; Russia already successfully communistic and Europe reacting emotionally against that success with imminent fascism; the league of nations a fine and noble dream but, already without the participation of the United States, doomed.

Sir Philip Gibbs has talked to high and low in every country he writes about. He records what he has been told and he also draws and states his own conclusions.

Some of the conclusions may surprise his readers. He does not hesitate to say that the foreign policy of his country since the war has too often been tragically in error. He says the life of the common man in Germany under Hitler has many advantages over the life of the common man in England under George VI. He states the case against as well as for the Jews in Germany and in Palestine. He declares that the real menace to the European world is neither fascism nor communism, but Japan. He believes Hitler is the peace pivot of Europe.

Italy is more than willing to stir up Egypt against England, he declares, and the reader may draw his own conclusions from the reiteration of Mussolini's glorifications of the old Roman empire. The United States in her policy of isolation may find herself isolated from friends in her own need, he infers, when Japan really gets down to business.

But, despite the frenzy of rearmaments in all countries and the apparent imminence of war, Sir Philip believes that common sense [a quality which he says Hitler's intimates are convinced he lives by] will avert another war.

"Across the Frontiers" was written before the German occupation of Austria. An epilogue comments on that historic event.

Strange Psychological Oddities in This One.

"Julie," by Francis Stuart. [Knopf, $2.50.] Published a week ago Tuesday.

Francis Stuart, author of that brilliant and exotic tale of the war, "Pigeon Irish," has turned to strange psychological oddities for the material of his latest novel and done them up with a conventional label.

Julie is a child, sick and crippled, as the book opens, on a boat bound from South Africa to London. Her sister Lucy has persuaded their father to let her take Julie to a great specialist in London, and on his small savings they are traveling steerage. On the boat they meet a vulgar, self-confident young Jew, on his way to make his fortune. How he makes it, pays for that making, involves Julie in the making and spending of the fortune, but not in paying for it, is a conventional fiction pattern made up of exotic designs.

"Julie" is not, in my estimation, to be compared to "Pigeon Irish" for originality and brilliance, and yet it has a solidity of technique which that erratic flame of fiction lacked.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Mystery Is a Puzzler.

"The Wall," by Mary Roberts Rinehart. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.] Published Tuesday.

There's nothing like a complicated mystery plot to take one's mind off the state of the world. "The Wall" is practically tops for complication. Whether the reader feels that the red herrings drawn across the path of the real solution are fair or not will depend upon whether he believes that gentlemen go around burying corpses and dragging them out to sea when they didn't do the murdering; whether he is willing to listen to mysterious bells throughout the tale without ever being told what made them ring; just how far-reaching he likes the long arm of coincidence.

Nobody—but definitly—would guess the identity of the murderer except by the process of selecting the least likely killer from a group of highly estimable persons. The action takes place on a very swank island on the Atlantic coast where multiple murder ruffles the community but does not disturb the ordered round of dinner parties. "The Wall" is a murder mystery appealing to the mathematical deduction cells of the brains rather than to the emotions.

Another Realistic Piece from John T. McIntyre.

"Signing Off," by John T. McIntyre. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published Thursday.

John T. McIntyre, author of "Steps Going Down" which won the American prize in the first All Nations contest, has turned a neat technical trick in "Signing Off." The novel begins late in the afternoon of the day that the Dolans are giving a party celebrating the engagement of their daughter, Jane, who is the saint of the neighborhood, and Sam, who is its most successful sinner. It ends before midnight.

In those few hours the lives of the whole group are changed, and in the 302 swift pages of "Signing Off," the reader lives through the racketeering, the religious emotions, the hatreds, the loves, the sins, the sorrows of all the years of the lives [most of them brief] of Mr. McIntyre's characters.

As in "Steps Going Down," the most memorable characteristic of this novel is the language in which it is written. It is pure American, Philadelphia super-slum talk, in most cases hard and unbeautiful but colorful and convincing.

How Orchestra Developed Over Sixty Centuries

BY RUSSELL MacFALL.

"The Story of Musical Instruments," by H. W. Schwartz. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50.]

Man has been making instrumental music for sixty centuries. The result is the symphony orchestra with its bewildering array of strings, woodwinds, brasses, and percussion, descendants of primitive pipes and drums. With H. W. Schwartz as his guide the reader penetrates the diversity of the modern orchestra, learns the long history of each instrument in it, and comes to appreciate what its distinctive tone means to the concord of sounds that swells under the conductor's baton.

The flute appears one of the least remarkable instruments, yet the tones it gave through holes placed for convenient stopping by fingers have determined the scale in which our music is written. And the much married Henry VIII. was so fond of this instrument that he left more than 150 flutes when he died.

Swing musicians will learn with some surprise that the saxophone did not become a jaz instrument until jaz was three decades old, and that the slide trombone was so highly regarded by the great composers that they refused to use it except for grand and solemn music. Centuries of rivalry between the trumpet and cornet, the mysteries of the French horn, the prolific family of tubas descended from an ancestor known as the Serpent, and the genealogy of the piano are among the subjects of other chapters in the books, which closes with a study of the nature of musical sound which is as fascinating as it is difficult.

The Revealing Letters of a Famous Pianist.

"Busoni's Letters to His Wife," translated by Rosamond Ley. [Longmans-Green, $6.40.]

Ferruccio Busoni's letters reveal the great pianist as an acute observer of the many famous men and women with whom his world tours brought him in contact, as a cultured traveler sensitive to the arts and especially to the moods of cities, as well read and alive to the progress of invention, and above all possessed of a letter writer's greatest virtue, an amusing and original pen.

Chicago was one of his ports of performance several times before his death in 1924, and the letters affectionately refer to Dr. Frederick Stock and other musicians he met here. Of the city itself, he wrote: "Taking it all in all, again Chicago seems to me the best town in America. Boston is too much like Leipzig, and New York is disintegrated with pleasure."

An Opera Composer's Letters Also Collected.

"Puccini Among Friends," by Vincent Seligman. [Macmillan, $4.]

From the 700 letters which Giacomo Puccini wrote to Mrs. Sybil Seligman from 1904 to 1924, her son has selected and arranged a number which picture the opera composer at work. Since the letters did not begin until after Puccini had written his most famous works, "Manon," "La Boheme," "Tosca," and "Madame Butterfly," Mr. Seligman narrates the earlier years in biographical chapters, and interpolates throughout the book to make the references in the letters clear.

Puccini, like Busoni an Italian, was far less versatile. The letters reveal him as not highly intellectual, as centered in himself and his music, but also as sweet, generous, and fun loving. They are the record of a long and rare friendship between a wealthy American music lover and the most successful composer of his time, who spoke in melody more eloquently than in words.

QUIZ 2 OFFICIALS OF FOOD SHOPS IN SALES TAX CASE

State Claims Evidence of $26,000 Shortage.

Two officials of Right Brothers & Stein, Inc., food and produce dealers, were questioned last night concerning an alleged evasion of $26,000 in state sales taxes. The officials are Nathan Stein, president of the company, and his brother-in-law, Abraham Right, secretary and treasurer, both of 7372 North Winchester avenue.

They were taken into custody by state's attorney's investigators. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan said there was evidence to show a shortage in sales tax payments from the company's four stores between 1933 and 1938.

Will Grill Employés Today.

The stores are at 4762 Milwaukee avenue, 7624 North Paulina street, 4637 Broadway, and 733 Main street, Evanston. Other officials and employés of the company will be questioned today.

Mrs. Louise Steininger, owner of the Sheridan inn, a tavern at 4344 Broadway, was placed on probation for one year yesterday for evading payment of $3,000 in state sales taxes. Her attorney, Ald. Frank Konkowski, told Judge Eugene Holland that she was willing to repay that amount in a series of payments.

Last January Judge Holland sentenced Mrs. Steininger to serve thirty days in the county jail on the charge. The punishment was delayed because of her illness. Morton Handelman, representing the state department of finance, agreed to the probation yesterday.

Jail Ex-Agent for Contempt.

In federal court Judge John P. Barnes ordered Edmond F. La Voie, former sales tax investigator, to the county jail for contempt of court. He will remain there until he pays or proves he has no funds to pay $4,124 to Maurice Klein, receiver for the defunct McFadden Motor Sales company.

La Voie and William McFadden, former president of the automobile company, testified the $4,124 was repayment of a $2,000 loan La Voie made to McFadden. Judge Barnes characterized this as a "cock and bull" story.

La Voie and McFadden recently were acquitted in Criminal court of conspiring to defraud the state of $25,678 in sales taxes.

TEN C. I. O. PICKET LEADERS TO TAKE STAND IN COURT

Hearing of the contempt cases against ten leaders of the C. I. O. pickets at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago will be resumed this morning before Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan. Most of the defendants are expected to take the stand today and Monday.

The company concluded its evidence Thursday. The ten C. I. O. men are charged with inspiring the other pickets to disobey an injunction issued to allow independent employés to return to work at the plant.

Today marks the end of the sixth week in which the foundry has been closed. The C. I. O. union called a strike on June 6. Sherif Lawrence Doolittle of Lake county has announced that he has sufficient deputies to escort the independent workers into the plant. This attempt will probably be made next week.

SUES EX-HUSBAND TO GET ALIMONY OF $400 A MONTH

Secor Cunningham Jr. of 73 East Elm street, was sued in Circuit court yesterday by his former wife, Mrs. Margaret Stough Cunningham of Toronto, Ont. They were divorced in 1930.

In her petition, filed by Attorney Ashley Greene, Mrs. Cunningham asserts her former husband agreed to pay her $400 a month for life for herself and daughter, Althea, 15 years old In January of this year, she declares, the payments stopped and Cunningham notified her he was discontinuing them.

Mrs. Cunningham asks that her former husband be directed to continue the payments. Cunningham, an official of the Commonwealth Edison company, has remarried.

Brewer Settles with Wife; Support Suit Dismissed

Judge James M. Corcoran in Evanston court yesterday dismissed the nonsupoprt suit brought by Mrs. Marian Keitel King against her husband, Arthur C. King. The judge was told an out of court settlement has been made. The couple were married in 1930 and separated last September. King, part owner of the Old Abbey Brewery, lives at 2020 Knollwood road, Lake Forest.

Wins Divorce and Alimony from Son of Judge Trude

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Grace Montgomery Trude of 7000 South Shore drive from Samuel H. Trude Jr., son of the Municipal court judge. Mrs. Trude charged desertion. She is the daughter of the late George Montgomery, Chicago merchant. Mrs. Trude was awarded custody of a daughter, Margaret Patricia.

Granted Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Durie Malcolm Bersbach as she appeared when decree was granted.

Mrs. Durie Malcolm Bersbach of 525 Barry avenue was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams from Frank John Bersbach Jr. She charged cruelty. Bersbach is the grandson of the late Judge Theodore Brentano, former minister to Hungary. Mrs. Bersbach, a debutante in 1934, is the daughter of the George H. Malcolms of Lake Forest. The couple were married April 3, 1937, and separated last June 13. Attorney Frederick Fischel said Bersbach had agreed to give his wife two-fifths of his income. Mrs. Bersbach was represented by the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw.

IDENTIFY BODY ON TRACKS.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 15.—[Special.]—The body of a man identified as Alfred S. Harriman, 50 years old, of Jersey City, N. J., was found beside the Pennsylvania railroad tracks two miles west of here today. Apparently he had fallen off a freight train.

RICHARD ARLEN, FILM ACTOR, AND WIFE SEPARATE

Hollywood, Cal., July 15.—[Special.]—After twelve years of married life Richard Arlen, film actor, and his wife, the former Jobyna Ralston, have come to the parting of the ways, the couple admitted tonight. Rickey, 3½ years old, son of the couple, will remain with his mother.

Arlen said he received first word yesterday of his wife's intention to leave him when he boarded his yacht to go to Santa Catalina Island to fish. Both insisted no other man or woman had anything to do with the breach.

Miss Ralston said she would occupy the house in which they had lived since their marriage at North Hollywood, and that Arlen would stay at the new ranch home they now are building in Northridge in the San Fernando valley.

The question of divorce has not been discussed, they insisted.

Arlen was married once before. This was the first marriage for Miss Ralston, who retired from motion pictures shortly after her marriage. Previously she had been Harold Lloyd's leading lady.

TORNADIC STORM HITS NEW JERSEY SEASIDE REGION

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—A tornadic storm that lasted only about fifteen minutes struck a narrow strip of Monmouth county, N. J., early today, unroofing houses, knocking down trees, disrupting telephone and electric service and causing other damage.

The disturbance was confined to a strip about five miles wide and six or seven miles long, running from Red Bank east to the coast at Seabright, and southward to Little Silver.

The towns of Red Bank and Seabright suffered the most extensive damage. Mayor Sweeney of Seabright, after a hasty survey, estimated the damage to that city at some $100,000, including the cost of clearing the streets of débris. Two hotels were damaged and many more flooded. The main hangar at the Red Bank airport was blown over; the bleachers at the local ball park were wrecked, and many small buildings were unroofed.

If your husband is discouraged with his work and you are discouraged with your financial circumstances, remember this: the way for any man to get ahead is to make himself eligible for a better job. Average ability goes begging, while trained men who know their jobs and can deliver are hard to get and always command a better salary.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Ten proud 2 year old fillies named to run in the $30,000 Lassie stakes at Arlington Park this afternoon looked their best yesterday while they awaited their rich contest, but a sandy haired fellow from Idaho came along with a few horses during the day and stole the show from them.

The sandy haired fellow was Earl Sande and the horses that for a time made the Arlington visitors forget about the Lassie stakes were Stagehand and The Chief, owned by Col. Maxwell Howard of Dayton, O. They are here to run in the $35,000 Classic stakes, to be decided one week from this afternoon, and in the Arlington Gold cup July 28.

"And may the better of my two horses win," remarked Sande, who said he was becoming a trifle weary of trying to answer the question "Is Stagehand or The Chief the faster horse?"

Remains on Neutral Ground.

"I'll not declare with either of them," said Sande. "And Jocky George Woolf, who will ride The Chief, will be told to go ahead and beat Jack Westrope on Stagehand if he can do it."

Sande and his horses reached Arlington Park shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Accompanying the two star 3 year olds were the 2 year olds, Jinx Buster and Col. Britt.

Stagehand and The Chief will get their first look at the Arlington track at 6 o'clock this morning. It will not be a serious training move, however, because Sande is of the opinion that both the colts in his care are ready now for their engagement in Chicago's biggest 3 year old special.

It will be east against the west in the Lassie stakes this afternoon. With all ten named in the overnight entries starting, the race will have a gross value of $29,620. Unerring, a full sister to Kentucky Derby Winner Lawrin, and Inscoelda, which won a sensationally fast race here, will form the favored entry of Herbert M. Woolf of Kansas City. Last night the entry was quoted at 2 to 1.

Rounding out the western contingent are the Milky Way farm's Dinner Date, Valdina farm's Wafer, Millsdale stable's Bold Fay, and Charles S. Howard's Grey Nurse, a stablemate of Seabiscuit.

Singing Witch to Run.

A powerful quartet from New York's famous stables has invaded the west for the stake. Chief among them is King Ranch's Otra, first winner of the first crop of the champion Equipoise. This fast easterner is trained by Max Hirsch.

Other easterners are John Hay Whitney's Singing Witch, to be ridden by Jocky Sammy Renick; Hal Price Headley's Airacuda, and Harry F. Guggenheim's Lady Nicotine. Earlier winners of the Lassie stakes have been 1929, Capture; 1930, Risque; 1931, Top Flight; 1932, Hilena; 1933, Mata Hari; 1934, Motto; 1935, Forever Yours; 1936, Apogee; 1937, Theen.

Beauty Shop Observations.

It's fun to spend a little time
Within a modern beauty shop,
To watch the operators fix
Milady's hair in curls on top.

Shampooing is a thing of art
When done by women dressed in white
How quickly they transform a head
Into a picture of delight.

They set the hair in perfect waves
And place a net to make secure
And then the drying takes a while—
How much a person will endure.

It's fun to see them sitting thus
I often wonder what they think,
While some are reading, others are
So still I cannot see them blink.

The exit is a different tale
Than when they made the entrance there,
The beauty shop has done its best
And now comes forth a lady fair.

BAUGH IS GOOD, BUT SO IS NEW ALL-STAR CROP

Waldorf Appraises Players and Picks a Team.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

What chance will the All-America football team, which will be elected by the fans of the United States in the poll now being conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 150 associated newspapers, have against the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field Aug. 31?

By this time the professional teams must admit that the College All-Stars must not be underestimated. That they were underestimated in the past was recognizable when the Chicago Bears, the Detroit Lions, and the Green Bay Packers played against the All-Stars. And each team had a different reason. They said Bronko Nagurski of the Bears would rip through the All-Star line. They said Dutch Clark and Ernie Caddel of the Lions were too fast and shifty for the Collegians to stop them.

Last year they said Arnie Herber of the Packers, the greatest professional forward passer, would throw touchdowns to Don Hutson. And now Sammy Baugh, who threw the All-Star pass last year that whipped Green Bay, may be the reason Washington expects to beat the college boys.

Waldorf Appraises Collegians.

Baugh's passing ability may serve to make Washington overconfident. But Baugh and his teammates may well consider the estimate of the All-Star candidates which Lynn Waldorf, coach of Northwestern university, outlined yesterday.

"The 1938 All-America squad," Waldorf said while he was picking his eleven players and casting his vote for them in the national poll, "should be as strong as the teams that have preceded them. Perhaps the kicking will not be as good, but a review of the four games that have been played will show that punting has played no important part in the results.

"A blocked kick for a safety helped the Bears win, 5 to 0, in 1935, but a field goal already had insured victory and the rain which swept the field during the second half was a good excuse for the blocked kick. In other respects this year's college squad should rank with the 1937 squad."

Picks Herwig at Center.

"In picking my All-America team I naturally am not naming any Northwestern player to the starting lineup. It is best for others to say whether any Northwestern boys should start against Washington.

"Bob Herwig of California is my choice for center. He is an accurate, consistent passer. Pat McCarty of Notre Dame, and Ralph Wolf of Ohio State are other excellent men, and either one would be acceptable to support Herwig since the collegians

Sam Snead and Paul Runyan to Play for P. G. A. Title Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., July 15.—Sam Snead, a rifleman from the Virginia hills who uses a golf club instead of a squirrel gun for his shots, tomorrow will meet Paul Runyan, a little man who hunts big game, in the 36 hole final match for the 21st national professional golf championship at the Shawnee Country club.

Sam Snead.

In one of the hardest fought semi-finals in the history of the tournament, the precocious Snead today won a 1 up struggle from game Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y. Runyan had a far easier time in disposing of Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., who is tall enough to pat Paul on the pate. Runyan, winner of the 1934 championship in a 38 hole match with Craig Wood in Buffalo, reached his second title match with a 4 and 3 victory.

Galleries Are Stirred.

The golf in the Snead-Hines match stirred the galleries on every hole. Their medal scores for the full route of 36 holes were remarkable, Sam finishing with a 137, seven under par, against Jimmy's 136. Snead came within four inches of an ace at the 110 yard fifth, and Hines matched that by putting his tee shot three feet from the same pin. Snead apparently had the 15th won with orthodox golf, but Hines blasted the ball out of a trap and he took the hole when it hopped into the cup on the first bounce. Snead's drive to the 17th crashed into the woods, and it was never found, so that he had to walk back to the tee and hit another ball.

Runyan Takes Early Lead.

Sam took a 2 up lead through the 27th, but Hines evened the match at the 31st. Came the 486 yard 35th, where Jimmy had won every match he played in the tournament, including one over Denny Shute, champion the last two years. Snead gained revenge for the six it had cost him in the morning on his lost ball by holing a 12 foot downhill putt for an eagle three. That proved to be the deciding hole, for they halved the 36th. It also accounted for the twelfth one put green of the day for Snead. Incidentally, Runyan had nine one putt greens for himself in the 33 holes he played.

The Runyan-Picard match saw Paul take a 1 up lead with a birdie at the first hole. Picard's game, well nigh perfect throughout the week, finally collapsed and he never so much as evened the match after that first hole. Runyan was four under for the 33 holes of the match.

Snead is the current prodigy of American golf. An all-around high school athlete in Hot Springs, W. Va., Sam was not a factor in national golf until the winter of 1937, when he introduced himself by winning a pair of tournaments on the coast, and then he followed these up by running second in his National open debut. This is the second P. G. A. in which he has competed. Sam was 25 years old in May. He is the leading money winner of the season with approximately $6,500.

A Veteran by Comparison.

Runyan, who celebrated his 30th birthday last Tuesday, is a veteran by comparison with his opponent of tomorrow. He has been a member of the American Ryder cup team, and he captained the American team which invaded Australia a couple of years ago. In addition to his 1934 victory in the P. G. A., Runyan's consistency has been evidenced by his annual earnings. This year he has won nearly $4,000. The cards:

Finland Ready to Take 1940 Olympic Meet

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 15.—Finland's Olympic games committee today decided that Finland will accept the opportunity to hold the games in Helsingfors in 1940.

The chairman of the international Olympic council, Count Henri de Baillet-Latour of Belgium, telegraphed the Finnish delegate, Ernst Krogius, today that Finland would immediately be offered the 1940 Olympic games and it is taken for granted that the council will tender a formal invitation immediately.

Representatives of the city of Helsingfors and the government will meet with the Finnish committee tomorrow on practical arrangements. The games probably will be held in July as that month is best suited for outdoor sports. August is generally rainy.

Finns Get Congratulations.

Congratulatory messages have been received from the United States, England, Germany and the Scandinavian countries since Finland was unexpectedly placed in the position of achieving one of its greatest ambitions through the decision of the Japanese government not to hold the games in Tokio because of hostilities with China.

Meeting at Cairo, Egypt, last March, the world Olympic committee decided that should Japan reject the games Finland would have the first

COLLECT 16 HITS IN FIRST CAPITAL VICTORY OF YEAR

Steinbacher Leads Attack on Senator Pitchers.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—The White Sox were here for three games in May and they were here for three games in June. And they lost 'em all. But July in Washington, ah, how beautiful! The Sox beat the Senators in spectacular fashion here today, 11 to 3.

Lovable Wes Ferrell went after his twelfth victory and got the worst shellacking he's had since the Sox beat him, 16 to 3, the last time he was in Chicago. Wes walked off the field while Thornton Lee's fourth inning homer with one on still was in the air. Incidentally, that homer was Lee's second of the year, likewise the second of his major league career. Lee also singled and scored in the sixth.

Steinbacher Pounds Ball.

The batting brutality of the Sox was not confined to Lee's home run smash, not by a long shot. There was Hank Steinbacher, for instance. Hank drove in two runs with a double in the second inning, tripled in the fourth, tripled again to drive in two more runs in the sixth after which he scored on a double by Mike Kreevich. Hank also walked and scored in the eighth.

The multiple hit gents other than Steinbacher and Lee who contributed to the Sox total of sixteen hits were Boze Berger with three singles, and Rip Radcliff and Marv Owen with two singles each.

The victory was Lee's fourth, and he was quite startled by the flood of hitting support, he usually having to operate on a starvation basis. Thornton allowed two hits in the first inning, one after the side should have been retired, one in the second, three in the fifth, which produced the second and third Senator runs, two in the seventh and two in the ninth.

The Hitting Starts.

The Sox may have been thinking about their past ill luck in Griffith stadium when they gave the Senators a first inning run on Lewis' single with one down, Berger's throwing error on an easy double play and Simmons' single. But they were encouraged when Bonura ended the inning by hitting into a double play.

In the second inning the Sox broke out with four runs. Appling and Owens singled. The pair moved up on Kuhel's sacrifice. Sewell was passed and when the fourth ball was a wild pitch, Appling scored. Lee fanned, but Berger singled to score Owen. Steinbacher's double to center scored Sewell and Berger.

Radcliff beat out a bouncer to Lewis at the start of the third and continued to third when Buddy threw the ball past Bonura. Rip scored while Myer was throwing out Appling.

Lee Smashes One.

Sewell got his second pass at the start of the fourth and preceded Lee home when the Sox pitcher hit that enormous sock over the high right field signboard. Wes Ferrell actually was on his way to the water cooler before Lefty's homer. De Shong went in and struck out Berger, but pitched a triple to Steinbacher. Kreevich and Radcliff couldn't send Steinbacher home, however.

The Senators got after Lee a bit in the fifth. With one out, Rick Ferrell tripled to center and scored on De Shong's out. Case doubled and scored on Lewis' single, but West whiffed.

Chase went in to pitch in the eighth and was assessed for the last Sox run after two were out. Steinbacher and Kreevich walked. Steinbacher then scored on Radcliff's single.

LARRY FRENCH ACHIEVES HIS SIXTH VICTORY

Chicagoans Score 3 in Third.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Larry French, whose recent misfortunes exceed in number the rabbits' hooves, voodoo chasers, and other charms he is carrying around in his pockets, finally hit the jackpot yesterday. Out popped his sixth triumph of the year and the Cubs' third straight victory, in which the Phillies were the victims, 4 to 1.

French, who had tumbled into the bad habit of pitching great ball for a stretch and fading at the finish, reversed his style for the occasion. He did his blowing at the very start, the Phils giving him a warm reception, during which their lone run registered. From then on he didn't fool with his foes. They hit him, of course, but the hits were scattered and in the last eight innings only one man reached second base. That happened in the third, not because of hits but because the left handed workman was careless enough to bunch his only two passes of the afternoon.

Cubs Resort to Doubles.

The Cub attack, which with ten hits exceeded the recent daily average, let go with its main punch in the third inning when Wayne La Master, also left handed, was rocked by a series of doubles featuring Rip Collins, Bill Jurges, and even French. Three runs grew from this assault and there would have been a fourth if Stan Hack's feet hadn't strayed while he was traveling from second to the plate.

The remaining Cub run was fastened down in the fourth when La Master departed, making room for Sylvester Johnson, with whom the Cubs had only a limited amount of fun for the remainder of the afternoon.

Careless Base Running.

If it hadn't been for a bit of careless base running the Phils might have done more than one run's worth of damage to French in the first inning. Jordan singled on the first pitch and he was sacrificed to second by Mueller. Brack lined a hit against the wall in right center, Jordan scoring, but Brack tried to make three bases and was killed off, Demaree to Herman to Hack. Arnovich followed with a single to right and Martin with a tall fly to Marty.

The blasting of LaMaster for three runs in the third began with Collins' double to left. Marty looked at a third strike, but French slammed a two bagger into right to score Collins with the tying run. Jurges prolonged the two bagger assault by lining one of them into left, French counting. Herman popped out, Hack walked, and Hartnett singled, scoring Jurges. Demaree also singled, but it doesn't show in the records because Hack, who crossed the plate on the hit, was called out on a charge of not having touched third base.

La Master Is Removed.

The reason for La Master's sudden removal in the fourth was a pair of hits with none out. Reynolds singled to center and Collins singled to left. A double steal in which Marty was supposed to figure by hitting the ball didn't work because Marty didn't hit the ball. Reynolds was thrown out at third. This was where La Master went away to make room for Johnson. Marty then singled, scoring Collins. French flied to Brack and Marty's attempt to steal second failed.

Under the influence of Johnson, the Cubs were painfully quiet with their bats during the last four innings. In that stretch they collected only two hits. One was a double by Hack and the other a single by French.

One for Larry

Veterans Defend Boys' and Girls' Titles.

Last year the Lake Shore Athletic club won both the girls' and the boys' team championships in the 100 yard free style races sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities. In defense of these honors Walter Player, present coach of the Lake Shore swimmers, has entered fourteen boys and girls in the qualifying trials which will be held next week in four pools. The championships, in which at least 160 qualifiers will compete, will be held on Sunday, July 31, in the Diversey beach lagoon in Lincoln park.

Outstanding in the list of seven boys is Robert Amundsen, who is registered in class C for boys 15 and 16 years of age. Amundsen several years ago won a championship in a lower age class and he must be considered one of the favorites in the field of class C swimmers. Others boys entered from Lake Shore A. C. are William H. Madden Jr., class B; Jim Holden, class C; Stephen Grimm, Robert Proctor, Robert Peshek, and Lawrence Wehrheim, class D.

All Experienced Swimmers.

The list of contestants from Lake Shore in the girls classes are Joan Lummis, class B; Persis Montfort and Peggy Walls, class C; Marian Price and Marjorie Lauritzen, class D; Kay Walsh and Patricia McDonnough, class E.

While the Lake Shore entry is not large in comparison with the number of entries from parks and playgrounds, all are experienced swimmers who should not have difficulty reaching the championship events July 31. All of the 160 qualifiers in the preliminaries at Cermak pool, Whealan pool, Sherman park pool, and California park pool will receive gold medals. The winners of all preliminary races also will receive badges regardless of whether they qualify for the championships.

At the finals the prizes are ten gold medals for the 1938 swimming champions; ten silver awards for the runners-up in each of the classes for boys and girls, and ten bronze medals for those who finish third.

Have Entries in Monday.

Entries will be accepted until midnight Monday, but all letters must be postmarked before that hour. Each swimmer reporting for his 100 yard test will be awarded a souvenir badge.

The first of the acceptance postcards which admit to the pools without charge will be mailed Monday. Nearly all of the Lake Shore swimmers have registered for the qualifying trials at Whealan pool, Milwaukee and Devon avenues. This pool, the finest of the Forest Preserve district centers, affords a 50 yard course so that the swimmers must turn only once. At the Cermak pool the contentants must make two turns. This also is true of the California park pool, 3901 North California avenue. Sherman park pool, like Whealan, has a 50 yard course.

Metz Is One of Golf's Best, but He Is Unlucky

Dick Metz, the Mill Road Farm professional who is rated both the handsomest and unluckiest young man in professional golf, will be swinging clubs next Friday morning when the Chicago open starts at Olympia Fields —and Metz swings a lot of club.

He gave proof of it as recently as the national open tourney at Denver, where he shot a 290 to finish as runnerup to Ralph Guldahl, after having led the field by three shots at the end of fifty-four holes. He straightened out this account by eliminating Guldahl from the National P. G. A. meet last Tuesday. An ankle injury sustained in Florida in March, 1937, put Dick out of competition at a time when he was on the top of his game. He had just won the Hollywood open and beaten Ed Dudley in a playoff for the Thomasville, Ga., open when an auto accident forced him out of the 1937 National open, P. G. A., and Chicago open. Thus he had to qualify for the national in May of this year and made certain of it by including a 66 on the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields.

Metz is one of the most popular athletes in sport. He is unmarried. Born at Arkansas City, Kas., in May, 1909, he leaned toward boxing rather than golf when he first took up sports, and is still the most enthusiastic fan in golf. He played as an amateur until 1927, when he turned professional.

SMILIN' JACK—A GAME OF CHANCE

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—YURK HAS LEFT HIS MARK

Aglow Breaks Nash Stables' Losing Streak

The Nash brothers—Richard and Patrick—whose horses haven't been having much luck at Arlington Park this season, finally looked on while their green and white silks were paraded into the winner's circle yesterday afternoon.

Aglow, a daughter of Burning Blaze-Biela, was the Nash colorbearer. She won easily from ten other fillies and mares at six furlongs, paying off at $7.60. Texas Rose, on which there was a red hot tip, finished second and Chanting, a long shot, third.

Reports of a fist fight between George Foster, secretary of the Illinois racing commission, and Tom Worden of Chicago, owner of a string of horses, were denied on all sides yesterday. The story had it that they came together in belligerent mood in the hallway leading to the downtown chambers of the state racing commission. Witnesses are reported to have called it a "draw."

John One, from Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' stable, won the Lake Zurich purse over the mile Hertz course yesterday. It was the day's feature race. After Jocky Al Robertson got him into his best stride at the head of the stretch he had little trouble disposing of the early leaders, Madison and Romaine. John One was at 3 to 1 in the betting.

The Whale, which nearly sneaked home at 40 to 1 odds several days ago at Arlington, ran a miserable race in the Lake Zurich. Five to one in the betting, he ran with the trailers all the way and finished last.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:11 1-5, 1:37 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Wilda, $6.40 straight, $4.60 place, $3.40 show; Bold Lover, $20.00 place, $8.00 show; Lady Confucius, $6.20 show. Winner trained by E. E. Troy. Went to post at 2:15½. At post half minute. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily, place driving.

WILDA, under strong restraint for about five-eighths, drew out fast under light urging and won well in hand. BOLD LOVER worked his way up between horses, and holding on fairly well, outstayed LADY CONFUCIUS after having worn down NIGHT BANDIT. LADY CONFUCIUS improved her position gradually and fought it out with good courage in the drive.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 2-5, :46 4-5, 1:13. Two dollar mutuels paid: Dedication, $31.00 straight, $10.00 place, $7.00 show; Brierton, $4.60 place, $3.60 show; Banjorine, $5.80 show. Winner trained by J. W. Bernard. Went to post at 2:43. At post 2 minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

DEDICATION, away slowly, worked his way up fast racing on the extreme outside first three-eighths, was steadied on the stretch turn, rallied when straightened away in the last three-sixteenths and won drawing clear. BRIERTON took command slowly, was hustled into a long lead rounding the turn and weakened in the final drive but held the others safe. BANJORINE, away fast but unable to hold the advantage, was in close quarters on the turn, came to the outside in the stretch and finished well.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 1-5, :47 4-5, 1:01, 1:08. Two dollar mutuels paid: Calling, $16.00 straight, $9.40 place, $7.20 show; Dongy, $15.00 place, $8.80 show; Address, $10.00 show. Winner trained by J. P. Salley. Went to post at 3:10½. At post 1 minute. Start bad, from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

CALLING, away several lengths behind horses in bearing over after the bit had broken soon after the start, was lucky to secure room next to the rail in the stretch and, closing fast got up in the last stride. DONGY, well up after the first quarter but kept in hand until the last three-sixteenths, responded when called upon and held on stubbornly while racing a trifle wide but failed to head the winner. ADDRESS had speed from the start but weakened in the final eighth.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

J. Wilson. Went to post at 3:40. At post 2½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, place driving.

TECHNICIAN, a sharp factor from the start, raced around COUNT ELEVEN gradually and under light urging, went to the inside after drawing into a good lead and won with something left. TOTAL ECLIPSE, rushed into contention on the outside held on well under strong pressure the entire final quarter. TIME PLEASE, taken back at the start, raced wide when working his way up, swerved in the stretch and came again when straight.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :22 4-5, :46, 1:12 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Aglow, $7.60 straight, $3.80 place, $3.20 show; Texas Rose, $3.60 place, $3.00 show; Chanting, $5.20 show. Winner trained by J. J. Greeley. Went to post at 4:08½. Off at once. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, place driving.

AGLOW, away fast and having good speed, was under a snug hold while forcing the pace, rallied when called upon to take command with a rush and won easily. TEXAS ROSE, away slowly, began to work her way up after an eighth, saved ground the last three-eighths and held on courageously to the end. CHANTING, raced wide throughout, was slow to respond but came with determination in the last eighth and was wearing down TEXAS ROSE.

ZEVAR, steadied along while being outrun, began to improve his position after five-eighths, responded willingly on pressure after reaching the stretch turn and was up in the last sixteenth. EBONY PARASOL, never far back and in hand for three-quarters, responded to urging thereafter and held on well in the drive. ABDICATOR, had good speed from the beginning, took command after five-eighths without need of strong pressure and held on fairly well thereafter.

VANDER MEER AND REDS ARE BEATEN BY GIANTS, 3 TO 2

New York 2 Points Behind Leading Pirates.

Cincinnati, O., July 15.—(AP)—Johnny Vander Meer's jinx over the New York Giants ended today. After three straight setbacks at the hands of the double no-hit sensation, the champions beat him and the Reds, 3 to 2, to climb within two percentage points of the league lead.

Ival Goodman hit his 23d homer of the year in the eighth, and when the next batter hit safely Dick Coffman replaced Hal Schumacher and halted the rally.

GROVE FRETS IN HOSPITAL—HE'D WORK OUT TODAY

Boston, Mass., July 15.—(AP)—The famous fiery temper of Bob [Lefty] Grove flared tonight as feeling and pulse returned to his numbed pitching arm.

Grove, improving steadily as the blood vessel spasms quieted in his aging but effective arm, became wrathy when Dr. Edward J. O'Brien, the Boston Red Sox physician, advised him to remain in St. Elizabeth's hospital for a second night.

"You bet I will," Grove replied. "And I'll be back in uniform in the afternoon and I'm going to work out, too."

Dr. O'Brien has authorized Grove's return to duty but he instructed Manager Joe Cronin to force Grove to go easy with his arm until he is certain it has regained its normal strength.

RED SOX DEFEAT BROWNS, 5 TO 3; DOERR IS STAR

Boston, Mass., July 15.—(AP)—Bobby Doerr's homer with the bases full in the sixth inning today provided the Red Sox with the runs necessary to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3, in the series' opener.

The Browns, beaten in nine of their ten starts against Boston this season, had a 3 to 1 lead until Doerr blasted his third circuit drive of the year.

Dean to Pitch Against Bees Tomorrow

Dizzy Dean, in person, will be on the rubber tomorrow in the first half of the Cubs' double-header with the Boston Bees. Manager Charley Grimm watched his famous invalid warm up again yesterday and he immeditely announced Dizzy would be put to work. Dean accepted it as good news, although willingly conceding that there still was some soreness in his right shoulder. Dizzy made his last start, and his fourth as a Cub, on May 3 against the Phillies, but he retired after seven innings. It was the fourth game in which he pitched and the third in which he was the winner. He has finished only one game, a four hit shutout against the Cardinals on April 25.

Tex Carleton, who hasn't survived the first inning in his last two starts, will be in charge of the opener of the series with the Bees today. The visiting pitching attraction will be John Lanning.

Gabby Hartnett was guilty of mental confusion in the second inning. He was on first as the result of a single and one was out. Reynolds flied to center and Hartnett, thinking it was the third out, was half way to third when the ball was caught. He was doubled.

LYONS VS. WEAVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Ted Lyons will pitch the middle game of the series for the White Sox against Washington tomorrow. It is expected that Monte Weaver will work for the Senators.

The presence of Thornton Lee, a lefty, today enabled Zeke Bonura to get off the Washington bench for the first time in many days. Rival managers haven't been sending in lefties against the Senators as frequently as of old, hence Jimmy Wasdell has been doing most of the Senators' first basing of late.

Just before today's game Al Simmons was given "the man of the month" prize awarded a Senator the fifteenth of each month by one of the Washington newspapers. Al got a $50 merchandise order.

Umpire Rue, recently the recipient of two Washington pop bottle showers, worked behind the plate today and didn't seem to be the least bit nervous.

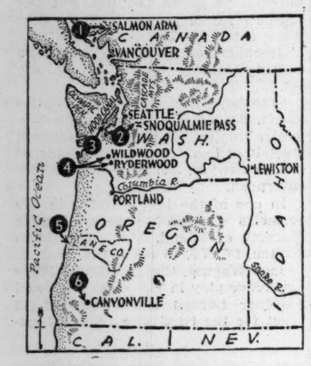
FOREST FIRES MENACE TOWNS IN WASHINGTON

Hundreds Fight to Halt Spread of Flames.

Seattle, Wash., July 15.—Whipped by wind, a 15,000 acre forest fire today raged uncomfortably close to Ryderwood, world's largest logging camp, and a few persons left the town of 1,200 population. The fire, one of several burning in the state, was on three sides of Mount Abernethy. At one point it was only a mile from Ryderwood.

Chief Warden C. S. Cowan of the State Forest Fire association, reported that 300 fighters were endangered by the advance of the flames into treacherous canyons. Flames covered an area 12 to 14 miles long and about 1½ miles wide. Wildwood, another logging camp a few miles north of Ryderwood, also was in the danger area.



1—Where 400 acre tract burned. 2—Flames threaten to close Sunset highway. 3—Blaze covering 6,000 acres spreads. 4—Two big logging camps endangered. 5—Six hundred men fight fire. 6—Five hundred acre fire started by lightning.

A great pall of reddish-brown smoke blotted Seattle's view of the Cascade mountains. A 6,000 acre fire which drove half a dozen families from their homes near Thorndyke Bay, a short distance west of here, spread southeastward toward the shore of the Hood canal.

The most serious fire in British Columbia destroyed 2,500,000 feet of cut timber and raged through a 400-acre tract on the Salmon Arm of Sechelt Bay, twenty-five miles north of Vancouver.

The United States forest service said at least 154 fires had been started by lightning in the past three days.

In Oregon 600 men fought a forest fire in Lane county's coastal area. A lightning fire starting at the Canyonville, Ore., city limits swept over 500 acres of small fir and brush.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Happy About the Whole Thing

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Flora of Chicagoland

[Culver's Root.]

WHEN America was first settled the colonists often turned to remedies prescribed by the Indians when one of the settlers became ill. Indians, having cured themselves of their own ailments by use of many different roots and herbs, were looked upon by many as combination druggists and doctors.

One of the plants used by the Indians and adopted by our forefathers as a remedy for stomach troubles was Culver's root, which grows wild in most woods and meadows throughout Chicagoland and many other parts of the country. Later other drugs were developed to take the place of Culver's root in medicine, and at the present time it is not commonly used. We notice, however, that it still is named in the government leaflet of useful and valuable medicinal plants.

White Spiked Flowers.

When we were on the Du Page county farm this week we found Culver's root in blossom. It is quite an attractive plant, with flowers in a tall slender spike at the top of the stem. The flowers are almost always white, although occasionally a light blue one is found. The center spike of flowers appears first at the tip of the main stem. Later there are shorter clusters a little below the first flowers. The plant grows from two to seven feet high, and is found in almost every state east of Nebraska.

The technical name of the plant, Veronica virginica, is almost as interesting as its medicinal history. There are two theories as to the name Veronica, one emanating from the church and the other from the ancient Greeks. The Greeks had a similar medicinal plant called "pheronike," the word being derived from phero [I bring] and nike [victory], alluding to the power of the plant to defeat diseases.

Story of St. Veronica.

The other explanation of the name Veronica is related to the crucifixion. The story is that Christ, bearing the cross, passed the home of a maiden. She ran after Him and wiped His face with her kerchief. According to the story this cloth ever after bore a true likeness of his face. True likeness in Latin is vera iconica. So when the church wanted to make the maiden a saint they called her St. Veronica, from the Latin words. Her kerchief is still preserved in St. Peter's church in Rome, and according to legend has special healing powers.

For its long history and interesting background, as well as for its tall stem and delicate flower cluster, Culver's root deserves a place in our list of interesting Chicagoland wild flowers that have curative qualities.

YOUNG BACHELOR LEFT A MILLION BY GREAT-AUNT

Ada Garrett Estate Is $2,250,000.

A young advertising man sang in his shower last night and then went out to celebrate his good fortune. For during the day he had learned that a great-aunt had bequeathed him a $1,000,000 trust fund. She had provided for him 34 years ago—six years before he was born.

This young man, a bachelor, is Jason Paige Jr., 28 years old, of 390 South avenue, Glencoe. He is a graduate of Yale.

Leaves Estate of $2,250,000.

His great-aunt was Mrs. Ada Sawyer Garrett, a recluse and member of a pioneer Chicago family. She died June 18 in her apartment in the Lake Shore Drive hotel at the age of 82. Yesterday her will, drawn in 1904, was filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court. It disposed of an estate valued at $2,250,000.

Twelve Chicago charities and institutions were bequeathed a total of $220,000. The remainder of the estate was left to relatives, most of them distant ones. The largest bequest was the $1,000,000 to young Paige.

Mrs. Garrett was sometimes referred to as Chicago's "Hetty Green." This was because of her eccentricities and her astute management of the fortune left her by her grandfather, Justin Butterfield.

Former Attorney for I. C.

Butterfield was an attorney for the Illinois Central railroad and once defeated Abraham Lincoln for the post of land commissioner of Illinois. He had three daughters, known as the beautiful Butterfield girls. One of them, Elizabeth, married Dr. Sidney Sawyer, and Ada was their daughter. Ada was a belle of the north side sixty years ago.

She married T. Mauro Garrett, a railroad company official. He died about 1900. Then Mrs. Garrett went into seclusion, devoting her time to managing her estate. In 1927 she was found ill in a cheap room in a loop hotel. She was declared incompetent and since then had been a ward of the Probate court.

Young Paige's mother is the former Carrie Butterfield, a great-granddaughter of Justin Butterfield. His father is a broker. The family is moderately well to do. Mrs. Paige said last night that Jason Jr. had seen Mrs. Garrett frequently up to the time of her death but did not anticipate such a large bequest. He will have the income from the $1,000,000 trust during his lifetime. In his own will, he can distribute the principal among his heirs.

The $220,000 for charities and institutions is divided in the will as follows: Chicago Historical society and Indiana house [formerly the Home for Self Supporting Women], $50,000 each; Art institute, Passavant hospital and Chicago Nursery and Half Orphans' home, $25,000 each; St. James Episcopal church and the Commons association of the University of Chicago, $10,000 each; the Church Home for Aged, Visiting Nurses' association, Home for Destitute and Crippled Children, Children's Memorial hospital, and St. Mary's Home for Children, $5,000 each.

Other outright bequests are a total of $38,000 to four relatives, and a total of $6,000 to three of Mrs. Garrett's former servants. The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company is named trustee. The will was presented for probate by the law firm of McCulloch, McCulloch and McLaren.

T. R. TIFFANY, SON OF LAKE FOREST POLICE CHIEF, DIES

Thomas R. Tiffany, 26 years old, son of Police Chief Frank Tiffany of Lake Forest, died last night in the Alice Home hospital in the suburb after an illness of several months. He lived at 290 East Deerpath, Lake Forest.

Mr. Tiffany was manager of the Waukegan office of the Chicago Motor club. He was born and educated in Waukegan and was active in high school athletics. At his death he was treasurer of the Lake Forest Hockey club. Mr. Tiffany is survived by his widow, Mary Lou, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, 3 years old. His body is in a chapel at 233 East Deerpath, Lake Forest, but funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WILL CUTS OFF SON IN PRISON; PLANS CONTEST

Virtually cut off in the will of his father, Jacob Eissler Jr., announced yesterday through his attorney, Earl Cook, he would seek to have the will set aside. The son is serving a 1 to 20 year prison term for bombing a Deerfield home a year ago. His father died a month ago at the age of 88 in his home at Long Grove. The will was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Martin C. Decker in the Lake county Probate court at Waukegan. It disposes of an estate estimated at $12,000 to two daughters and two other sons. Attorney Cook said an inventory of the estate would show a value of $40,000.

158 POUND APE SHOT AFTER 2 HR. BROOKLYN CHASE

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—A full-grown male chimpanzee, weighing 158 pounds, was shot to death by police today after a five hour rampage through the home of Mrs. Gertrude Lintz, its owner, of Brooklyn. The animal led fifteen policemen a thrilling chase.

Mrs. Lintz spent three hours trying to corner the beast and finally summoned the police. The chase continued for the next two hours while hundreds of spectators stood by watching the animal leap out windows onto trees, rush madly from one end of the house to the other and on two occasions lock itself in the bathroom.

The big ape broke out of its cage in a rage after a rat ran across the floor. Mrs. Lintz raises jungle beasts as a hobby.

400 GUARDSMEN SHOW NEGATIVE SYPHILIS TESTS

2,100 More of Wisconsin Force to Be Examined.

Camp Williams, Wis., July 15.—[Special.]—Analysis of 400 National Guardsmen's blood samples in Wassermann tests made this week showed no positive reactions indicating presence of the disease. These results were from the first 400 enlisted men and officers out of a total of 2,500 who took the tests here this week. Giving of the tests, part of the state National Guard's program to determine the amount of syphilis in its ranks, was completed yesterday.

National Guard officials were pleased with the results of the first 400 tests and indicated their belief that the other 2,100 would show only a small number of the men have syphilis.

Representative of State.

The 400 guardsmen in the group whose blood samples have been analyzed are from all over the state, and include among them farm and city youths, boys working in industrial plants, college youths and some boys just out of high school. This group, said the officers handling the tests form a fair cross-section of the youth of this state.

While the results shown in the 400 tests are not conclusive evidence of a low syphilis rate in Wisconsin, according to these National Guard officials, they feel that when the 2,500 blood samples are analyzed the ratio of syphilitics among National Guardsmen will be low, probably less than one per cent of those who took the tests. The ratio of syphilitics in the United States has been estimated at about 10 per cent of the population.

First Tests in Guard.

The Wisconsin National Guard is the first National Guard unit in the United States to give its members and officers the Wasserman test. In doing this, it feels it is doing its part in the national fight against this disease. The results of the tests are known only to the examining physicians and the person examined. The blood samples are sent to the state laboratories at Madison for analysis.

The blood samples of the other 2,100 guardsmen have been sent to Madison, and the analysis of these blood samples are expected to be completed early next week.

The guardsmen today were preparing to leave for their homes tomorrow. Equipment was pulled out of tents for inspection, and belongings packed. The guardsmen here will take down their tents and leave by truck and railroad, starting early in the morning.

McMILLAN—

WALLACE ASKS 31 PCT. CUT IN WHEAT ACREAGE

Offers Subsidies of 125 Millions.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today asked American wheat farmers to cut their 1939 plantings about 31 per cent to prevent larger surpluses from complicating the problems raised by this year's bumper crop.

As an inducement for reducing their seeded acreage from 80,000,000 for 1938 to 55,000,000 for next year, the agricultural department will offer growers benefit payments which may total $125,000,000.

The national 55,000,000 acre allotment—the minimum allowed under the new crop control law—will be divided later among wheat producing states and counties and then distributed among individual farmers under formulas set up in the farm act. Growers are not required to comply with allotments, but only those who do so are eligible for maximum benefit payments and government loans authorized by the legislation.

Largest Cut Ever Asked.

Officials said the acreage production was the largest ever proposed under any federal farm program. Should the wheat growers comply, the area devoted to wheat would be the smallest since before the world war. An allotment of 62,500,000 acres was established for the 1938 crop, but only for the purpose of computing benefit payments.

On the basis of official forecasts, this year's wheat crop will pile up a surplus of more than 400,000,000 bushels, or more than half a normal year's domestic consumption and export requirements.

H. R. Tolley, agricultural adjustment administrator, said compliance with allotments by a majority of wheat growers would reduce present surpluses, but would result, with average abandonment and yields, in a crop larger than normal.

Expect to Reduce Crops.

At normal yields, 55,000,000 acres would produce between 650,000,000 and 700,000,000 bushels, compared with forecasts of a 967,412,000 bushel crop this year.

Establishment of the 1939 acreage allotment was the second step taken this week by the agricultural department to maintain prices and income of wheat farmers. Government loans averaging between 59 and 60 cents a bushel were made available yesterday to coöperating farmers desiring to withhold grain from the market until supplies are smaller and prices higher.

Today's order estimated the total available supply of wheat for the current marketing year at 1,147,000,000 bushels, including a surplus of 200,000,000 bushels from last year.

May Invoke Marketing Quotas.

Officials said that if the acreage actually planted was very much larger than the allotment and weather conditions were average, it probably would be necessary to invoke marketing quotas to restrict sales of the 1939 crop. Quotas would have to be approved by two-thirds of the wheat growers voting at a referendum next spring. Farmers selling in excess of their quotas would be subject to a penalty tax of 15 cents a bushel.

The farm law provides that should farmers reject quotas, no price supporting loans could be extended to either coöperating or noncoöperating growers.

Begin Wheat Insurance.

Olathe, Kas., July 15.—(AP)—The federal government's program of insuring the 1939 wheat crop was inaugurated here today with a radio broadcast ceremony accompanying the issuance of policies No. 1 and No. 2.

M. L. Purvines, Panhandle, Tex., gave Roy M. Green, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, a check for $50.20 to pay for his policy. He will be repaid in wheat if his 1939 crop does not equal half the average yield figure fixed by the government for wheat fields in his area. Vincent Meyer, Olathe, received policy No. 2. He paid for his policy with ninety-six bushels and fifteen pounds of wheat.

Big World Surplus Indicated.

LONDON, July 15.—(AP)—Representatives of 16 of the world's leading wheat producing nations, meeting today at a session of the international wheat advisory committee, were understood to have expressed alarm concerning an expected huge world wheat crop.

The committee adopted the secretariat's report on the prospective world wheat situation and asked the 16 represented governments to "give their most earnest consideration" to the urgent problem. The governments were asked to agree on an early date for the next meeting, which probably will be held in the autumn. United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy presided.

FEDERAL CORN LOANS AMOUNT TO 21½ MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—The commodity credit corporation reported today it had loaned $21,511,259 on 44,371,506 bushels of corn through July 14.

The number of bushels on which loans were made, by states, were: Colorado, 2,327; Illinois, 7,522,557; Indiana, 1,035,066; Iowa[25,882,292; Kansas, 25,661; Minnesota, 3,678,577; Missouri, 1,436,669; Nebraska, 3,466,270; Ohio, 99,612; South Dakota, 1,218,272, and Wisconsin, 4,203.

Wheat Sinks on World Crop Estimate

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .70⅜	$ .72	$1.28⅜
Corn	.61	.60⅜	1.13⅜
Oats	.26½	.26¼	.37⅞
Rye	.51⅜	.52¼	.89⅜
*Soy beans	.84¾	.85	1.15½

*October delivery.

Wheat prices declined almost steadily yesterday in principal American markets. A feeble rally in midsession failed to stem the downward movement and prices closed near the low point of the day. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents a bushel. Deferred deliveries were in new low ground since June 3.

Prices closed 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents lower in the Kansas City wheat market. Minneapolis was relatively strong, finishing only ⅛ to ¼ cent lower. Black rust and grasshopper damage in the northwest helped maintain Minneapolis prices. Winnipeg closed ⅛ to a cent lower. Liverpool futures declined ½ to 1¼ cents.

Predict Record Total.

Part of the selling of wheat futures was believed based on a record world production estimate by the International Wheat conference in London. World production for the 1938-39 season, exclusive of Russia, China, and Manchukuo, was placed at 4,205,000,000 bushels, compared with 3,827,000,000 bushels in 1937-'38.

If realized, the world output of wheat would top by 216,000,000 bushels the previous record yield of 3,989,000,000 in the 1928-'29 season.

First effects of the announcement of the government wheat loan price were seen yesterday in a sharp reduction in offerings of cash wheat for deferred shipment from the country. Chicago handlers purchased only 31,000 bushels, compared with a daily average of around 100,000 bushels for several weeks.

Farmers Are Dissatisfied.

Reports from the southwestern wheat areas indicated, however, that farmers were dissatisfied with the loan base. The firm of Thomson & McKinnon was advised by its Kansas City office that operators of country elevators said dissatisfaction on the part of farmers was general.

Corn developed independent strength yesterday as the result of a revival in export demand, and a belief government loans may also be made on corn. Some traders said they believe farmers may be eligible for a loan of as much as 62½ cents a bushel on corn in the 1938-'39 season, compared with 50 cents offered on the 1937 crop. About 45,000,000 bushels of corn were pledged for loans at the latter price. Closing trades on futures were ⅝ to 1⅞ cents a bushel higher.

SANTA FE SHOWS INCOME IN MAY; LOSS YEAR AGO

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system yesterday reported net income of $368,824 for May, against net loss in May, 1937, of $539,103. Loss for the first five months of this year, however, amounted to $5,944,455, against net income in the first five months of 1937 of $483,834.

May.	1938.	1937.
Atchison	*$ 368,824	$ 539,103
Burlington	556,504	1,028,721

Add Associate Members to Mercantile Exchange

An increase of 10 associate memberships on the Chicago Mercantile exchange to a total of 50 was announced yesterday by Michael E. Fox, president. The memberships are available to dealers, tanners, and lether manufacturers for trading in hides futures, which was started June 13. Originally twenty-six memberships were allowed and the number was later raised to 40.

Prices of Commodities Rally; Rubber and Copper Prominent

Most commodities rallied yesterday in futures trading, with rubber, copper, cottonseed oil, tin, and silk prominent in the advance. The level of cash staples also was higher.

Rubber contracts climbed 0.11 to 0.24 cent a pound, influenced by encouraging consumption statistics. The Rubber Manufactures' association announced that domestic consumption of crude rubber in June increased nearly 3 per cent over May. Total domestic stocks of rubber were reduced by the end of June to 294,566 long tons from 299,720 tons at the end of May, the association estimated. Coffee, sugar, and wool top futures finished irregularly.

Metal Markets Stronger.

The tone of metal markets was stronger. The price of export copper was advanced to 9.80 cents a pound from 9.69 cents on Thursday. Trading was active at the higher level. Domestic copper held steady at 9.75 cents a pound. Copper futures advanced 0.12 to 0.14 cent a pound. Tin contracts climbed 0.40 to 0.60 cent a pound. Lead and zinc were quiet and unchanged in both cash and futures markets.

Advances of 0.10 to 0.35 cent a pound were made by hide futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. At New York, hide contracts were up 0.02 to 0.09 cent. Silk futures were 2½ to 5 cents a pound higher at the close.

Sugar Futures Irregular.

In sugar futures the domestic contract slumped while world prices were climbing. Domestic prices were 0.05 to 0.02 cent a pound lower, and world quotations were up 0.01 to 0.01½ cent a pound. Raw sugar was unchanged at 2.85 cents a pound in the spot market and refined held steady at 4.40 to 4.50 cents for fine granulated.

Rio coffee finished 0.04 cent a pound higher to 0.03 cent lower. Santos was 0.10 cent higher to 0.04 lower. Cocoa futures closed unchanged to 0.05 cent higher.

The Dow-Jones index of 11 commodity futures yesterday slipped 0.14 to 49.95 [1924-'26 average equals 100]. This drop reflected largely the decline in wheat futures, which are heavily weighted in the index. The Associated Press index of 35 weighted wholesale cash staples advanced 0.06 to 67.74 [1926 average equals 100].

NEW NATIONAL BANK WILL OPEN OCT. 1 ON MICHIGAN AVENUE

Organization of a new national bank in Chicago, at 30 N. Michigan avenue, was approved yesterday by the controler of the currency. It will open about Oct. 1, and will occupy the entire second floor of the Michigan Boulevard building. It will be named the Michigan Avenue National Bank of Chicago.

Application to start the bank was made to the controler in March by its organizers. They are Howard F. Bishop, member of the law firm of Urion, Bishop & Sladkey; Phillip E. Ringer of the law firm of Ringer & Reinwald; Howard D. Schaeffer, vice president of the Elgin National Watch company; Walter R. Yates, vice president of the Continental Diamond Fibre company, and William P. Metzler, president of the village of Flossmoor. Bishop is slated to head the institution.

The bank will open with capital of $250,00, surplus account of $75,000, and reserves of $50,000. It is an entirely new organization, having no connection with the old People's Trust and Savings bank, which formerly occupied the same quarters and was liquidated in 1932.

SLUM CLEARANCE COMMITMENTS TOP HALF BILLION

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—Commitments of the United States Housing authority for slum clearance and low rent housing passed the $500,000,000 mark today. Administrator Nathan Straus earmarked $77,370,000 for nineteen more cities to participate in the program.

This increased the earmarked funds to $504,669,000 and brought into the program a total of 123 cities. Today's allocations:

New York City, $23,000,000; Boston, $15,000,000; Pittsburgh, $3,000,000; Toledo, O., $3,600,000; Dayton, O., $3,000,000; Akron, O., $3,200,000; Hartford, Conn., $4,500,000; Daytona Beach, Fla., $500,000; Sarasota, Fla., $270,000; Macon, Ga., $1,250,000; Newport, Ky., $750,000; Cambridge, Mass., $3,000,000; Holyoke, Mass. $1,500,000; Somerville, Mass., $2,000,000; Camden, N. J., $2,500,000; Jersey City, N. J., $7,500,000; Orange, N. J., $900,000; Plainfield, N. J., $900,000; Ponce, Porto Rico, $1,000,000.

LIQUOR DEALERS ATTACK ILLINOIS RULE ON LABELS

A suit for an injunction to restrain the Illinois liquor control commission from enforcing part of the label regulation of the liquor law, was filed yesterday in the Circuit court on behalf of three dealers in imported liquors. The liquor law makes it compulsory for the bottler of wines purchased in bulk form, to affix a label bearing the name and address of the producer. The suit charges the regulation is "void, unreasonable, arbitrary, and wholly of no force and effect."

Packing House Strike Halted Temporarily

Slaughtering was resumed temporarily yesterday in the five Chicago plants that have been tied up by strikes since Wednesday noon. Meanwhile shipments of hogs to the Chicago market slumped heavily. The small receipts caused a rise in prices which partly erased losses of the preceding day.

An agreement was reached between the union representatives and the companies under which the workers resumed slaughter of hogs that were purchased before the strikes began. The packers had 2,500 live hogs, purchased earlier in the week, on which they were incurring high feeding costs. It was agreed that the workers would slaughter these animals and then resume their strike. Both the union officials and the companies said that no settlement on disputed questions was near.

Prices Rise 5 to 25 Cents.

Hog prices advanced 5 to 25 cents a hundred pounds after the slump of 25 to 50 cents on Wednesday and Thursday. Only 5,000 hogs arrived at the Chicago market, including animals consigned direct to the big packing companies. Receipts totaled 11,052 head on the corresponding day last week. Receipts at other markets, where prices had slumped in line with Chicago quotations, also declined, aggregating 25,000 head, compared with 31,000 a week earlier. Cattle sold lower and sheep steady.

The small packers affected by the strikes are important buyers in the open market, normally purchasing more hogs that the big packers who get their supplies direct from the country. Since the labor trouble began at the five plants the big packing companies have been taking up some of the market slack by increasing purchases in the open market.

No New Buying.

The small packers made no effort to resume buying in the market yesterday, confining their operations to killing animals on hand. Agents of the United Packinghouse Workers' Industrial union, a C. I. O. unit, picketed the hog alleys in the Union Stock Yards to see that the companies made no new purchases.

All the plants involved in the labor trouble are in the stockyards district. They are Roberts & Oake, Miller & Hart Packing company, Agar Packing and Provision company, Illinois Meat company, and P. Brennan Packing company.

Efforts to settle the dispute have reached an impasse because of the steadfast refusal of the companies to give in to union demands for a closed shop and the check-off system.

EMPLOYES OF 'L' GET PART OF PAY IN CERTIFICATES

Employés of the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] yesterday received 12½ per cent of their semi-monthly pay in trustee's certificates under an agreement made with the workers. The employés have agreed to accept the certificates in lieu of cash on 12½ per cent of their pay for a total of three months between now and Dec. 31.

Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the company, said the July 15 part payment in certificates will be repeated on such paydays as necessary until the company's business improves. The certificates pay interest at 5 per cent and are a first lien on the properties. They are redeemable on or before six months from date of issue.

Labor Board, Bethlehem Steel Complete Hearings

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—The labor board and attorneys for the Bethlehem Steel corporation closed a ten months' hearing on unfair labor practices charges against the corporation today by pouring into the record 30C pages of stipulated evidence. The evidence was submitted by agreement between counsel for the board and the steel corporation, saving five months of further hearings in seven cities, which board attaches said would have been necessary to obtain the same information.

CANADIAN DREDGE POSTPONES ACTION ON COMMON DIVIDEND

Directors of the Canadian Dredge & Dock company of Toronto yesterday postponed action on the dividend due July 31 on the common stock. With the volume of work in sight still uncertain, the directors said they will be in a more satisfactory position to consider earnings and dividends in the fall. The company previously paid $1 on Jan. 31. Last year regular dividends amounting to $2 and a $1 extra were declared on the shares.

Companies which ordered usual payments yesterday included the Loose-Wiles Biscuit company, New Process company, Pacific Power and Light company, and Phillips Petroleum company. The latter company will pay its regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on Sept. 1. In 1937 the company paid $2, plus extras amounting to 75 cents a share.

Usual Payments.

Brookline Oil, 2c m	July 15	July 10

"NICKEL PLATE" ROAD PLANS TO EXTEND NOTES

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Holders of New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company unsecured notes, maturing Oct. 1, will be asked to approve of a plan extending the notes three years, at the prevailing rate of interest of 6 per cent, it was learned today. The exchange will be offered on a par-for-par basis, and noteholders will probably be faced with the alternative of reorganization under section 77, in the event that the plan is not successful.

No underwriting of the issue is contemplated, although it is believed that Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who were reported to have been interested in a previous plan, which contemplated reducing interest on the extended notes to 4 per cent, will assist the Nickel Plate management in soliciting acceptances for the extension plan.

Informed observers believe that little opposition to the plan will be encountered. Approximately 40 per cent of the notes are held by institutional groups.

RETAIL SALES DROP 12.4 PCT. IN LAST MONTH

St. Louis, Mo., July 15.—(AP)—A decrease of 12.4 per cent in total sales of retail stores last month, compared with June, 1937, was reported today by the National Retail Credit association.

Reductions of 10 per cent in credit sales and 4.8 per cent in collections also were included in the bulletin. The report was based on reports from 11,940 retail stores in forty cities in the United States and Canada.

Falling off of sales and collections for the third consecutive month was attributed to unemployment and to the partial closing down of factories.

"While business is on the decline at the present, in some parts of the country many merchants believe there will be a decided improvement beginning in September," the association stated.

Hosiery Makers and Union Continue Existing Wages

Philadelphia, Pa., July 15.—(AP)—A three year contract, providing for no reduction in present wage scales, was signed late today by the American Federation of Hosiery Workers and the Full Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers of America. The contract, which affects 30,000 workers in fifty-eight northern and middle west mills, was signed by Emil Rieve, president of the union, a C. I. O. affiliate, and George Lang, president of the manufacturers' organization. The present one year contract will expire Aug. 31.

Dollar Rises Slightly Against Foreign Money

The value of the American dollar rose moderately on the foreign exchange market yesterday. The British pound closed ⅜ cent lower at $4.93. Belgian and Swiss currencies dipped slightly and the French franc closed unchanged.

STOCKS SHAKE OFF LETHARGY IN LATE SPURT

Industrial Shares Make Chief Gains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 15.—Stock market prices rose fractions to two points in the last hour of trading today when fresh demand snapped the list out of early dullness. Industrials, paced by the steel, motor, and other favorite groups, were the chief gainers, although carrier and utility shares also participated moderately in the advance.

Trading expanded on the advance, but the volume amounted to only 933,010 shares, breaking the recent long string of million or more share days.

The list shook off early selling to point higher throughout the morning, encountered more offerings shortly after midday, then began to work slowly higher when new buying made its appearance.

Rumor of Steel Wage Cuts.

Revival of the rumor that an announcement of steel wage cuts would be made today provided the stimulus for the late demand, according to observers. Failure of the rumor to materialize before the market closed caused a slight easing in prices.

The early lassitude was ascribed to several causes, foremost of which were that Howard Hughes and his crew were being accorded a typical "Broadway" reception, with the financial district taking time out to fulfill its duty to the flyers, the approach of the week-end, which usually sees a slackening of interest, and the fact that the market itself is in a "test" area.

Traders obtaining some encouragement from the fact that second quarter earnings statements of many companies registered improvements over the first quarter.

Steel Shares Prominent.

Steel shares were prominent in the late advance, although some had made good gains in the early trading because of thin situations. United States Steel closed 1¾ points higher, and similar gains were made in Youngstown, Inland, and Bethlehem.

Chrysler was up 2 points at one time, then slipped, but came back for a gain of 1¼ points. It was the most active issue of the day. General Motors gained nearly 1 point.

Coppers advanced with the other leaders, but at a slower gait. A pessimistic car loading report unsettled rail shares for a time, but the leaders moved forward to close fractionally higher.

Small fractional gains were the rule in the utility sector. Aviation issues ruled fractionally higher at the close. Oil stocks advanced fractions to 1 point. Heavy machinery shares followed the general list.

Gains in the merchandising division ranged from fractions to 1⅛ points. Paced by Warner Brothers, amusement issues continued in fairly good demand. Transportation shares worked fractionally higher for the most part.

WEEK'S SECURITY OFFERINGS FALL TO 43 MILLIONS

New York, July 15.—(AP)—New financing for the week amounted to $43,234,000, Poor's Publishing company reported today. The total was $94,480,982 the previous week and $74,948,635 in the corresponding week last year. The biggest item was a $30,000,000 issue of 3 per cent bonds of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

27.5 Per Cent Less Life Insurance Sold in June

New York, July 15.—(AP)—New life insurance written in the United States in the first six months of 1938 was 22.6 per cent lower than in the corresponding period last year. The decline in June was 27.5 per cent from a year ago, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents reported today.

Profits Lower in Most of Day's Reports

Most big companies issuing half year or second quarter statements yesterday reported earnings lower than those in the corresponding 1937 period. Aviation corporation was an exception, showing a substantial profit for the first half of its fiscal year against a net loss in the first half last year.

Lower profits for the June quarter were shown by Underwood Elliott Fisher company, Superheater company, and Pittsburgh Coke and Iron company. Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation reported a net loss for the quarter, against a sizable profit in the June, 1937, quarter. Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts, Ltd., had reduced earnings for the quarter ended May 31.

Six Months' Net $388,993.

Aviation corporation's net income for the six months to May 31 climbed to $388,993, or 14 cents a capital share, compared with net loss of $143,156 in the six months to May 31, 1937. No provision was made for surtax on undistributed profits.

Consolidated net income of Underwood Elliott Fisher in the June quarter slumped to $371,503, or 50 cents a capital share. This compared with $557,440, or 76 cents a share in the March quarter, and $1,170,977, or $1.59 a share, in the June, 1937, quarter. Second quarter operations brought net profit for the first half year to $928,943, against $2,576,409 in the first half of last year.

The Johns-Manville corporation reported for the June quarter a consolidated net income of $214,578, equal after preferred dividend requirements, to 10 cents a common share. This compared with $1,789,415, or $1.95 a share, in the second quarter of 1937. For the first six months of this year, the company reported a net loss of $24,897.

Bohn Aluminum Reports Loss.

Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation and subsidiaries had a net loss in the quarter ended June 30 of $41,136, against a loss in the preceding quarter of $70,873. Profit in the June quarter of 1937 amounted to $448,793. The six months' net loss of $112,069 was in contrast to net profits of $1,441,081, or $4.09 a share in the same period last year.

Hiram Walker's net profit in the three months ended May 31 was $1,184,193, or $1.48 a share, compared with $1,640,684, or $2.10 a share, in the May, 1937, quarter. This brought profit for the first nine months of the fiscal year to $5,107,441, which was just below the $5,187,232 earned in the corresponding nine months of the preceding year.

Superheater company's net profit of $221,811 for the June quarter compared with $118,802 earned in the preceding quarter. Net profit was $704,967 in the June, 1937, quarter. Six months' earnings were $330,613, against $1,535,076 in the first half of 1937, which included nonrecurring profit of $425,115.

FIX WAGES FOR FIRMS SELLING TO GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—A labor department order fixed wage schedules today for employés of concerns manufacturing luggage, including mail sacks and pouches, for sale to the federal government.

The order established minimum wages of 40 cents an hour, or $16 a week, for workers in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, and New Mexico.

In the other twenty-six states and the District of Columbia the department ruled, wages must be not less than 37.5 cents an hour, or $15 a week. The order is effective for all contracts with the government after July 27.

STEEL OUTPUT TO RISE SHARPLY IN YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown, O., July 15.—(AP)—Steel mill operations here will advance eight points to 38 per cent of capacity next week, the highest rate since before Christmas.

Buffalo Output Rises.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 15.—(AP)—Steel production rose to its highest point in eight months in Buffalo area today, as firing of another hearth brought it to 35 per cent of capacity. The Bethlehem Steel company's Lackawanna plant lighted an open harth to bring the number in operation to 12.

Estimates Company Profits Increase in Second Quarter

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The Standard Statistics company estimated today that second quarter corporate earnings would be substantially larger than those posted for the first three months this year.

This would be contrary to popular opinion, which has taken the lower rate of industrial operations in the latest quarter to mean a further cut in profits was in store.

The net income of 158 representative companies was estimated by the statistical organization at $179,900,000, against $142,100,000 in the first period and $452,400,000 in the comparable three months last year.

Increase More Than Normal.

An increase of these proportions would be 12 per cent larger than the normal upturn at this time of year. Even after allowance for seasonal factors, however, the second quarter this year would be the smallest since the final quarter of 1934.

Industrial concerns showed the widest comeback from first quarter levels, according to this survey. After adjustment for seasonal changes, this group gained 10 per cent over the opening quarter; utilities regained only two per cent and railroads, still reporting losses, cut their deficits substantially.

See Costs Reduced Sharply.

One explanation for the about-face in net profits is that efficiency of operations improved so much that despite a lower rate of activity—the Associated Press industrial activity index averaged about five per cent lower in the second quarter—costs were reduced sharply.

Inventory profits were not believed to have played an important part in the upturn, as commodity prices averaged somewhat lower on June 30 than on March 31.

AM. TELEPHONE EARNINGS AGAIN BELOW DIVIDEND

Second Quarter Net $1.98 Per Share.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company in the three months ended June 30 failed for the second consecutive quarter to earn its dividend requirement of $2.25 a share. This was shown yesterday in the quarterly report issued by Walter S. Gifford, president, to accompany the July dividend checks to stockholders.

Walter S. Gifford.

Net income of the parent company for the June quarter declined to $37,032,603, or $1.98 a share, from $43,737,928, or $2.34 a share, in the corresponding 1937 quarter. In the March, 1938, quarter the company earned $38,634,257, or $2.07 a share. These figures include dividend and interest income for the quarter, but do not include the company's proportionate interest in the undivided profits or losses of subsidiary companies.

Operating Expenses Higher.

Operating expenses, including taxes, increased for the June quarter to $23,064,267 from $21,936,837 in the June, 1937, quarter. Dividend income fell to $36,214,321 from $41,765,853. Interest income was higher, however, rising to $3,024,442 from $1,533,722.

The company also reported on a consolidated basis for the three months ended May 31. Consolidated net income for this period amounted to $38,438,931, or $2.06 a share, against $50,759,600, or $2.72 a share, in the three months ended May 31, 1937.

An analysis of the consolidated income account, which takes in the parent company's proportionate interest of profits and losses of subsidiaries, showed that operating revenues of the system dropped slightly. It also disclosed that operating expenses were higher.

Consolidated Revenues Lower.

Consolidated operating revenues amounted to $262,316,438 in the three months ended May 31, compared with $264,571,352 in the corresponding 1937 three months. Operating expenses increased to $178,468,868 from $175,496,480. Taxes on a consolidated basis climbed for the three months to $36,014,144 from $34,506,731.

Although operating revenues were slightly higher for the 12 months to May 31 than in the preceding 12 months, net income dropped to $161,649,758, or $8.65 a share, from $197,503,288, or $10.57 a share.

The report for the parent company alone showed that for the twelve months ended June 30 net income was $168,225,185, which just covered the $9 dividend requirements for the period. In the preceding twelve months, earnings on the same basis were $190,621,458, or $10.20 a share.

Western Electric Less Active.

Gifford told stockholders that the Western Electric company, the manufacturing unit of the Bell system, is currently operating at about 40 per cent of capacity, against 75 per cent a year ago. Western Electric, with its chief plant in Chicago, is one of the leading employers in this area.

The Bell system had a net gain of about 135,000 telephones during the first half of 1938, compared with a gain of 529,000 in the first six months of 1937, the report said. In the second quarter the gain was only 37,000, against 236,000 in the June, 1937, quarter.

Gifford said the number of toll and long distance conversations for the first six months of 1938 was about 3 per cent less than a year earlier.

CHARGE SOUTH'S COTTON MILLS SLASH WAGES

Providence, R., I., July 15.—(AP)—E. F. Walker, secretary-treasurer of the Rhode Island Textile association, charged today that "widely scattered but important groups of southern cotton mills" have initiated "wage cuts averaging from 16 to 20 per cent." He said reductions apparently have been put into effect "for the purpose of reducing all wages to a point approaching the minimum of 25 cents per hour provided in the new wage-hour bill" before that act becomes effective. He declared the reductions he alleges are being made in the south will have a "most disastrous" effect upon New England cotton mills.

Treasury Buys $783,500 U. S. Securities in June

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, July 16.—(AP)—Making a turnabout in late trading, the bond market today converted many early losses into substantial gains at the close. The change in the trend followed a last hour rally in stocks, which also had been a bit under water before the turn.

Late buyers appeared to be impressed by a general shrinkage in selling on a reactionary movement which started yesterday. Paucity of offerings at the low levels tended to explain the abruptness of the closing hour upturn, in which rails were the principal beneficiaries.

In the low yield corporate group bids were stepped up fractionally over a fairly wide front. Firmness here was said to be an outgrowth of broader demand. Matching the progress of top flight corporate loans, U. S. governments emerged from their recent sag to record numerous gains ranging from 1-32d to 4-32ds. Foreign dollar bonds attracted relatively little attention.

Transactions of $5,212,500 were the smallest since the market started its midyear rise on June 20. Yesterday's sales were $6,977,500.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks rallied yesterday in a quiet market. Nine issues established new high marks for the year. Houdaille-Hershey B, leading the trading with sales of 2,350 shares, advanced to a new top of 14½, but slipped a little to close at 14, up ¾. Chicago Flexible Shaft jumped 6½ points to close at a 1938 high of 75. New highs also were made by Consolidated Biscuit, Quaker Oats preferred, and North West Utilities prior lien.

Marshall Field closed ⅝ higher at 12½, Commonwealth Edison was up ⅜ at 27⅛, and Bendix Aviation moved up ½ to 17⅜. Zenith closed ¾ higher at 22¼.

The Tribune average of 20 stocks closed up 0.13 at 10.95. Thirty-five of the 72 issues traded advanced, 19 were lower, and 18 unchanged. Volume fell to 20,000 from 29,000. Thursday.

Trading will begin today on the exchange in common and preferred stocks of Pressed Steel Car Company, Inc., and the preferred stock of Abbott Laboratories.

Bank Stocks.

The lead among Chicago banks stocks was taken yesterday by Northern Trust company shares, which gained $5 to close at $525 bid, $535 asked price. Continental-Illinois stock also advanced to $73.75 bid, up $2.25. The only stock to lose ground during the day's trading was that of the Chicago Title and Trust company, which dropped $1 to $149 bid price. All other stocks were quoted unchanged from Thursday.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were quiet today but prices were firm. More activity was noted in finished goods markets. Rayon yarns were steady and rayon cloths sold in good volume. Silk values were steady. Wool goods prices were advanced by a number of mills. Trade was quiet and strong.

FREIGHT TRAFIC REDUCED 87,851 CARS BY HOLIDAY

Grain Movement Prevents Larger Decline.

Freight trafic slumped in the week ended July 9, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The largest decreases were in shipments of coal, miscellaneous freight, and merchandise in less than car load lots.

Most of the drop was the result of the July 4 holiday. Smaller shipments of forest products, ore, and coke also contributed to the decline which forced the Dow-Jones freight index figure down to 68.7 from 70.1 in the preceding week.

Revenue freight loadings last week totaled 501,013 cars, 87,851 fewer than were loaded in the week ended July 2, the association said. This was a decrease of 14.9 per cent.

Far Below Year Ago.

Last week's loadings also were 177,945 cars below those of the corresponding 1937 week, a drop of 26.2 per cent. Compared with the corresponding week in 1936 freight traffic was 223,264 cars, or 30.8 per cent, lower.

The only two classes of freight moved in larger quantities last week than in the preceding week were grain and live stock. The grain movement increased 5,380 cars to 56,334 during the week. Live stock loadings rose 215 cars to 9,986.

Grain Movement Larger.

Grain was the only type of freight to show an increase last week compared with a year ago. Loadings were 9,423 cars larger than in the corresponding 1937 week.

Loadings of th various commodities compared as follows:

Permit Illinois Railroad to Abandon 19 Mile Line

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today authorized the Kansas and Sidell railroad to abandon its entire line—19.4 miles—between Hume and Kansas, in Edgar county, Ill. The commission said the railroad, built in 1883, was unsafe for operation and had insufficient traffic to stay in business.

Packard Motor Car Co.

Investors' Guide. Please tell me about Packard Motor stock. Is it a speculation?"—F. S.

Answer: After ranking for many years as a leading manufacturer of hig priced automobiles, the Packard Motor Car company broadened its market by entering the medium price class with an eight-cylinder automobile in 1936 and the low-priced class with a six-cylinder car in 1936.

Packard has long been one of the best known names in the automobile industry and Packard cars have been manufactured without interruption since 1899. Prestige of the company resulted in favorable reception of the low and medium priced cars. No trucks have been produced since 1923, but the company makes airplane and marine engines.

Introduction of medium and low priced models caused production of the company to spurt to record unit levels. Output in 1937 was 109,518 cars, compared with 80,699 in 1936, 52,256 in 1935, and 6,071 in 1934, the year before the medium price car was introduced. Production in 1929 peak year before the new models were introduced, totaled about 53,000 units. Plant capacity is about 150,000 units a year.

The company in 1937 completed a tooling and development program costing about $29,000,000, of which about $13,000,000 was spent in 1937. Completion of this program, officials believed, will put the company in a good position to profit from business recovery.

Loss for the first quarter of this year was $389,430, compared with net profit of $2,610,701, or 17 cents a common share, in the corresponding period a year ago. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

1936	73,052,859	7,053,220	0.47
1935	49,066,420	3,315,622	0.22
1934	14,618,743	†7,290,549	†0.49
1932	15,515,696	†6,824,312	†0.45

*Year ended Aug. 31; †Deficit.

Packard has 15,000,000 shares of no par common stock outstanding. No dividends have been paid so far this year. Payments in 1937 totaled 25 cents a share.

The company is in strong financial condition, current assets totaling $22,304,353, including $5,480,341 in cash, compared with current liabilities of $5,829,602 on March 31.

Pending improvement in general economic conditions and greater demand for automobiles, the stock must be regarded as somewhat speculative.

BANK ASKS DELAY IN REORGANIZING NORTH WESTERN

Bond Trustee Has Hope for Merger.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission was asked today by the City Bank Farmers' Trust company of New York to delay approval of any plan for the reorganization of the Chicago and North Western railroad. The North Western has been in bankruptcy since June 28, 1935.

Delay was requested by the bank because of "existing uncertain conditions" and to permit further efforts to be made to consolidate or coördinate the road with the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad.

Foresees New Legislation.

"The railroad problem is receiving extensive consideration from various branches of the government, and the adoption of legislation which would regulate more effectively competing forms of transportation and facilitate consolidation and coördination has been urged with increasing force from influential quarters," the bank said.

"If the condition of the railroads does not improve materially by the next session of congress, it seems reasonable to believe that some, at least, of this legislation will be adopted. There is also hope that an agreement may be reached for the reduction of the wage burden through negotiations which are now in progress."

ROADS DISCUSS MERGER.

Officers of both the North Western and Milwaukee railroads in Chicago in the past have discussed efforts being made by committees representing various securities of the two roads to bring about their merger. Already the railroads have put into operation certain coördinated service. In one case the two roads have pooled the carrying of iron ore from mines to docks in the Michigan peninsula region.

The two roads compete with each other in various sections of the northwest and it has been suggested that in this area there is an opportunity to pool their train services.

WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 15.—[Special.]—A persistent demand was received today for several grades of domestic wools. Graded bright fleece wools were active and prices strong. Combing ⅝ blood bright fleeces were sold early in the week at 28@29c, in the grease. Later 30c was paid and most recent sales were closed at 32c, in the grease. Combing ¾ blood bright fleece wools advanced from 28c, in the grease, to 31c, in the grease. The rapid advance is reported to be the result of a squeeze in these types of wools.
